Rail Unions May Continue Fight

Working Rules Changes Are Resented; Victory for Companies, Claim

Labor Board Decision Will Not Affect Strike Vote on Southern Pacific

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—The pay increase totaling about $5,000,000 a year granted Saturday to engineers, firemen and enginemen on forty-five railroads by the United States Labor Board has a potent fuse that may result in inducing the revolt of the brotherhoods against the Railroad Labor Board. The number of men involved is estimated at 75,000. The roads involved run northwest, west and southwest of Chicago. The only lines covered in the decision are the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Northwestern, Rock Island, Missouri Pacific, Soo Line, Illinois Central, Chicago and Alton, Burlington and Northern Pacific. The wage increases average about 5 per cent. The decision is retroactive to September 1, last.

The brotherhoods assert the increases are not increases because the decision modifies and nullifies working conditions and rules heretofore in force. At the present time the locomotive engineers and firemen are taking a strike vote on the Southern Pacific. The decision will have no effect on the taking of the strike ballot and probably will be ignored by the two brotherhoods, the officials of which have refused to admit the right of the board to assume jurisdiction of the dispute between the unions and the carriers involved.

COMPANY VICTORY

The decision, in effect, is more of a victory for the railroad companies than for the unions, for the reason that in negotiations previously carried on between the Western Managers' Association and the two brotherhoods the carriers were willing to concede the wage increase of 5 per cent asked for by the unions, but insisted upon changes in working rules.

The decision was unique in that it was rendered without the board having the benefit of testimony from the brotherhoods' side. The [illegible] representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen walked out of the conference room when the board refused to reach an agreement with the railroads. They announced they would seek individual agree-

BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER SEEN AS FRANCE'S FRIEND

Poincare Expects Paris and London to Work Together in Bringing Europe Back to Stability

BY RAYMOND POINCARE
Former Premier of France
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

PARIS, Nov. 30.—Hardly had he been called upon once more to become Prime Minister of Great Britain than Mr. Stanley Baldwin made a decision for which all Frenchmen should be grateful. He did not give the Foreign Office portfolio to a man whose return there would scarcely have pleased France; and he placed there a man who is a sincere champion of the Entente Cordiale.

In the last months of the year 1923, and especially after the cessation of German resistance in the Ruhr, Mr. Baldwin made the most commendable personal efforts to tighten the relations between France and England. He came to see me in Paris. We lunched in private at the Embassy and, after the meal, we continued the conversation and together examined the problems which concerned our two countries. We were happy to note that there was no point of unconquerable disagreement; and after the interview, Mr. Baldwin suggested that a brief note (which he had entirely drawn up himself and which proclaimed our perfect understanding) be communicated to the press.

BOTH SATISFIED

We were both of us very much satisfied with the exchange of viewpoints. But it happened that in London, certain functionaries at the Foreign Office, who had not been consulted, and at their head the Foreign Secretary himself, Lord Curzon, were rather displeased with Mr. Baldwin's very conciliating note, and, when the Prime Minister returned to Downing street he learned with surprise that he was accused of having bound himself to the French government to too great an extent. Not only did Lord Curzon object to Mr. Baldwin "stepping on his grass," but, as he himself had not worked to any great extent in the preceding months, with a view to conducting an accord which might have proved acceptable to France, it caused him no pleasure to find that the Prime Minister had succeeded where he had failed.

During the lengthy negotiations which took place at Lausanne with the Turks, Lord Curzon constantly behaved in a haughty manner toward the French plenipotentiaries. Although he was a very gallant gentleman and a hard-working minister, competent and experienced, he appeared to French public opinion in the light of an active representative of British imperialism, and the news of his return to the Foreign Office would have been received from Calais to Marseilles with no little anxiety. Mr. Baldwin found a very happy solution to the problem by giving Lord Curzon the purely honorary title of president of the council and by

ALTERING OF STERN ALIEN LAW SOUGHT

Proposed Change Would Curb Expulsion Power of Mexican President

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—An important amendment to the Mexican Constitution, of special interest to foreign residents, is to be proposed in the Senate by Dr. Pedro de Alba. He proposes a modification of Article XXXIII, which gives the President unlimited power to expel from the country any alien deemed pernicious without giving an explanation or a reason.

Dr. Alba declared the article grants despotic power, and declares that the executive could punish under it foreigners who have not been guilty of any act warranting expulsion. There is no action that can be taken against the application of the article and protests are useless. Diplomatic representatives can request information, but only as a favor, and must take such information as the Mexican government cares to give. When the article has been applied in the past, however, an official statement of the reason has usually been given. It has been applied in many cases, notably that of H. A. Cunard Cummings, British Charge d'Archives, and several American newspaper correspondents have also been expelled in the same way.

Recently the government applied the article to seven wealthy leading merchants mainly French and Spanish, for nonpayment of income tax, though the order was revoked after diplomatic intervention and payment of tax. The article has just been applied to Francisco Zamorra, a Venezuelan editor.

At a stormy session of the Union of Newspaper Reporters yesterday evening, a motion was made and nearly carried to take forceful action to suspend the newspapers today as a protest against Zamorra's expulsion.

EGYPTIAN MUTINEERS ARE QUIET

Lord Allenby in Report Says Situation Well in Hand; Rebels Cornered

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Lord Allenby reported from Cairo today that everything is quiet and in good order in Egypt and negotiations with the Egyptian government regarding the British demands continuing smoothly. A few schools have been partially reopened, but the majority of them remain on strike.

The British position at Khartum and in the surrounding territory is most satisfactory, according to Lord Allenby. The last of the Egyptian troops were evacuated without difficulty today. They are proceeding to Cairo, where the first batch arrived tonight. The remnants of the mutineers of the Seventeenth Battalion of Sudanese infantry, who rose in futile revolt are being cornered by the British troops. They are being disarmed and jailed.

Just as soon as conditions permit Lord Allenby's forces will investigate the ruins of the European hotel and adjacent buildings which were swept by British artillery when the Sudanese soldiers began sniping. It is believed the ruins contain many bodies of the snipers.

ESPEE SUED FOR DEATH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUMA (Ariz.) Nov. 30.—Suit for $74,370 has been filed against the Southern Pacific Company by the administrator of the estate of W. O. His arm was severed under the car wheels.

Reports From Various Ports Fail to Reveal Word of Missing Vessel

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CUTTYHUNK (Mass.) Nov. 30. Wreckage, evidence of possible tragedy which overtook some vessel in the storm which swept the New England coast early today, was washed ashore near the Cuttyhunk Coast Guard station this morning. The wreckage, consisting chiefly of portions of a pilot house and deck house might have come from a boat which was the victim of a collision rather than the storm, it was said.

A chart box bearing the lettering "S. S. Camden," a portion of the pilot house, in which was a discolored log book carrying as its last entry "under way" at 5:39 a.m., November 30, last, and medical stores from the United States Submarine Base at New London, Ct., were among the wreckage which the coast guardsmen found strewn on the beach at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

The yellow or buff-colored paint of the pilot house bore no letters to indicate the name of the vessel from which it might have come, nor could the type of boat from which it might have been torn be determined. The log, likewise, furnished no definite clew except that the vessel had "left navy yard" at 12:50 p.m. the 29th inst.

Capt. J. S. Fletcher of the Cuttyhunk station said tonight that although very heavy seas were running as a result of the storm, the portions of the pilot house washed ashore might have been knocked loose from the craft as the result of a collision. The boat might possibly have been a tug, he said, although not enough wreckage had been found to indicate definitely the type of craft it was.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—At the Boston Navy Yard it was said tonight that no vessel [illegible] here or in Portsmouth [illegible] yesterday, and that the word "navy yard" in the ship's log washed up at Cuttyhunk Island, south of Cape Cod today, could not have referred to Boston or Portsmouth.

It was said, however, that a large supply vessel named the Camden was attached to the New London (Ct.) submarine base.

BLOC PLANS HELD VAIN

Democrats Snub La Follette

Forces Sparring for Positions at Session of Congress Opening Today

G.O.P. Opponents Expected to Aid in Transacting Necessary Business

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—On the eve of the opening of the final session of the Sixty-eighth Congress the contending elements therein are found in the position of boxers just entering the ring and sparring for an opening. Indications are that there will be several rounds of this sort of feeling one another out before definite strategy will be adopted by any.

Some things are certain. Among them that the La Follette bloc will do its best to delay action on the really essential work of the session, namely, the passage of the appropriation bills, in the hope of embarrassing the administration and forcing an early extra session. The disciples of one school of practical politics are proclaiming this loudly at the moment as if it were something new, traceable only to the action of the Republican Senators the other day in cutting the insignia "Republican" from the uniforms of Senators La Follette, Brookhart, Ladd and Frazier, for the crime of desertion in the last campaign. Actually, however, there is nothing new in the situation. La Follette and his followers long before they were condemned and drummed out of camp were frankly prepared to make just as much trouble for the Republicans as possible. They were getting ready to hold up the appropriation bills for the announced purpose of compelling an extra session to enact farm relief measures.

SPURNED BY DEMOCRATS

Since the court-martial sat on Friday they are in no better circumstances for the leading Democrats already on the ground are giving them no sympathy whatever and daily are growing colder. Senator Robinson of Arkansas and Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who trod the primrose path last session hand in hand with La Follette, spurn him now. More than this; not only have they taken in the door mat with its welcome sign but also they have warned the whole Democratic family to have nothing to do with that La Follette tribe. The door of the Democratic home in the Senate has a new lock on it. The watch dog is loose in the yard and any La Follettite coming around for a little help must beware. Somebody will be on watch behind the window and yell "Sic him" to Tige.

It is the easiest thing in the world to take a pad and pencil and figure out that by the removal of the four deserters from the Republican muster roll the Republicans have lost their majority. That is, the number has been brought below the necessary forty-nine. Then you take the total number of Democrats and add to it the four homeless ones and the two Farmer-Laborites — Shipstead and Magnus Johnson—and show triumphantly that the grand total is greater than that on the Republican side.

But that has been the way the

GEN. CALLES TAKES OATH AS POPULACE APPLAUDS

Mexico's Twelfth President is Peacefully Inaugurated; City Ablaze With Color

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—Gen. PlutarcoElias Calles at noon today became Mexico's twelfth President since Porfirio Diaz was "dethroned" in 1911. Contrary to custom, Gen. Calles was sworn into office as the successor of Gen. Alvaro Obregon at a special session of Congress in the recently built open-air stadium instead of inside the smaller Chamber of Deputies Building.

Although legally the President, Gen. Calles will not actually assume his duties until one minute past midnight tonight.

The ceremonies marked the first peaceful transfer of Mexico's rulers in forty years. The last time was in 1884, when Manuel Gonzalez followed Diaz, who acceded to the Presidency the next term and held it until Madero's revolution in 1910 ousted him.

Some 50,000 persons, regardless of caste or class, attended, and only a few seats were reserved for selected government officials and the Diplomatic Corps. Usually the President takes the oath of office in the Chamber of Deputies Building before an exclusive gathering. Calles broke precedents, and Congress convened on a specially built platform in the center of the huge stadium.

CAPITAL IS GAY

This evening, Mexico City, in gala attire and flag-bedecked, in honor of the inauguration, was the scene of a celebration known as "Gallo del Soldado." This outburst of patriotism may be compared to the snake dance with which American college students celebrate an athletic victory. Participants in this typically Mexican celebration include about 12,000 soldiers. Bands played throughout the streets, which are thronged with citizens and troops.

In front of the Presidential stand were platforms occupied by members of Congress, the Diplomatic Corps, Justices of the Supreme Court, State Governors and high public civil and military officials. At the request of the retiring President, Gen. Obregon, a portion of the arena was reserved for more than 500 disabled soldiers, some of whom received their injuries in the latest revolution.

SIMPLICITY RULES

Gen. Obregon, at the request of Gen. Calles, accompanied him from the palace to the stadium and sat next to him on the platform. Col. Filberto Gomez, president of the lower house, administered the oath of office.

Simplicity was the keynote of the ceremony. Upon the arrival of the President-elect, both houses of Congress were convened in joint session. Col. Gomez repeated the oath and Gen. Calles was invested with the right to wear the insignia of office, the silk tricolor with a handsomely embroidered eagle shield. This insignia was the work of Federal convicts and was presented to Gen. Calles on the eve of his inauguration.

American Ambassador Sheffield was unable to attend on account of illness but the United States was represented by H. F. Arthur Schofield, Counselor of the Embassy. France, Japan and Spain were represented by ministers with special inaugural credentials.

THRONG RISES

As Gen. Calles raised his right hand to receive the oath of office, thousands of the throng that packed the stadium rose almost as a man. Then with his hand extended toward Col. Gomez, the President-elect repeated the oath, which translated, reads:

"I swear to guard and to have guarded the political Constitution of the United States of Mexico and the laws which from it emanate and to loyally and patriotically fulfill the duties of the republic, which the people have conferred in me, watching in everything for the good and prosperity of the union, and if I should not do this may the nation demand it of me."

Gen. Obregon, the retiring President, was the first to extend Gen. Calles congratulations. He was followed by presidents of the Judicial and Congressional bodies. President Calles left the stadium amidst the blare of military music by assembled bands, cheers of the populace and discharge of fireworks.

PIGEONS RELEASED

At the same time 200 white pigeons were released, soaring over the crowd. Airplanes overhead dropped green, white and red paper confetti, which were carried by the wind over the celebrating crowds. Booming guns added to the celebration. Further military salutes greeted Gen. Calles as he left the stadium.

The roar and racket of the hilarious crowd and the soldiers taking part in the "Gallo del Soldado" indicate that the celebration will extend into the night. The "gallo," translated means rooster, is a happy-go-lucky parade of soldiers freed from all military discipline. As long as no violence is indulged in they are virtually free to do as they please. Nearly all the soldiers not actually needed in military guard duties have joined the affair. The joyful parade was witnessed by the Diplomatic Corps from the balconies of the Foreign Office Building.

GOMPERS PRESENT

Labor leaders were conspicuous at the inauguration. Luis N. Morones, one of the leaders of the Labor faction who recently recovered from a bullet wound received during a shooting affair in the Chamber of Deputies, received a prolonged ovation upon his arrival at the stadium. The most commented-on labor delegation was that of the American Federation of Labor, headed by Samuel Gom-

Likenesses of Notables Sent From London Picked Up in New York

Pen and Ink Sketches and Film Record Received by New Invention

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Transmission of pictures across the Atlantic by wireless passed from an experimental stage into actual achievement when the Radio Corporation of America successfully demonstrated today an invention by which photographs sent from its office in the Strand in London were received in its office at 66 Broad street.

Dozens of pictures were received. They include portraits of President Coolidge, Queen Alexandra, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, Secretary of State Hughes and photographs of recent events. The time for the transmission of each picture varied from six to thirty minutes. The picture, placed in the sending apparatus of a photo-radiogram, an invention just perfected for the corporation by American experts, was slowly turned on a small spool or cylinder in London. As it revolved it appeared visibly on a receiving spool in New York.

STREAM OF POWER

A little stream of power broadcast on a 14,000-meter wave length did the work through the intervening space of 3000 miles. The power, projected from London and controlled here, acted as if it were a hand reaching across the Atlantic, for it caused a small pen by minute dots and short faint lines to trace with fair accuracy the picture held in London.

While the picture was visibly recorded with pen and ink, another record on a photographic film was taken simultaneously in a little dark box where a stream of light acted on the film in the same way that pictures are transmitted over wires. Thus two records were made of each picture received, one in ink on a white sheet of paper and another on the film.

PRINCES IN SECRET PACT?

Deposed Dynasties of Germany Led by Prussia and Bavaria Wish to Regain Power

BY GEORGE SELDES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—A secret treaty between eighteen deposed royal houses of Germany, chief of which are Prussia, represented by former Crown Prince Wilhelm, and Bavaria, represented by Crown Prince Rupprecht, is the result of former Crown Prince Wilhelm's visit to Crown Prince Rupprecht, it is reported in political circles.

According to the agreement, four kings and fourteen grand dukes plan to restore the feudal status of independent kingdoms within the Reich as they existed before Bismarck proclaimed a German empire at Versailles in 1871.

This disclosure on the eve of the elections when the Nationalist party, which has proclaimed itself for a restoration of the monarchical system, and the People's party, which also hopes to obtain a larger representation in the Reichstag, is causing a big sensation and has alarmed the Republican elements.

STRUGGLE GROWS INTENSE

This is the first time that the Hohenzollern and Wittlesbach royal houses, ruling Prussia and Bavaria, have found a solution to their continuous struggle for supremacy and control of the German empire. This struggle is growing more intense each time the Nationalist party and other monarchist elements triumph and the day of the restoration of a monarchy seems nearer.

Former Crown Prince Wilhelm, who has taken over the head of the Hohenzollern house from the former Kaiser's second son Eitel since his return to Potsdam, went to Munich a month ago, when it was announced the purpose of the trip was to make peace between Crown Prince Rupprecht and Gen. Von Ludendorff, who were on the verge of fighting a duel over the insult Crown Prince Rupprecht charged against Gen. Von Ludendorff. It now develops that the former Kaiser's son and Crown Prince Rupprecht originated the plan for a union of kings, princes and grand dukes for repatriating Germany and restoring the ancient feudal system.

Crown Prince Rupprecht and former Prince Wilhelm came to a complete agreement for co-operation and pledged to end the strife between the Wittlesbachs and Hohenzollerns, both of whom wanted to rule the country. In their struggle religious differences played an important part, the Wittlesbachs being Catholics and the Hohenzollerns Protestants. It is now reported that the agreement provides for dropping the religious as well as political conflict.

The first deposed ruler to join the two Crowns, Princes was the Duke of Brunswick, who is also the British Duke of Cumberland, ruler of the state of Hanover, from which King George came. Hanoverians now are called Guelfs. They are loyal Monarchists and hate Prussia, and had their own political party until now, when they joined the Nationalist party. The Duke of Cumberland is a son-in-law of the former Kaiser. The Guelfs always demanded federal feudel rights within the republic, and even proposed that they be permitted to annex themselves to England or choose a British ruler.

The republican parties, alarmed by the union of kings and dukes,

TAXI DRIVER BELIEVED SLAIN

Bloodstained Auto of Missing San Bernardino Man is found in Santa Ana; Fee Case Clews

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 30.—Shrouded in fog which prevents a search being made until morning is a possible murder mystery which may involve the killing of James Wynn, San Bernardino automobile driver. Police believe Wynn's body is hidden somewhere within the Santa Ana city limits, because his blood-stained automobile was discovered abandoned yesterday morning in the 1400 block on Durant street, but declared it impossible to look for him until tomorrow's sun has dispelled the mist.

For some reason as yet unexplained, the bloodspots in Wynn's car were not found until late this afternoon, when a communication from Sheriff Shay of San Bernardino to Sheriff Jernigan of Santa Ana that Wynn is missing caused the car to be looked over carefully. Police had assumed it was an ordinary case of the abandonment of a stolen car and had not examined the automobile after hauling it to the police station.

UNKNOWN COMPANIONS

Wynn, who operated a taxi and car-renting station with headquarters at the Olympic Cafe, San Bernardino, left that city with a party of men Friday night, according to Sheriff Shay's message, and has not been seen since. No one in San Bernardino seems to know who was in the party. Wynn's friends told Sheriff Shay this was unusual, as Wynn usually made a record of who he took out or told someone with whom he was going or where. The omission to do so in this case is considered ominous.

His car, a Studebaker Special Six touring car, practically new, was found early Saturday morning by Frank Vegley of Santa Ana and reported to the police. Neighbors in the vicinity of where the car was found told the police tonight they heard voices of men and of women and a rustling of leaves on a terrace some time Friday night, but paid no particular attention.

FIND STAINS

When officers looked the car over in the police garage late today they were astonished to find bloodstains in many places. There was a smear of blood on the steer[illegible] front seat. It is believed to [illegible] been Wynn's; it had not been [illegible]. There were also some rags, with which an attempt had been made, apparently to wipe up some of the blood.

W. E. Bennett of Loma Linda, a step-brother of the missing man, arrived in San Bernardino tonight and announced that he would make a careful search in Santa Ana Canyon tomorrow on the theory that Wynn has been murdered and his body thrown from the car on the road through the canyon.

The Sheriff's office at San Bernardino tonight received, in response to a telephone call from an anonymous man stating that a day or two after the body of [illegible] W. Fee, Alhambra banker, was found in Lytle Creek Canyon, Wynn drove one of the persons questioned to the cave near the canyon where the body was found.

This call was being checked by the Sheriff's office to ascertain whether it may be a clew that links the mysterious disappearance of Wynn with the Fee case.

Sheriff Shay said he understood Wynn had visited a friend in Los Angeles and said he had asked the Los Angeles police to check up on him there.

Wynn is 33 years of age, [illegible] feet ten inches tall and weighs 180 pounds.

intrusting him with the duties of representing the Cabinet in the House of Lords.

The new Minister of Foreign Affairs is an excellent friend of France. Perhaps he has not so many supporters in Paris as Lord Derby would have had, but Austen Chamberlain knows us and understands us. He once was a pupil in our school of political science, which, while it is not a State establishment, is a large private institution and renders great services in building up our public men.

But Mr. Chamberlain has even further claims to the sympathy and confidence of the French nation. At the end of the month of July, 1914, the Cabinet, over which Mr. Asquith presided and in which Sir Edward Grey, who has since become Lord Grey, was Minister of Foreign Affairs, found that its opinions were divided over the question of Great Britain's entrance into the war. Mr. Lloyd George presented objections; three other ministers were very much opposed to intervention. On the thirty-first of July, the Conservatives, who then formed a minority in the House of Commons with about 200 votes, sent Mr. Asquith a detailed note which asserted that England should array herself by the side of France if the latter were the object of aggression. The document, which was signed by Mr. Bonar Law, was the personal work of Mr. Chamberlain. That is an act which France cannot forget.

DELAY REGRETED

I had very much hoped that the initiative of Mr. Bonar Law and Mr. Chamberlain would be immediately followed by action. I shall always deeply regret the British Cabinet's delay in those tragic days. On July 31, as President of the republic, I wrote a letter to King George V, in which I said to him:

"France, having resolved to do everything possible to help maintain peace, has limited herself to taking the most indispensable measures of precaution. But it seems that her prudence and her moderation have not slackened the plans of Germany. We are, therefore, in spite of the cautiousness of the government of the republic and the calmness of public opinion, on the verge of the most fearful events. From every report reaching us it appears that if Germany were sure that the British government would not intervene in a conflict in which France might participate, war would be inevitable, and that, on the other hand, if Germany were sure that the Entente Cordiale were to hold good, even on the fields of battle, there would be the greatest odds in favor of peace. The only possibility of a pacific solution depends henceforth, I think, upon the language and behavior of the English government."

The King, of course, transmitted this letter to his government and, unfortunately, the hesitation of several ministers prevented His Majesty from sending me on August 1 anything but an uncertain answer. The King expressed appreciation of the pacific spirit of France, and added:

"I intend to continue my efforts unceasingly, as long as there remains hope for an amicable arrangement. As for the attitude of my country, events are changing so rapidly that it is difficult to predict future developments."

Concerning the exchange of letters, a well-known German magazine, Sozellastiche Monatshefts, has just published an interesting article by Mr. Felix Stossinger. The author, who makes a loyal effort at being impartial in regard to the events which preceded the war, says:

"It is not unknown that, in order to prevent a war M. Poincare, in a letter to King George, asked that England state that in case of a conflict she would side with France. M. Poincare shows us (in an article in the Daily Mail of August 4,) the development of this idea.

PLAYS MEDIATOR

"While Vivani, through the good offices of the French Ambassador in London, succeeded in convincing England to continue, in spite of all difficulties, playing the part of mediator, the French Ambassador to Berlin, M. Jules Cambon, several times called to the attention of his government that in the face of Austro-German efforts to get England to make a declaration of neutrality, the only way to prevent the triumph of those who worked in favor of war, was for England to publicly and solemnly declare her intention of siding with France.

"M. Poincare tells us how anxiously the French government awaited England's decisions, after Germany had failed to furnish satisfactory reply to Belgian neutrality; he shows how the hours during which he and the French government remained uncertain as to the attitude of England were filled with fears and anguish. Those who remember the mortal fear with which the entire German nation, as though stunned, learned of England's declaration of war can but confirm with emotion the exactness of M. Poincare's story. It was up to England to prevent the war; England alone had that power."

GUILTY OF INJUSTICE

Those words are spoken by a German; and he most certainly commits an injustice when, after reproducing my story and the documents that I published, he places upon England the responsibility of the war. Above all he is wrong to blame Sir Edward Grey, who would have been inclined to pronounce himself in favor of France had it not been for the opposition of several of his colleagues.

But what Herr Stessinger forgets is that England would not have had to prevent war if Germany had not been ready to declare it and to invade Belgium. It is, therefore, Germany and Austria, or at least the two imperial governments which then directed those two countries, upon whom the real responsibility for the catastrophe rests.

But if it is true, as I think it is, that the war might have been avoided by a prompter decision on the part of British government, the English statesmen who, like Mr. Chamberlain, wanted to take sides immediately and publicly, were the most clear-sighted and best inspired ones and we should congratulate ourselves upon seeing them return to power.

URGES UNITY

Now that the destinies of England are no longer in the hands of the Labor Party and since they rest, for a few years at least, with the Conservatives, France and England can no longer, through socialistic fraternizing and through hasty recognition of the soviet (like the rather inopportune action of France on the eve of the British election) arrive at a settlement of European difficulties and the establishment of a final peace. Henceforth, in no country of Europe must the interior policy mislead the foreign policy, and all the governments, whether they be conservative or radical, must look farther than their political parties in order to agree upon the methodical application of the Dawes plan.

This application will not be effected by itself. It will require a great deal of good will on the part of all those connected with it. Before anything else, the sixteen milliards of gold marks of railroad and industrial bonds will have to be sold. That is the primary condition before the system can effectively commence to operate. Later, other obstacles will be encountered, of which the importance must neither be belittled nor exaggerated.

A learned professor of political economy at Harvard University, Albyn Abott Young, recently called attention to one of these obstacles which had already occurred to the minds of all Frenchmen acquainted with the question. That is, the transfers of reparations. To what extent will it be possible to effect them? How long will it take, first of all, for the German interior payments to accumulate in the new bank? And then, when these accumulations have reached the limit of five milliards of gold marks as provided for, up to what point will the economic situation allow their payment in cash as reparations?

SERIOUS PROBLEM

That is, certainly, a serious problem which must be met. But there is every reason to believe that it will not be insoluble and that the rapid development of the export trade of Germany will soon facilitate the transfers. What the eminent Vice-President-elect of the United States and Owen D. Young wanted was to draw up a plan of common sense and of elementary justice. They tried to make Germany pay all the reparations she could equitably pay, without, however, loading her with a burden that would be too heavy for her to carry. The present wealth of Germany, which increases each day with amazing speed, makes it plain that the calculations of the experts were very wise and moderate. If by some chance misfortune should spoil the work of the experts the cause of peace itself would be endangered.

Right after their victory the Allied Powers, faced by Germany, which was incapable of fighting any longer, most certainly were in a position to sign a treaty in accordance with the old practices of diplomacy. The victors could easily have appropriated territories for themselves. They were free to behave the way Germany did in 1871 and annex provinces against the wishes of the inhabitants. They refused because they wished to respect the consciences of populations, and so they believed that conquests nearly always foster a desire for revenge and thus breed new wars.

BEHAVED WELL

The Allies behaved well, and no matter what happens their decisions must not be regretted. But, on the other hand, they did not consider that after having violated Belgium neutrality and, following the crime, having invaded ten French departments, Germany could quietly return home without paying one cent, and then every year send rich tourists, with smiles on their lips, to view the ruins of the Rheims Cathedral.

The Allies contended that the nation which caused the damage should repair it, either by cash payments or by deliveries in kind. I grant that those who drew up the Treaty of Versailles did not pay enough attention to economic considerations, and that they did not accurately foresee the complications that monetary exchange could bring about in the execution of the clauses of the treaty.

But whatever was incorrect, incomplete or hazardous in the measures they took has been corrected and changed by the experts. If the latters' work also should become void we would have to despair of reparations. What a great encouragement that would be for the proponents of the old methods, for the annexationists, for all those who claim that the only sure compensation for a victorious nation is the taking of soil, with its agricultural wealth, its forests and its mines. By means of conquest, they hold, the frontier is changed, and thus is settled with one sword thrust any question of transfer, money or exchange.

ETERNAL THREAT.

Pray let us not offer the slightest pretext for such argument against the Allies. If they are not discredited they would constitute an eternal threat against peace. Let us concentrate on the Dawes Plan as being the best hope for salvation, and let us all work as well as we can together.

Because it is impossible not to admit its advantages, I, as Premier of France at the beginning of the year, hastened to approve the Dawes Plan unconditionally. Even before it actually started working it rendered a considerable service. If, unfortunately, it has not so far modified the state of mind in Germany, if it has not yet smothered inclinations toward revenge there, if it has not greatly stimulated the desire to repair war damages, it has at least cleansed and purified the European atmosphere, it has caused hope to be revived in the heart of nations. Let us not act imprudently and let us not delay the cure of the sickness which ails all humanity.

At present there are a number of their bankers and business men who continue to urge "guerrilla warfare" against the Dawes Plan, which the British government has accepted, as we have. The bankers say that the $200,000,000 loan, which has been floated and subscribed, by procuring money for Germany will enable her more easily to enter into competition with England, and already they are campaigning to prevent the sale of the industrial bonds and the railroad bonds. It is the same as if, after having built a house together with friends, they amuse themselves by tearing it down.

Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Lloyd George Cabinet and leader of the Scottish Conservatives, does not go so far as these bankers. But in an article just published by the Sunday Express, he calls attention to the supposed hardships the Dawes plan will work on England and seizes the opportunity to object beforehand to the conclusion of agreements between French manufacturers and German manufacturers; and he denounces the negotiations which are being carried on by the German and French groups.

The truth is that since the cessation of the resistance in the Ruhr in 1923 many propositions have been made by German manufacturers, metallurgists and mine owners to French manufacturers, and the latter have always refused to listen to these overtures until the establishment of a general reparations program.

But it is incontestable that some day trade agreements must be made. The Ruhr has the coal, Lorraine has the ore; the two districts cannot live and remain economically separated. Of course, in negotiating the necessary agreements, France will have to take into account British as well as American and Italian interests. That is not only a duty of loyalty and friendship; it is also a necessary precaution against difficulties. But to place obstacles in the way of these accords would be to make the economic crisis in Europe worse, to maintain friction between France and Germany, and, as a consequence, to delay the advent of peace.

DOES NOT FORGET

Perhaps Sir Robert Horne simply wanted to remind France not to forget English industry. But the warning was superfluous. France does not forget, and she is not in the habit of turning her back to her friends. It would, therefore, be regrettable if the Conservative government today espoused the ideas of the former Chancellor of the Exchequer. I am confident that it will not do so. British industries certainly are worthy of admiration and respect. Nobody would wish to do them the slightest harm.

But there is something more sacred than their legitimate interests, and that is the peace of Europe. Now, then, it is not in the British Isles that the peace of Europe can be endangered—it is on the continent and it is on the continent also that peace must find its security. The most solid guarantee of the peace will always lie in the disappearance of distrust, prejudice and rancor between Germany and France. That is the reason we are so anxious that reparations be paid to us. The day when they are paid we shall have done a lot toward a rapprochement.

NEW SYSTEM PROVES SUCCESSFUL

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A successful demonstration of sending photographs by wireless from England to the United States was given at Radio House this afternoon. A new system developed by R. H. Ranger of the engineering department of the Radio Corporation of America was used.

There was no receiving demonstration here because the new receiving apparatus has not yet reached here. The Ranger apparatus for sending arrived two weeks ago and has been demonstrated successfully each night since. Sixteen photographs were transmitted today in eight hours and were received in New York. The demonstration which was made at half the possible speed of the apparatus, to insure perfect results, was begun late last night and continued this afternoon under direction of G. S. Whitmore, chief of the Marconi communication bureau and R. G. Ward, engineer of the Radio Corporation.

Among the photographs were those of Frank B. Kellogg, the American Ambassador; the Prince of Wales; Premier Baldwin, Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary; Queen Mary, Dowager Queen Alexandra and late news pictures taken in London.

This afternoon a wireless message was received from New York saying the pictures were coming beautifully and that the next thing which would be accomplished by radio would be the sending of moving pictures.

The sending apparatus which is remarkably simple, consists of a transparent drum containing a small high-powered arc light. The drum is about two feet long and one foot in diameter. The photo-electric cell is inclosed in a small box which measures about one foot six inches and which has a special lens facing the drum.

The photographs were fastened outside the drum facing the lens, and as the drum revolved, half turning in each direction slowly the box with the lens moved at a rate of sixty-four horizontal moves an inch in front of the drum, the photographs being recorded through the lens on the photo-electric cell.

WIRELESS RAYS

The impression on the cell, varying with the intensity or weakness of the light cast through the photograph and transmitted to the cell through the lens, are then automotically transformed into wireless rays, which finally are transmitted across the Atlantic as dots and dashes, the method used in sending ordinary messages.

The receiving is carried out by means of a pen or pencil directed by radio, the motors here and in New York being synchronized. It required a half-hour to send each picture but it was explained that it would be possible to send pictures clearly in less than half this time by speeding up the cell movement in front of the drum.

A great advantage of the Ranger system, according to Mr. Whitmore, is its sureness and stability; but he added that the system is still in an experimental stage and cannot be used commercially. Mr. Whitmore explained that the cost of transmission of pictures probably would depend on the time taken to get them across the Atlantic.

Channel Boats Endangered by Drifting Mines

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Floating mines are reported to be drifting about in the English Channel as a result of last week's heavy gales. The authorities are preparing to send out destroyers from Dover to explode them as they are a serious danger to shipping.

Reports of mines in the Channel are a common occurrence. It is recalled that last week six members of the crew of the trawler Yvonne were killed as the result of an explosion through landing a mine in the trawler's net.

POISON TEA SUSPECT IN CONFESSION

Official Says Man Admits Murdering Wife; Woman in Jail as Accessory

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BROKEN BOW (Neb.) Nov. 30. Frank Bruner, 47 years of age, confessed tonight to murdering his wife by placing poison in her tea, and implicated another woman, Mrs. Aroesta Northy, 47, in the crime, a statement from the County Attorney's office said.

Bruner was charged with first-degree murder Friday, following an analysis made by State chemists who said they had found traces of poison in the woman's stomach.

Police immediately arrested Mrs. Northy, who is held without bail. Bruner, the County Attorney said, admitted that he told her he "would get a divorce from his wife before spring." A charge of being an accessory to the crime was filed against her.

DETECTIVES SHOT DOWN AS BANDITS

Chicago is Thrown Into Panic by Growing Winter Crime Wave

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—The winter crime wave has reached such proportions that good citizens are now killing detectives under the panic impression that the guardians of life and property are hold-up men. Early this morning Hugh Stewart, cashier in the West Highland Bank, stopped in front of his home and started to assist his wife out of his car. Just as Mrs. Stewart stepped from the car an automobile dashed up and stopped. Five strange men started to get out of the car. Stewart ordered his wife to run in the house. Having read much of the kidnaping of women by bandits, he took no chances.

Stewart opened fire on the men. One was killed on the spot and two dropped to the street seriously wounded. The men not hit began shooting at Stewart and he ran a block. Then he heard the shout, "We are police; stop!" He stopped and elevated his arms. To his astonishment he learned the five men were detectives assigned to the task of running down women kidnapers and gunmen. William A. Perrin, who was chauffeur of the squad, was killed. Laurence Warburton and David Van Boozen were wounded. It was Sergt. Carney and Frank Morrell who shouted to Stewart informing him they were detectives.

"Great God!" said Stewart. "I was sure you were hold-up men. I had been visiting with W. C. David," said Stewart. "He was held up a few days ago. Several crimes have occurred right in our block. A girl was kidnaped and attacked there. When we went out tonight I put my automatic in my pocket. "On the ride home my wife and I talked of the hold-ups."

Stewart is under arrest.

CAPTIVE OF APACHES IS MISSIONARY

Spanish Lad, Kidnaped by Indians, Now Apostle to Descendants of Captors

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL RENO (Okla.) Nov. 30.—A Spanish lad, stolen from his New Mexico home by Apache Indians nearly a half century ago, attended a church convention here and told fellow-delegates what he is accomplishing as a missionary among the sons and daughters of the warriors who kidnaped him.

Andrew Martinez was taken from his home by a marauding band when he was about 7 years of age. He was traded by one Indian to another for a mule and several blankets. As a young man, reared among reservation Indians, he came in frequent contact with United States government employees, but he was nearly 30 years of age before he had sensed a difference between himself and the Indians and perceived in the Federal men a link between himself and his own people.

Inquiries made through government agencies revealed that young Martinez had a brother in the Colorado Legislature. His mother was still living. Although anxious to see his family, Martinez could not be induced to risk his life on a train, and the mother and brother finally came to him. Martinez's conversion and return to the Indians as a missionary followed within a few years.

SYDNEY (Australia) Nov. 30.—Australian opinion is becoming somewhat agitated because of the increasing immigration here of Southern Europeans. The last batch was 1200 Jugo-Slavs who, being unable to penetrate the American immigration wall, were diverted to Australia.

The Commonwealth has an arrangement with Italy whereby no passports will be issued to Italian immigrants unless they are nominated by Australian residents who will undertake their supervision and maintenance until they are employed. There is a possibility that similar arrangements will be made with other countries. The Australian authorities do not favor the American quota system, but they are watching the present inflow closely.

Negro Gang is Routed Out by Coyote Howls

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MIDLAND (Tex.) Nov. 30.—Some negro cotton pickers in this West Texas county, "tenderfeet" from East Texas, stampeded recently and for a time it appeared Midland county's cotton crop might go unpicked.

In the "ghost hours" around midnight some strange howling was heard on the far-off plains. It sounded like lions to one of the negroes. He aroused all his party, told them the lions were coming and the retreat started. All arrived at "the white boss's" house some distance away under full steam and headed toward town.

When the "howling" was explained the boss told the colored aggregation it was only coyote wolves moaning. These, he explained, never feasted on human beings. He finally persuaded the negroes to return to their tent and the Midland county cotton crop was saved.

To the Pacific Southwest

Here's a name with Something in it!

"What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet."—Shakespeare

LET us speak of the appropriateness of names. Consider the Pacific-Southwest, a great area of unbounded resources, with many cities... some, producing centers, others peculiarly suited to manufacture and still others, excellent shipping points.

Consider its financial needs... its need of a Bank, small enough in its various units to understand and serve the individual communities, yet strong enough in its unified system to render outstanding financial service to the area as a whole.

It has such a bank, serving through branches in 46 cities. By what more appropriate name could such an institution be called than Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank?

The Bank, with resources as of October 10, 1924, of $180,338,-697.30, is identical in ownership with The First National Bank of Los Angeles, resources $97,249,701.11, and the First Securities Company, capital and surplus $600,000.00. The aggregate resources of these three institutions are $278,188,508.45.

Pinch Your Nerves Spoil Your Health!

You would not do this intentionally—that's true! But do you realize that you are very liable to pinch your nerves without knowing it? Seldom does a pinched nerve cause pain in the spine. Thousands of people slip, fall, over-exert themselves and in many ways cause the small bones of the spine to become displaced. Shocks to the body are registered in the backbone.

MAE PARSONS, D.C., Ph.C.

CAUSE

Do you know that 31 pairs of spinal nerves pass out through the openings between the spinal bones on either side of the spinal column? These nerves carry the vital force of health to the various parts of the body. Falls, twists or shocks often displace these spinal bones—thus closing openings through which nerves pass, thereby shutting down the flow of vital force to some part or parts.

EFFECT

Eventually the organs to which these nerves lead begin to "act up" more or less, and you complain of stomach trouble, heart trouble, nervousness, or something else.

THE ANSWER

Can this flow of vital force be re-established? Yes! That is exactly what we do. An X-Ray picture of your spine is the only way of knowing the EXACT position of displaced spinal bones. We then, by hand, gently adjust these small bones of the back so that the full amount of vital force can again reach the organs from which it was withheld—health being restored as the result.

HOW ABOUT YOUR SPINE?

The picture at the right shows how bad a spine may become if not taken care of in time. Here is the case of a man who had a slight displacement (weak spot) in his spine. He had a bad fall and the "weak spot" gave way to such an extent that he became paralyzed from the waist down. Note how badly out of the straight line position the vertebrae are. Fortunately chiropractic adjustments restored the use of his limbs.

BAY CITY MAN DIES IN CAVE

Boat Sinks With Party of Twenty-five on Echo River in Mammoth Cavern of Kentucky

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 30.—A party of sightseers entered a boat plying Echo River in Mammoth Cave. It sank soon afterward. One man died of heart disease as a result of the strain and horror he underwent; others were more frightened perhaps than ever they will be again.

Details of the escape of twenty-five persons from a watery grave far back under the hill that hoists its back above the buried Echo River was told here by survivors. Three of those who described their experiences are Frank W. Theall, Sr., New York City; Edward Flaherty, Long Island City, N. Y., and Robert Swindley, Paterson, N. J.

The man whose heart gave way was Harry F. Wheeler, general sales manager and vice-president of John Mulhern & Co., San Francisco. All had been here attending the convention of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages and had gone to Mammoth Cave on a sightseeing trip.

STOPS FLOW

The escape of the entire boatload of passengers was attributed by survivors to two members of the party, one of whom held his hand over the hole found in the bottom of the boat—something like the brave deed of the little boy who found a stream of water creeping through a Holland dike—while another baled water with his hat until the boat was pulled out of the dark and narrow channel of deep water to within fifteen feet of the landing where it sank.

Members of the party had objected to water in the boat when they started on their trip, it was said, but were reassured by a guide, who is said to have asserted that the water was already in the craft.

After leaving the landing place and traveling through a low and narrow passageway, a considerable distance inside the cave, members of the party noticed water was rising in the boat and finally prevailed upon the guide to turn back.

BOAT GOES DOWN

The boat, despite efforts of the man who stopped the crevice and the other who used his hat as a baler, continued to fill as the craft crept along the narrow channel. Finally the boat went down, throwing all the occupants into the water, almost as cold as ice. To add to the horrors, the sinking of the boat extinguished the only light aboard, that carried by the guide.

Darkness being added to the other menaces that crept about the foundered craft, the whole party was in a panic. Some of the party were able to catch and cling to the sides of the sinking boat, while others, who had noted the direction of the landing-place, swam to that point and reached safety. Others reached the jutting edges of the cavern and clung to the rocks until the alarm could reach the outside and rescuers could arrive.

Theall said after the incident he found himself standing in water up to his neck. He began wading out but stepped into a sinkhole, going over his head, and in the confusion several persons grasped him and pulled him further under the water.

"It was an experience I never shall forget," said J. W. Goetz, one of the party. "It is a miracle that the entire party was not drowned. If the boat had gone fifty feet further into the tunnel or had gone down before it emerged from the deep channel, every one would have drowned."

Wheeler was among those hurried to the open when all the travelers had been accounted for. The strain on his heart had been too great, however. He collapsed and was dead half an hour after he had been taken out of the cave. He was 46 years of age, leaves a widow and 10-year-old son. His body was sent to San Francisco.

Mammoth Cave as a resort for sightseers is operated privately. It has been urged that the government buy it and convert it into a national park.

DEER TAKE LONG TRAIL BACK HOME

Two Animals Believed to Have Traveled 700 Miles to Kentucky Farm

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS (Ky.) Nov. 30.—Belief is expressed here that two deer, members of a herd sold into Pennsylvania several months ago by Mrs. Catesby Woodford of Raceland farm, near here, have made their way back to their old home. The distance is about 700 miles. If the deer did make such a journey, their way would lie through the mountains and forests of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky.

John Sturgen, a painter, while working near the old baseball park in the Paris suburbs saw two deer running through the park and says they jumped the highest fences with ease. Mrs. Oliver Mann, living in the vicinity, also saw the animals, which ran off in the direction of Raceland Farm, where it is supposed they are now in the forests there.

Mrs. Woodford, after the death of her husband, thoroughbred horse turfman, sold the large Raceland herd of deer intact to a forest preserve near Philadelphia. Every deer on th farm was sent to Pennsylvania by express. It is understood they were all immediately loosed in the woods on arrival there. The deer had been raised by Woodford as the hobby of a rich man, but after he died, Mrs. Woodford felt she was unable to give the animals the attention they should have.

GERMANS HELP AMERICAN SHIPS

Refuse to Enter European Freight Monopoly

Rate Slashing is Laid to Yankee Lines

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—A determined and well-organized attempt by European steamship lines, led by the British Royal Mail Steamship Company, to form an international steamship combination against the United States in order to obtain more of the North Atlantic trade and a virtual monopoly of the European-South American freight traffic has failed, owing to the German refusal to be unfriendly to American interests.

On last Wednesday night an eight-day conference in the Hotel Esplanade in Berlin ended. Representatives of British, Dutch, Belgian, French, Spanish, Italian and German steamship lines were present, as were delegates from South America.

RATES REDUCED

It appears that the American steamship lines have been cutting freight rates to a point at which the European companies are unwilling or unable to compete with them, and therefore at the instigation of the Royal Mail line formation of an international trust was attempted.

It was proposed to reach an understanding between all the European companies by which uniform tariffs would be established, the time tables would be made to prevent competition and each country's shipping would have a certain percentage of the total carrying trade based on the present tonnage.

The Germans, who have benefitted by the cut rates, demurred. They declared that they would be unwilling to accept any share based on their present tonnage, as within a year they would possess the same tonnage as before the war. Moreover, the Germans were opposed in principle to combating the Americans.

SUSPECT THREAT

The other delegates believe that the German lines were threatened by the American allied lines with a complete stoppage of credit if they adhered to the British plan.

It is notable that the Norwegians were absent from the conference. The European delegates, with the exception of the Germans, assert that the proposed trust was to be a defensive one to protect the European lines from American attack. They declare that American interests are planning to use Germans and Norwegians in a scheme for giving the American lines an even larger share of the Atlantic carrying traffic.

SEATTLE OFFICERS FIND LARGE SUMS DEPOSITED BY GUN VICTIM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Nov. 30.—A bank balance of $17,100 was left in a Seattle bank by Karl Peterson, killed in a gunfight with two detectives here Monday, it was revealed by the police today. An investigation has been started on the presumption that the money was obtained in hold-ups. A bank book brought here by Mrs. Peterson, a bride of three months, from Vancouver, Wash., showed that Peterson had made deposits of $9000 and $5100 on the same day.

Police were investigating a report that Peterson sold loot stolen here in Portland, Or., and in Seattle, loot which he obtained in Portland. That he operated in Everett and several other Washington cities was also believed by the authorities.

Peterson was killed when he fired on the officers after being questioned about the license plates of an automobile.

WOMAN IS RESCUED IN ICY WATER

Jurist's Son Braves Snow and Gale in River to Save Ferryboat Passenger

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Blinding snow, a howling wind and storm-tossed icy water were nothing to Arthur S. Tompkins, Jr., this afternoon when a lurch of a ferryboat plying between Tarrytown and Nyack sent a woman sliding across the slippery deck, under the forward rail into the river. Mr. Tompkins, the son of Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins and not long since a college athlete, shed his coat, vest and shoes, while others were peering vainly overside, ducked under the rail and dived in.

The ferryboat went nearly three lengths before she could be brought to and by that time the young man was swimming vigorously toward a woman's coat. He grasped the coat and found the garment was empty. Then he made out a hand just below the surface and snatched hold of it. He dragged the woman, Miss Anna Foley, 50 years of age, of Nyack, to the surface. She was panic stricken and grappled with him. Tompkins dealt her a blow that knocked her unconscious and brought her to safety.

PRESIDENTS' DOGS ARE RELATED

Puppy Given by Group of New York Society Women to Chief Executive of Mexcio is Blood Cousin to Pet of the White House; "El Meco" Likes Land of Adoption

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—The first dog of the land in Mexico is a blood cousin to the first dog of the United States, at the White House in Washington, according to pedigrees established by the group of New York society women who presented the new President of Mexico, Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, with his official canine.

"El Meco," more or less translated as "the savage," which is the name of the pup, has, according to domestic reports, been the prime influence in the nationalization of the young American aristocrat. He comes of a family of dogs which has never had a member owned by anyone but a President, the grandfather of El Meco having been owned by the late Woodrow Wilson, and an uncle having been the late President Harding's, while the actual dog in the United States Cabinet is a first cousin.

The new dog has been received with great favor, and although at first he showed himself somewhat doubtful about his future, he now has adopted chili, beans, liquid nourishment, and a dignified swagger to prove his patriotism. When asked what he thinks about Mexico, as is done to all newcomers, he responds with great assurance, "Bow-wow!"

This Girl Knows-- Do You?

THIS girl has The Book of Knowledge in her home. She can explain to you interestingly and correctly all the familiar things which she sees around her. Her teacher will tell you that when she wants a quick and intelligent answer from her class, this girl always answers first. She understands many subjects of interest in the papers and magazines and in the conversation of her elders. She has made a long start in the race for knowledge.

What makes the moon so bright? How do I remember?
Where does a flower get its smell?

The BOOK of KNOWLEDGE

10,000 EDUCATIONAL PICTURES

Curiousity—The Great Teacher

CURIOSITY is the beginning of all knowledge. Do you know any subject about which your child has not asked you a dozen questions? Let her ask as many as she wishes and be sure to answer them correctly. That is the parent's most important and most easily neglected duty. If you discourage your child's curiosity, you will injure her mind, and the bright girl or boy may become stupid or indifferent.

The Book of Knowledge is the simplest and most natural method of helping the child to educate itself. It answers in plain and simple language every question a child can ask. So captivating is this great original work that the child absorbs with little effort the profound truths and important facts of the world of knowledge while reading its delightful pages and looking at the thousands of striking educational pictures.

Your Child is Unique

Your child is like no other child in the world. Whether boy or girl, it has its own peculiar need for the kind of physical and mental food that agrees with it. The Book of Knowledge is the right kind of food for the child's mind during the growing years. Watch carefully which of the sixteen great departments arouse most interest—nature, science, history, biography, astronomy, physiology, art, literature, poetry or manual training. This may well prove the key to the child's natural bent and point the way to the kind of work or profession in which success can most easily be won.

Your Child's Chance

WHAT is your child's chance to become successful? Careful surveys have been made by educators. An uneducated child has only one chance in one hundred thousand to succeed. If a child has gone through the eight grades, the chances of success are four times as great; with a high school education, a hundred times as great; with The Book of Knowledge in the home, the best chance to make education a stepping stone to success. It is not a luxury; it an absolute necessity. It is an investment in your child's future which will pay dividends for life. In more than a million homes today, the children have the advantage of The Book of Knowledge. Give your child the same chance.

JAPAN WILLING TO LIMIT ARMS

Minister Avers Readiness for Peace Parley

Asserts Defense Needs Must be Considered

Stresses Friendship for United States

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, New York Times.]

TOKIO, Nov. 30.—Admiral Takarabe, Minister of the Navy, in a statement today declared that Japan was ready to consider a new proposal for the further reduction of armament to the extent compatible with her own defense requirements. He referred to the friendship between the United States and Japan, "which has been traditional," and expressed the opinion that it is the duty of statesmen in both countries to do everything possible, "to hold sacred the cause of peace."

This is the first official expression of Japan's attitude toward the proposal for a new disarmament conference, to be called by the United States, such as was recommended by the American Congress in the Byrne amendment to the navy bill in March and which President Coolidge, in his acceptance speech, declared was his intention of calling.

BULWARK OF PEACE

The statement of Admiral Takarabe follows:

"Japan is ready to consider a proposal for further reduction of armament on a fair basis and to the extent that is compatible with the needs of her national defense. Any proposal which tends to stabilize the situation in the Pacific and remove prejudice and suspicion is perfectly welcome. The best bulwark of peace would be the impossibility of aggression, and this should be made dependent not only upon human will, but on the technical impossibility of practical warfare.

"If there is a sincere desire to co-operate for peace there is no reason why the means should not be found to accomplish this end. The friendship beween America and Japan has been traditional. Japan has always looked upon the United States as a staunch friend. Under all circumstances it is the highest duty of the statesmen of both countries to do everything possible to uphold the sacred cause of peace and to fight any insidious campaigning aiming at the destruction of public welfare, if for no other reason than the promotion of militarism.

"Peace-loving American citizens and peace-loving Japanese subjects should rally firmly, so there shall be no gap through which trouble-breeders may take advantage. The Pacific should be preserved for eternal peace among the nations washed by its waves.

"The American and Japanese publics should be convinced that there are between the two nations no issues whatsoever awaiting solution by the application of brute force, which work evil to all those involved. It is my firm conviction that peace will reign forever in the Pacific as long as the people on both sides continue to co-operate for peace and friendship."

Chemist Finds Food Value in Lowly Corncob

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 30.—"Eat corncobs for health." Some such signs will grace the scenery of fair America and the people will be buying a box of corn cob cellulose for their breakfast in a few months, according to Fred C. Atkinson, Indianapolis research chemist, who has discovered a food substance in the lowly cob, which is said to be superior to wheat bran.

He says a firm of breakfast food manufacturers in Pittsburg has made arrangements to use the corn cob product with rice in the manufacture of a patented cereal. The cereal itself, he says, will be manufactured there but the cob product will be manufactured in Indianapolis, Springfield, Ill., or Columbus, O.

This food has been fed to patients in hospitals and healthy persons, he said, with results more than satisfactory. He says it does not irritate the digestive tract as does bran and is of fine enough texture to mix with corn, wheat and rice flours.

MAIL THIEF SENTENCED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Tom Jones worked in the Liverpool postoffice as a telegrapher. He became "fed up" on work. "Too monotonous," he told his friends. He got the idea of taking a block or two of postal money orders and filling them out himself. Nothing could be simpler. He became a great lover of champagne and motored about town with fair maids in an expensive car. Then the fraud was discovered. The judge said: "eighteen months."

BLOC'S PLANS HELD FUTILE

La Follette is Snubbed by Democrats

Opposing Forces Spar for Positions Today

G.O.P. Opponents Expected to Aid Legislation

score has stood for nearly two years. The four evicted Senators are no more anti-Republican today than they have been all the time, so far as support of a Republican legislative program is concerned. The only difference is that they are now outside instead of inside.

In the previous session they moved for all practical purposes into the Democratic House; or the Democrats moved into their House, whichever way you want to look at it. The combination joyously joined in the effort to hurry and defeat the Republican administration policies. Then La Follette eloped with one of the family, Burton K. Wheeler, and set up a temporary establishment of his own that not only scandalized the neighborhood, but just about ruined the standing of the Democratic family. This escapade, it turned out, injured the Democrats more than it did the Republicans. And it never would have been possible had not the Democrats given La Follette House room at the last session. Wherefore the Democrats with Senators Pat and Joe on watch, are determined that La Follette shall not get in again. Nevertheless they realize that they must watch some of their own less discreet members, for La Follette may yet lure them away.

ANOTHER ASPECT

Then there is another aspect to the situation. If the leading Democrats carry out their announced purpose of abstaining from obstructionist tactics at the session, La Follette and his group can howl in vain until their voices crack, for this would mean that many Democrats will vote with the Republicans to transact necessary business. As against the four evicted Republicans, there will be several times that number of Democrats who will join with the Republicans to prevent delays.

Therefore, as it has been set forth several times in these dispatches since election, there is small possibility of any general legislation of large moment coming out of the session before it dies on March 4. Tax legislation promises to be limited to the adoption of a joint resolution repealing the publicity features of the income-tax law. The administration feels very strongly on this and has large Democratic support.

The position of the administration in opposing any attempt at general tax revision at this time is becoming better understood. There are two questions yet to be answered before another tax revision should be tried. One is, how much money will the present law bring in? The other is, how much money will this Congress appropriate before it quits in March? The answers cannot be forthcoming until after adjournment. The quarterly tax payments on March 15 will indicate the answer to one question and the statisticians will have the other ready when March 4 comes.

TO AVOID RAIDS

Indications now are that this session is going to be good and avoid Treasury raids, but many things might happen between now and March 4 that would start Congress to spending prodigally again. Last session it jammed the bonus bill through, with its new demands for cash that disarranged the fiscal plans. Fortunately, however, this measure has been less costly than estimted, for less than a third of the men entitled to the bonus have applied for it. But, for example, should farm-relief legislation come along with huge cash would not be so lucky.

It must be understood that the administration has not deviated that there is to be no extra session to revise the tax laws next year. It is against planning an extra session at this time. If the answers to the two questions cited above are frorable, then, after they have been received and studied, and then only, will the time come for considering the advisability of calling Congress to reduce taxes some more.

Lacked Prophetic Gift

Simpson and Stimpson had been great friends in the earlier years of their lives, but eventually Stimpson married and now Simpson proposed to follow the noble deed.

The approach of Simpson's triumph drew near. On the morrow he intended to propose to the girl, but, first of all, he had decided to have a chat with Stimpson.

"Were you all nerves when you proposed to your wife?" he asked.

Stimpson sighed. "I wasn't," he admitted. "But if I could have foreseen the future I should have been!"—[Unidentified.

Woodcarving an Ancient Craft

From earliest ages woodcarving has been a foremost craft and is believed to be of greater antiquity than working of ivory. It reached the height of perfection in the glories of the fifteenth century cathedrals. It is claimed to be more difficult to carve wood than in marble because wood is affected by changes in temperature and is subject to injury by insects. Also, damage may result in woodcarving by failure to fashion delicate work along with the vein of the wood. Unfortunately carving in wood is becoming almost a lost art because of the use of machine methods in answer to the demand of the age for speed in everything.

Plaster Made From Ant Hills

The natives of South Africa mix a plaster from a material used by ants in making their hills. The natives build their houses from the mixture which is said to be stronger than kiln-burned brick. A single mound thrown up by the insects will often furnish enough material for several fair-sized buildings. Only one experienced in handling the plaster can succeed in driving a nail through it.

More Rains in the Afternoons

In the Southwestern States and along the Gulf Coast records have been made showing that rain is more frequent in the afternoons than in the mornings. This is said to be the reason for the cool nights which prevail in that part of the country, the effects of the hot sun being offset by the moisture created by the afternoon downpour.

KORETZ DUE AT CHICAGO TODAY

Bayano Oil Bubble Prisoner Leaves New York

Trust Company Agent Tells of $100,000 Surrender

Illinois Officials May Bring Him in Under Cover

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30. — Leo Koretz, wanted in Chicago in connection with asserted stock swindles totaling approximately $2,000,000, left here for Chicago this afternoon in company of two assistant State's attorneys of Illinois. The party left at 2:45 o'clock on the Broadway Limited of the Pennsylvania Railroad. They arrived here this morning on the liner Caronia from Halifax.

As the prisoner was being taken to the train, Alphonse F. Spiegel, attorney and representative of the Chicago Title and Trust Company, announced that Koretz had surrendered about $100,000. During an interview with Spiegel he is said to have revealed the details of his financial operations in New York during the period following his disappearance from Chicago.

LUNCH WITH LAWYERS

After preliminary formalities with the customs, immigration and public health authorities Koretz was taken to a hotel for luncheon. Accompanying him were John A. Sbarbaro and Thomas Marshall, assistant State's attorneys of Illinois; Joseph Connelly, his attorney; Adrian L. Hoover of the Chicago Title and Trust Company, and R. H. Scriven, provincial constable from Halifax, all of whom had boarded the ship with him at Nova Scotia port.

The Illinois officials said that Koretz had boarded the ship voluntarily and that they had served a warrant on him as soon as the vessel entered American waters.

Spiegel boarded the vessel soon after it docked and had a long conversation with Koretz and his attorney, but neither he nor Koretz would talk to newspaper men, although the prisoner submitted to being photographed.

MORE QUESTIONING

Spiegel, it was said, was desirous that Koretz go to the offices of the American Bar Association and submit to further questioning, but the Chicago officials did not approve of the plan and hurried Koretz to an uptown hotel. Representatives of the Chicago bank are said to have questioned Koretz closely as to the disposition of funds, which they believe he may have secreted here after leaving Chicago. The prisoner was reported to have surrendered bank books, safe deposit keys and to have given information regarding his affairs in New York.

MOVE TO AVOID VIOLENCE PROBABLE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Leo Koretz will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning, eventually to face the many relatives, friends and investors whom he fleeced of every cent through the new famous Bayano oil bubble. Ever since he was captured in Halifax, people have been coming to the State's Attorney's office demanding the blood of Leo, and, at least, a part of their gold.

In order to avoid any attempt at violence it is believed that "the greatest gold-digger of them all" will be removed from the train at some point outside of Chicago and brought into the city over some secret circuitous route.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS NAME STANFORD MAN

PROF. DURAND EXPECTED TO LEAVE UNIVERSITY TO DIRECT SOCIETY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Election by mail ballot of Dr. William F. Durand, professor of mechanical engineering at Leland Stanford University since 1894, as president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was announced here tonight. The annual meeting of the society opens here tomorrow.

Dr. Durand, it was said, will retire from his professorship and come to New York to direct the administration of the society.

Dr. Durand is 65 years of age and was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1890. In 1891 he went to Cornell University and in 1894 to Leland Stanford.

LASH VOTED FOR DOPE RING

British Columbia Legislators Favor Whipping-Post for Smugglers and Sellers of Narcotics

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Nov. 30.—Sinking their political differences and voting unanimously, members of the British Columbia Legislature have gone on record as favoring the use of the lash on dope peddlers. Passage of a resolution urging the Federal government to prescribe whipping for drug traffickers followed an impassioned speech by A. M. Manson, Attorney-General of this Province who declared that his recent investigations had revealed appalling drug conditions here.

Exposed directly to drug smuggling from the Orient, British Columbia has become a lucrative field for the traffic, he declared, and he staggered the Legislature with the statement that peddlers have organized dope clubs among high-school girls, who are thus taught the use of drugs.

Disregarding his political affiliations, the Attorney-General seconded a resolution in favor of the lash for dope peddlers moved by the opposition. The lash, he believed, would do more to stop drug-trafficking than anything else. He recalled the statement of a British Columbia judge, sitting on a recent drug case that the drug peddler is worse in some ways than the murderer.

"It is true," Mr. Manson asserted, "because he destroys not only the body but the soul."

Wealthy and influential men are backing the drug trade, Mr. Manson told his colleagues. To find these men and punish them, however, is an extremely difficult task, he said.

While the mover of the anti-dope resolution declared he would not be a party to any plan involving the use of the lash on women, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, the only woman member of the House and the first woman to hold Cabinet rank in the British Empire, assured the members that she would support whipping for offenders of her sex.

"If women destroy souls they must take the consequences as men do," she said. "When I am allowed equality in this House I will always support equality of the sexes in all things."

WEST TO RULE NEW CONGRESS

Eastern States to Yield Important Places

Many Committees to Have Chairmen Changed

Legislation to be Affected by Shake-Up

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The West for the first time in history now has the domination of Congress within its grasp.

The shift already is in progress in the filling of vacancies in this Congress, and by the time the new Congress is organized, the control of the national legislation will have passed definitely and overwhelmingly from the eastern to the western States.

For generations New England and the other Atlantic seaboard States have ruled whenever the Republican party was in power. Even under Cannon and other western speakers, the East controlled the committees which framed legislation. Whenever the Democratic party is in power, the South is in the saddle, as a result of the operation of the seniority system in the make-up of committees.

WEST IN SADDLE

Now the West is getting into the saddle by virtue of that same seniority system which hitherto has permitted the East to dominate. On each committee the Senators and Representatives of longest continuous service stand at the top of the list. A new Senator goes on a committee at the bottom of the list. The one at the top becomes chairman and the chairman of a committee is an exceedingly important, if not the most important, factor in legislation.

In the next Congress it is going to be possible for the West to dictate legislation. For decades protective tariff laws have been written by the representatives of the eastern manufacturers. The West is now going to be enabled to lift a commanding voice in future tariff legislation. If western leaders assert themselves they will be able to put over the St. Lawrence seaway despite eastern opposition. It will be possible to exact for the agricultural industry the same credit and other advantages as eastern statesmen have contrived to provide for manufacturers and commerce.

EAST TO WEST

Until the recent death of Senator Lodge, Massachusetts held both the speakership of the House and the majority leadership of the Senate. With a Massachusetts man in the White House, there arose a cry of "too much Massachusetts." Now, however, the majority leadership of the Senate has passed from Massachusetts to Kansas with the election of Senator Curtis to succeed Mr. Lodge. Speaker Gillette (Massachusetts) has been elected to the Senate and in the new Congress the speakership will pass to the West presumably, the leading candidates therefor being Representative Madden, Illinois, and Representative Longworth, Ohio.

The chairmanship of the Senate's great Committee on Foreign Relations will pass from Massachusetts to Idaho when Senator Borah is chosen this week to fill the Lodge vacancy.

The chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee also will go from Connecticut to Iowa at the same time when Senator Cummins is given that post in succession to the late Senator Brandegee.

CHAIRMANSHIPS SHIFT

In the new Congress the East will yield other important chairmanships to the West. Senator Johnson, California, will succeed the late Senator Colt, Rhode Island, as chairman of the Immigration Committee. If Senator Cummins should elect to take back his old position of chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee of which the Democrats and La Follette group deprived him in this Congress, Senator Ernest, Kentucky, would become head of the Judiciary Committee. If Mr. Cummins remains at the head of the Judiciary Committee, Senator La Follette, Wisconsin, would be in line for the chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

The Republicans, however, are disposed to exclude La Follette from Republican committee assignment, in accord with the action taken last week depriving the La Follette Senators of recognition as Republicans. In that event the chairmanship of interstate commerce probably would go to Senator Watson, Indiana, who also is assistant majority leader of the Senate and chairman of the Committee on Committees, which makes the committee assignments subject to the approval of the Senate.

WEST YIELDS ONE

If La Follette loses also his chairmanship of the Manufactures Committee, he will be succeeded by Senator McNary, Oregon, or Senator McKinley, Illinois.

Senator Capper, Kansas, will succeed Senator Ball, Delaware, at the head of the District of Columbia Committee.

The West will yield an important committee chairmanship to the East in only one instance. Senator Moses, New Hampshire, will succeed Senator Sterling, South Dakota, as chairman of the Postoffice Committee. The West will retain the chairmanships of the committees on agriculture, appropriations, claims, commerce, education and labor, finance, Indian affairs, irrigation and reclamation, pensions, privileges and elections and territories and insular possessions. The East will retain the chairmanships of banking and currency, military affairs, naval affairs and public buildings.

GERMAN PRINCES IN SECRET PACT?

are blaming the former Crown Prince for breaking the oath he gave when permitted to return to Germany, that he never would engage in political activities. The former Crown Prince's offices continually issued official denials of any political activity, contending that the visit to Munich was merely for friendship.

The Nationalist party also is somewhat disappointed over the agreement between the former kings because their whole election propaganda is based on the idea of the hostility of Germany against its enemies or a restoration of the Bismarckian monarchy and not a federation of separate States as the Monarchists now plan.

FORGED LETTER FROM M. HERRIOT PUBLISHED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—Ten days ago it was reported that the German Monarchists and Nationalists had forged a letter from Premier Herriot for publication a few days before the general elections. This letter was supposed to be a secret memorandum addressed to the entente countries asking strong action against Germany, especially the German army. Its publication in a manner similar to the Zinoviev letter in England was intended to show Germany that Premier Herriot like M. Poincare was a great enemy and not a friend of Germany, and was intended to win votes for the Monarchists' and Nationalists' cause instead of the three republican parties, which are negotiating for friendship with Premier Herriot.

Seven days ago Quay D'Orsay, through a semiofficial agency, announced that the French government was aware of this forgery. Six days ago several Berlin Republican newspapers also published the facts and declared the forgers had planned to plant the document on an American newspaper representative who had a Paris edition as well as an American home paper. This is exactly what happened: The forgers offered the document to American newspaper men, but could not present proof of its authenticity. Meanwhile proof that it was a forgery arrived.

Despite the above facts, the Nationalist press tonight sprang the forged documents upon the German electorate, with added editorials tending to provoke a new era of ill feeling between Germany and the new French government.

BANK IN GOOD CONDITION

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Nov. 30.—Receiver A. J. Renaud has made report that the affairs of the Mayer State Bank are in good condition. At the time of closing the bank's indebtedness was $50,000, of which $22,000 remains unpaid, but well secured by cattle paper. General depositors all have been paid, and the amounts now due are to depositor-stockholders.

BOW MAKERS HIT BY HAIR DEARTH

Scarcity of White Horse Tails for Violin Craft Worries Artisans

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Makers of violin bows are becoming anxious over the growing scarcity of white horses, from the tails of which are taken hairs for the manufacture of bow strings. According to an expert, there is a decided shortage of white horse tail hair from Siberia and East Russia, whence the best supplies come.

BOOST FAILS TO SATISFY UNIONS

ments with the different railroads.

The railroad board then assumed jurisdiction and summoned ninety general chairmen and officials of the unions to appear before it and testify.

TEST CASE

They refused to do so and denied the right of the board to interfere. The board made a test case by having D. B. Robertson, president of the firemen's organization, and J. N. McGuire, of the engineers' organization subpoenaed through the Federal court.

Robertson and McGuire ignored the subpoenaes. The Labor Board next put the question of its jurisdiction up to the Federal court. Judge Wilkerson, former United States District Attorney, handed down a decision upholding the jurisdiction of the Labor Board. With the backing of the Federal decision the Labor Board went to work. Robertson and McGuire have been found guilty of contempt and have appealed to the Supreme Court. The railroads appeared and introduced testimony. The unions did not.

The decision is similar in effect to the agreement voluntarily entered into between the same carriers and the conductors and trainmen.

ONE RULE CHANGED

One of the objections which have been changed as considered by the board does away with pyramiding of wages, through which the trainmen sometimes received three days' pay for one day's work.

On the Southern Pacific this was based upon a wage schedule of 100 miles for a day's work.

The distance was covered in five and a half hours, so that after that time the men received overtime pay.

The board still retains jurisdiction of the case through three rules which were not decided and which permit the test case to be continued in the Supreme Court.

Chairman Hooper said the management side of the question was presented from two sources.

"In the first place we submitted the carriers representatives to a rigid cross-examination and demanded they submit a mass of information concerning the proposed rules before we released them from the witness stand," he said.

PRIOR CASE

"Then it so happened that a case involving substantially the same points came to the attention of the board several years ago. By referring to the testimony of the brotherhood representatives in that case we were able to form a good idea as to their side of it.

"Three of the rules in dispute were not thrashed out in our decision. Action on these points is now pending before this board and is to be handled later."

Mr. Hooper thus indicated an effort will be made to force the union chiefs to testify in these issues before the board.

The pay boosts were based substantially on those granted engineers and firemen of the New York Central last January. Such increases amounted to approximately 5 per cent.

The rates of pay for engineers in passenger service under new schedule vary from $6.16 a day to $7.16 a day, according to the size of engine; for firemen from $4.11 to $5.76 and for helpers, slightly from $4.56 to $4.71. A minimum of $7 for engineers and $5.51 for firemen was granted where earnings are based on mileage, overtime, or other rules.

FREIGHT SERVICE

In freight service the wage range for engineers is from $6.04 a day to $6.76, according to the type of engine, while for firemen the rates run from $5 to $6.51 and for helpers from $5 to $5.16, while in the yard service the wage range for engineers is from $6.72 to $6.84, for firemen from $5.28 to $5.44 and for helpers from $5.28 to $5.44. Outside hostlers are given $5.95 a day, inside hostlers $5.28 and helpers $4.72.

Opponent Bases Contest on Scratched Ballots

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DES MOINES, Nov. 30.—Senator Smith W. Brookhart plans to defend his claim to his seat in the United States Senate on the same grounds upon which Daniel F. Stack, his Democratic opponent in the general election, plans to base his contest of the election.

This was disclosed yesterday when the Senator, through court action in nearly a score of Iowa counties set out to preserve for the probable Senate recount of the ballots, all records of the election, some of which might be destroyed under the law on December 4 when county auditors are permitted to dismantle voting machines and retain only the total vote recorded for each candidate.

CHARGES INACCURACY

Senator Brookhart, in filing petitions for injunctions against nineteen county auditors, asked that special masters in chancery be appointed to open voting machines and preserve ballots which may not have been counted as well as those recorded.

"In numerous instances," he alleged in the petition filed here, "judges of election failed to make accurate returns," on the Senatorial race.

Attorneys for the Senator declare they have evidence that in numerous counties, straight Republican ballots were not counted. As a result, they declare, the Brookhart lead over his Democratic opponent was reduced by "hundreds of votes" and Senator Brookhart won by only 755 votes, while the loss of these votes to other Republican candidates, who received overwhelming majorities in all cases, was not important.

INJUNCTION GRANTED

Likewise, Steck's attorneys have announced his contest on the Brookhart election will be based upon votes which were not counted through a misunderstanding on the part of some election judges of the tabulation of election machine ballots, and upon throwing out of ballots marked with arrows to indicate a "scratch" for the Democrat. Ballots in the latter group are invalid under the State law, but Steck hopes to be able to have them counted by the Senate committee.

ATTORNEY IN LIQUOR CASE GOES HOME

Vancouver Lawyer Seized in Quadra Quiz to Return to Bay City for Trial

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 30.—F. R. Anderson, Vancouver lawyer arrested in San Francisco in connection with the Quadra rum ship case, reached his home here yesterday. He returned without the permission of the American authorities, but intends to return to San Francisco for trial in January, he declared.

"There was naturally no difficulty from the Canadian authorities in my crossing the boundary in the usual way," Mr. Anderson said. "I went originally to San Francisco, acting in the ordinary way as a counsel for a client. I was routed out at night by officials who were looking for someone else but they insisted on taking me. I was released on bail of $10,000 but the court declined my application to return here.

"I had to come back to attend to some personal business and so I am here," Mr. Anderson continued. "I can say, however, that I shall surely return to be on hand for trial, but I could not afford to spend all the intervening time in San Francisco."

WOMAN'S ESTATE IS SOUGHT BY CHURCH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—The Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church, through its attorney, Fred L. English, today filed a motion in Probate Court asking that the will of Mrs. Jennie A. Holbrook, recently accepted for probate, be set aside and a prior document, leaving the bulk of her estate, be substituted. Mrs. Holbrook died November 16. Under the present will Miss Billie Edith Stanley, 23 years of age, receives the bulk of the estate, valued at from $60,000 to $181,000. She met Mrs. Holbrook on a street car and later became her companion.

TOWN IN NEBRASKA BANS SUNDAY FILMS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OMAHA, Nov. 30.—An ordinance recently passed by the Wakefield Council and signed by the Mayor, H. G. Hanson, makes it "unlawful to give exhibitions of moving or stationary pictures on Sunday." The ordinance provides for punishment for its violation by a fine of not less than $50 or more than $100 or imprisonment in the City Jail not to exceed thirty days for the first and subsequent offenses. The ordinance became effective upon its passage by the City Council.

FARM LABOR IS GIVEN CHECK-UP

Sage Foundation Experts in Five-Year Survey

Report Says Better Agencies Are Vital Need

Employer and Laborer Have Poor Contact Now

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The problems of the farmer in need of labor, the problems of the farm laborer in need of a job, the great waste resulting from the lack of an organized effort to bring the laborer and the farmer together, and methods of overcoming these difficulties are the subject of a large part of the report on public employment offices which has just been issued by the Russell Sage Foundation. The report is the result of a five-year study of employment methods, needs, and agencies, which took the investigators of the foundation into every important agricultural section of the country and into more than seventy cities, including virtually all those in which labor is recruited.

While the foundation's study was not confined to the employment problems of agricultural communities, many of the foundation's findings and recommendations regarding the employment problems of the country at large affect the agricultural communities as vitally as the industrial centers of the country, and large sections of the report are given over exclusively to the problems of the farmer and the farm laborer.

The report was prepared by Shelby M. Harrison, director of the Department of Surveys and Exhibits of the Russell Sage Foundation in collaboration with Mary LaDame, Bradley Buell, Leslie E. Woodcock, and Frederick A. King, all of whom have been closely identified with public and private employment work.

The report declares orderly recruiting and distribution of farm labor is one of the biggest questions confronting public employment offices, and adds: "It must be admitted, however, that in spite of the importance of this need, public employment offices thus far have failed largely to function in this field. With few exceptions, and not until the labor shortage created by the war had brought this situation forcibly before the country, were the farmers' interests served in more than limited areas adjoining industrial centers. The success obtained under wartime conditions, however, has been seriously endangered by the crippling of the Federal service.

"One of the chief obstacles to the work of the public employment office," the report says, "is that the farmer is often unfamiliar with employment office methods. He may therefore find fault with the work of the office when his own lack of co-operation contributes directly to unsatisfactory service. For example, he may fail to notify the office of an intended visit and find no applicants to be interviewed on his arrival. He may fail to meet the applicant promptly at the railroad station on notice from the office of the intended arrival, with the result that his man is snapped up by someone else. Or after placing an order, he sometimes fails to notify the office that he has hired help elsewhere, and as a result the referred applicant is sent on a wild-goose chase with a needless expense of money and time.

"Again, it is often necessary to inform farmers tactfully that orders hastily scrawled on a postcard to 'send me a good man' are not enough to get any man at all, without further correspondence and delay. Farmers must also be kept posted regarding going wages for farm help and informed that these must be met if he expects competent workers. And he must understand that the examiner's selection of the applicant is not a hit-or-miss affair."

Among other findings in the Russell Sage Foundation's report of special interest to the farmer are the following:

"In the central wheat belt, where the deamand for farm labor is highly seasonal, there is an unparalleled opportunity for organized effort in recruiting and distributing workers, for here we find assembled each summer the largest army of transient laborers to be found anywhere in America.

"It must be admitted that not even with the extensive placement machinery of the Federal war-time service was more than a measure of success attained. Many workers still rely on their own efforts to obtain employment, through direct correspondence with farmers; and word of mouth information passed on from one person to another, nicknamed 'The Hobo Gazette,' still remains a favored method.'

It is estimated that there are approximately 3,000,000 transient farm laborers in the United States, who are subject to seasonal fluctuations in the demand for labor and the necessity of moving from one place to another.

An example of the waste resulting from the lack of any central agency for disseminating accurate information concerning the supply and demand of farm labor is seen in the report that "ten out of twelve non-farm bureau counties . . . have indicated a loss of 90,697 acres of wheat in one year because of lack of narvest labor," while at the same time men were seeking farm work in other places and were unable to find it.

With the drift of population away from rural communities the recruiting of seasonal farm labor in urban districts must be undertaken in an increasing degree.

DIVORCES FIVE, SEEKS ANOTHER

Woman in Reno Says She'll Be More Careful Next Time

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RENO, Nov. 30.—Married and divorced five times, although only 27 years of age, Mrs. Mabel Jane Welsh of Reno holds a unique record in local divorce court annals. A few days ago she divorced Frank Lavin, traveling salesman, on grounds of nonsupport after withdrawing charges of cruelty.

Mrs. Lavin has a 3-year-old child and was permitted by District Judge Moran to resume her first name of Welsh. She says her matrimonial failures have not discouraged her, but that she will exercise greater care in her next selection of a mate.

WOMAN, 75, IS LEARNING TYPEWRITER

Has so Many Relatives She Would Increase Her Correspondence Speed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 30.—Sixty-three years ago a girl 12 years of age, set type in a Maynard county, Illinois, country newspaper office. Now, at 75, this same girl," as Mrs. Lydia Lawson, is learning typewriting in an Oklahoma City business college.

While Mrs. Lawson is enjoying what she terms her "second youth," the true reason for learning the mechanical method of writing, she says, is to make it easier for her to keep up correspondence with her six children, sixteen grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Lawson recalls that she left school at 11 to work in the printing office of her father, Cyrian Clay, at Petersburg, Ill., where she set type until she was married at 19. At one time during the Civil War the girl and her elder sister edited the "Menard County Axis" for a period of several weeks.

The girl married John Lawson, an ex-soldier in 1868, and went to the farm with him. Ten years later the Lawsons and their seven small children settled on a farm near Wichita, Kan., later homesteading a quarter section of Harper county, whence they would drive sixty-five miles to buy their food and clothing. When the southwestern part of Oklahoma was opened to homesteaders, Mrs. Lawson, then a widow, picked a farm there and with her two eldest sons lived on it the required five years. Mrs. Lawson's great-grandfather, John Bruce Clay, was a brother of Henry Clay.

TWAIN'S OLD CABIN TAKEN FROM TOWN

Old-Timers Recall How He Lost Fortune by Failure to Work Amora Claim

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TONOPAH (Nev.) Nov. 30.—With the removal of Mark Twain's old cabin from Aurora to Reno pioneers of the famous old camp are recalling forgotten history. Many old-timers state the cornerstone of the old brick Courthouse is a fragment of the original Plymouth Rock of the Pilgrims, contributed by some forgotten son of the Old Bay State. Aurora at the time was county seat of Esmeraldo county, including what is now Lone county, California.

The pioneers also tell of how Twain lost a fortune at Aurora through his love of literary work and his hatred of manual labor. With a partner Twain located a claim, but forgot to do the location work while his partner was absent on a trip to Carson City. Outsiders "jumped" the claim, struck rich ore and sold the ground for a fortune. Disgusted with his mining experience Mark Twain accepted a position on the staff of the Virginia City Enterprise and walked from Aurora to Virginia City, a distance of over 300 miles.

The first patent issued for mineral ground by the Federal government covered a claim at Aurora and was signed by President Grant. The town for many years was one of the wildest in the West, but with the collapse of the silver boom it gradually declined until today it stands among the numerous "ghost cities" of the mining West.

ODD "RESTITUTION"

There is on record one Edward Hunt, who played a rather dirty trick on his only son. It seems that the old gentleman had one time wronged another man—had beaten him out of a large sum of money and otherwise worsted him. The fellow had died, but Hunt's conscience still troubled him. When it came to dying he decided he would make some kind of restitution, so he ordained that his 21-year-old son, in order to fall heir to his fortune, must hunt out and marry the daughter of the other man—that is, if the daughter existed, and if not a daughter, then a niece.

The young man did as he was bidden in his father's will and found the daughter, but she was 55 years of age. He was a good sport, however, and, with the woman willing, carried out his father's wishes.

Poor Fido!

"Madam," said the dignified gentleman, "your dog bit me on the ankle."

"He did?" cried the woman. "Oh, I must sent for a doctor!"

"Oh, I assure you it isn't as bad as—"

"You're the third person he's bitten today," broke in the woman. "I just know he isn't feeling well."—[Exchange.

DIRTY MONEY IS TREASURY WOE

Officials Would Devise Plan for Cleaner Currency

Automobile Adds Its Share to Mussing Up Cash

People Urged to Use More Care in Handling

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The old phrase, "filthy lucre," always has carried as its principal implication that the source of the wealth in question is tainted. The phrase has come to take on a literal meaning in recent years and the soiled condition of the paper currency in circulation has come to be no less of a problem to the Treasury of the United States than an annoyance to the public and, in the opinion of some, a menace to health.

The use of paper currency increases constantly. Coin has lost the popularity it used to have. The lightness and convenience of paper currency recommends it universally. But by its very nature and by reason of the fact that it circulates so widely, paper money inevitably becomes soiled and perhaps germ-laden.

PEOPLE ARE OFFENDERS

It is easy thoughtlessly to blame an impersonal government far away at Washington for dirty money but studies which the Treasury has made show that a large part of the blame for soiled currency rests upon the people themselves.

Some one has said that an unmixed blessing is a rare thing. Experience bears out the aphorism. The automobile indubitably is a blessing, but any owner and any pedestrian can think of many drawbacks. Few, perhaps, have thought of one which bears directly on this question of soiled currency.

Who has ever seen a garage man or a gasoline and oil-filling station attendant garbed in a full dress suit and wearing immaculate white gloves? No one! At least not while the man was on duty. Who has even seen such a man with clean overalls and clean hands? Again, no one, unless he turned up very early Monday morning—the first customer. The second customer witnessed the beginning of the soiling process which requires only about an hour to make fairly complete.

Oil, gasoline, grease, tires—everything about an automobile is dirty. The greasy substances, inseparable from mechanical operation, furnish a welcome to dust. Oil dries very slowly. It collects dirt and dust of all sorts. Hands, clothes, face, cuffs, all oily apparel, accumulate dirt as a piece of flypaper accumulates flies. Nearly every time the greasy filling station man fills a tank, he handles money—usually paper money. It scarcely can be wondered at that money which passes through his hands becomes soiled. There are somewhere near 15,000,000 automobiles in the country. Expert mathematicians can figure out how many dirty hands result from their operation.

This is but one example. It shows, however, how fresh, crisp money, just out of the Treasury, can become soiled quickly. The soda fountain is another place where money is speedily soiled. On the busy counter are usually pools of spilled drinks. Syrup is their principal ingredients and syrup is one of the stickiest of substances. It is another agent in the attraction and collection of dust and dirt, for the dollar bill laid on the counter is almost sure to have a few spots on it by the time it reaches the till.

MAKING IS COSTLY

Paper money is so much a thing of daily life that it seems natural to think of it as an almost natural phenomenon, like the leaves of the trees. But paper currency is not produced by the waving of a wand. One of the biggest manufacturing plants in the world produces it by hard labor and the use of intricate machinery.

The dollar bill, for instance, costs 1.7 cents to make. This seems a small figure taken by itself but when it is considered that 48,000,000 of these bills must be put into circulation each month, it will be seen the cost mounts up. Those who complain of dirty money and governmental carelessness are probably unaware that a $1 bill remains in circulation only from six to eight months. With each one costing 1.7 cents to make it will be seen that the actual cost of putting dollar bills in the hands of the people is about 3 per cent a year—a figure equal to savings bank interest.

If the life of the $1 bill could be prolonged only two months, the government would save $1,666,000 annually.

The Treasury does not exactly ask the garage man to wash his hands in lye soap every time he makes change but it would like to have people be a little more careful with money. Find a dry place on the soda fountain to throw down the $1 bill.

Another factor in rapid depreciation of paper money is the method of carrying it. It is a common practice for people to shove paper money into their pockets. Women, especially, will take a handful of paper bills, crumple them up and shove them into a hand bag. This means that the next handling is almost certain to result in the accumulation of dirt. Each time a bill is crumpled, little creases are made in it, forming lodging-places for dirt and dust. The relatively hard surface of the paper is broken and deterioration becomes rapid from that time on.

Officials of the Treasury such as Secretary Mellon and Assistant Secretary Dewey, as well as bank officials—men who know what money costs—do not carry their money in such fashion. They fold it carefully, perhaps once, perhaps twice across, in neat creases. Mr. Dewey folds each bill reparately. This practice does away with spectacular peeling of the roll as each bill is withdrawn from pocket or wallet separately as it is needed, but it does conserve the currency. If the recipient of a bill nearly folded would, upon pocketing it, fold it in the same creases, the life of the bill would perhaps be doubled.

SANITATION PROBLEM

The cost side of the problem is not the only one. The sanitary aspect is of the utmost importance. That many people are aware of this is amusingly evidenced by the following letter which was received at the Treasury toward the end of the World War:

"Will you kindly redeem the inclosed $30 of pestilence—spreading junk with new $1 bills? And may the good God protect the lady that has the handling of it. I am from California where your money rings when you handle it and shines in the sunlight. But this bacilli-infested junk does not look good to me. Scatter it back of the Huns' line in France and it can be depended on to do its deadly work. The least of which would be hookworm. Hoping that you may see your way clear to act upon this patriotic suggestion, thereby bringing the war to a speedy end, I remain, etc."

REVERSE CASH-AND-CARRY

The W-Fone-U Stores have recently made their appearance in the South, the first being established at Tampa, Fla. They represent a chain of meat and grocery stores which have approached the problem of reducing overhead costs from an entirely different angle than the cash-and-carry stores. Instead of reducing the service to the customers, they have effected economies in the operation of their establishment, but without the elimination of sales and delivery service.

As store location is not so important to telephone shoppers, so long as the orders are filled on schedule time and satisfactorily, these stores, instead of being in the high rent district, may be located on a side street at a nominal rent.—[Telephone Press.

Expert Taxidermer

A woman entered the shop of a taxidermist. In her hands was a a stuffed parrot.

"Do you remember," she asked, "the bird you stuffed for me last autumn? Well, the work was done so badly that the feathers are simply falling out."

"That, madam," replied the expert, "is a triumph of art. We stuff our birds so well that they molt at the right season."—[Exchange.

MELVILLE GOBS WIN GRID GAME

U.S.S. Procyon Football Team Beaten by Score of 59 to 0 at San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 30.—The U.S.S. Melville eleven, champions of the local service football league, romped all over the U.S.S. Procyon team of Los Angeles Harbor here today, winning as they pleased, 59 to 0.

From start to finish the Melville team galloped up and down the field with scarcely any opposition. The local backs, Barrett, Carter, Ring and Armstrong, gained on practically every play in which they figured. The Procyon line was unable to hold against the plunging Melville backfield and the locals pulled pass after pass for long gains.

The visitors registered only one first down. This was in the first quarter.

Barrett and Carter scored nine touchdowns between them. The first half ended, 33 to 0. Twenty-six points were added in the last half.

Because of the overwhelming victory achieved by the Melville, and the team's consistently excellent playing all season the local naval establishment is prepared to back the champions to the limit in the game for the fleet championship. Line-ups and summary:

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 30.—Close to 300 thoroughbreds, more than two-thirds of which are coming 2-year-olds, are in comfortable winter quarters at Churchill Downs and Douglas Park. This number will be increased in the near future when several more stables with winter reservations here, that are racing at Bowie, troop in and there are also a few yet to come from Lexington. Despite the fact that four tracks will be conducting meetings during the cold season there are more horses resting at the local ovals than ever before.

MEDALIST DEFEATED IN FINAL

Match Ends on Seventeenth Green After Sensational Battle, 2 and 1

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 30.—The old adage to the effect that a medalist is hoodooed in match play was born out here today when W. W. Campbell of the Los Angeles Country Club, who won the qualifying round of the San Diego Country Club's invitation tournament with a 73, lost in the final round of play to R. B. Bagnall, a member of the entertaining club, 2 and 1. Campbell went out in 37 and was 1-up at the turn, but his adversary shot par golf on the way in, while the Los Angeles man slipped on the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth, and lost the match.

In the semifinals, which were played this morning, Bagnall eliminated A. P. Gibbs 4 and 3, while Campbell disposed of T. V. Morgan, 3 and 2.

The tournament was a decided success, the Chula Vista club entertaining a large number of golfers with characteristic hospitality.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Johnny Wilson, former world's middleweight champion, will meet Tigar Flowers, Atlanta negro, and Luis Vicentini, hard-hitting Chilean lightweight, will oppose Tommy O'Brien of Milwaukee, in two ten-round bouts preliminary to the light heavyweight battle between Tommy Gibbons and Kid Norfolk at the Christmas fund benefit show in Madison Square Garden, December 9.

Gibbons starts his final training grind this week in preparation for the fifteen-round match with his negro rival. The St. Paul boxer today tipped the scales at 180 and has five pounds to take off to make the weight stipulated for the contest.

WELTER SEEKS LOST LAURELS

Jack Doyle Named as Possible Promoter of Bout

Former Champ in Good Shape for Ring Work

Walker Agrees to Tackle His Old Rival Again

The latest fistic rumor pervading the local boxing world is to the effect that Jack Britton, who ruled the welterweight division with a pair of iron dukes for several years, is to be given a return bout with Mickey Walker, the present champ, in a Southern California ring within the next six months.

The source of this interesting statement is none other than Teddy Hayes, Britton's present manager, Dempsey's trainer, hotel manager, etc. Hayes, who is scurrying aorund getting everything shined up for the arrival of Dempsey Wednesday, found the time to announce that a bout between the welterweight king and the man from whom he plucked the title is not far distant.

Britton has kept in good shape since dropping the championship, having won thirteen bouts out of fourteen, his only defeat having been administered recently in Oakland by Jimmy Duffy. Unfamiliarity with the four-round game may be blamed for this loss. Hayes has several matches planned for the next few months for Britton, which were arranged with an eye to grooming him for another crack at Walker.

Walker has expressed his willingness to meet his rival again, and the only thing lacking is a capable promoter. Hayes believes that with the reopening of professional boxing in California that this lack will be filled, and favors Jack Doyle to handle the bout. Britton is the logical opponent for Walker in a championship battle, the present champ having won the title by a decision and not a knockout, and it looks as though the two would get together again soon.

SUNNYLAND COPS FEATURE

Winner of Tia Juana Inaugural Handicap Event Noses Out Postillion in Stake Race at Border

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 30.—Sunnyland, winner of the Inaugural Handicap on the opening day Thursday, came right back today to take the feature event on the Sabbath racing card at Tia Juana.

Oddly enough, Postillion, the horse which gave Sunnyland the stiffest competition Thursday, was the only one which Sunnyland had to beat today. Postillion, because of his excellent showing on opening day, was made an odds on favorite and was only beaten in the final jumps. Sunnyland was outrun to the first turn and, permitting Postillion to set the pace, trailed until an eighth out, when Jockey Griffin gave his mount free rein and got under the wire by a nose. For a time it looked as if Sunnyland would not be able to make the grade, as Postillion, once in the lead, ran like the wind. Eminent raced third, with Tangerine fourth. Cherry Tree, making his first appearance of the year, was close up most of the way but showed he needed racing. Summaries:

First race, five furlongs: Bill McCoy (Whitingham,) won; Carvel Exeter (Cowan,) second; Yuban (McIver,) third. Time 1:01 1-5.

Second race, one and one-sixteenth miles: Poor Fun (Gonzalez,) won; Piedra (Rowan,) second; Bastful (Ellis,) third. Time 1:49.

Third race, six furlongs: Grayson (Ellis,) won; Honor Dear (McIver,) second; Golden Rod (Bellew,) third. Time 1:13 4-5.

Fourth race, five furlongs: Poppins (Hoagland,) won; Sweet Gem (Thomas,) second; Bolivar Road (Fierstein,) third. Time 1:01.

Fifth race, mile and seventy yards: The World (Baker,) won; Little Clair (Thompson,) second; Tia Beth (Fisher,) third. Time 1:44 1-5.

Sixth race, one and one-sixteenth miles: Sunnyland (Griffin,) won; Postillion (Lee,) second; Eminent (Hoagland,) third. Time 1:43 3-5.

Seventh race, five and one-half furlongs: Run Star (Gormley,) won; Peach Blow (Griffin,) second; Enlightened (Ellis,) third. Time 1:08 3-5.

OBSERVATIONS

BILL HENRY

The Coast is now clear for the two big intercollegiate battles of the year as far as Southern California is concerned—U.S.C. vs. Syracuse at the L. A. Coliseum this coming Saturday and Notre Dame vs. Stanford at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, on New Year's Day. This is the biggest December in local gridiron history and brings together four really topnotch football teams. The game scheduled for next Saturday is every bit as classy as the average New Year's Day struggle, while the Stanford-Notre Dame affair is nothing more nor less than a real struggle for the national championship.

It is a most remarkable fact that we will have in California on New Year's Day four undefeated football elevens playing two California elevens which tied in the battle for Coast supremacy playing against the two outstanding undefeated teams of the East and Middle West. From these two games should emerge a genuine claimant to the title of intercollegiate champion of the United States.

Incidentally, there are no flies whatsoever on the Syracuse scrambie with our climbing Trojans. U.S.C., while its record as a whole is nothing to write home about, is potentially as powerful a football team as there is in the country. It has shown flashes of positive brilliance and, if it lives up to tradition, will be a far better football team next Saturday than it was when it lost to California by the margin of a single touchdown.

Syracuse has been somewhat lost to view in the natural color that attaches to many Eastern teams, but with the exception of Yale and the Pennsylvania outfit, Syracuse needs to take its hat of to nobody. The only loss chalked up against the Orange team was a lucky victory by West Virginia Wesleyan scored through a fumble when Syracuse was about to score. An Orange back fumble on the Virginia 10-yard line and an alert southern gentleman Picked up the pill and galloped the length of the field for the touchdown that won the game.

Syracuse plays tough, hard-boiled football. You won't see Syracuse going to pieces. Neither are you very likely to see Syracuse roll up much of a score. But the Orange has a heavy, hard-charging line and a set of powerful and shifty backs. Their line plays are strong and well executed and they

MERCURY ELEVEN BEATEN

Hollywood A. C. Soccerites Romp Over L. A. A. C. Team and Take Lead in League

Jack Lakey's wonderful goal, which was scored from a corner kick, won the soccer game for the Hollywood A.C. yesterday afternoon at Loyola Field against the L.A.A.C. and incidentally established the movemen in first place. The goal was unique in that it was the first one of its kind to be scored this season. It bulged the net without another player touching the ball after it had left the toe of Lakey. Until this year such a goal would not have counted, but under a new ruling it is now possible to score from the corner flag direct.

Discounting the element of luck which may have entered into the goal, Hollywood was nevertheless worthy of a win. Throughout the entire game they predominated by a slight edge. They had better cohesion and their passing was accurate and well timed. The Mercurians at times lacked co-ordination, and many likely looking openings went for naught through faulty passing.

Lyons and Tunicliffe put up a dour defense and but for their efforts Hollywood would have scored on several occasions. Lyons, in particular, made some miraculous saves, robbing Parkinson and Mitchell of sure goals. But if the club was strong in this department, Hollywood was slightly better. Collie and Brown played a wonderful game. They never allowed the opposing forwards to get set, and forced them to shoot for goal from impossible angles. Herein lies the secret of good de-

SIKI AND BURKE TANGLE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—One of the most interesting bouts of the week is that scheduled by Rink arena, in Brooklyn, between Battling Siki, the singular Senegalese, and Jack Burke, of Pittsburg. Siki surprised fandom a few weeks ago by putting up a great scrap against Young Marullo in the Garden. The battler's manager, Bob Levy, declares that the Senegalese has turned over a new leaf and has given up his riotous ways. He no longer feels the lure of the white lights, according to Bob. If this be true it would not be at all surprising to see Siki making a lot of trouble in the light heavyweight division. The Siki-Burke thing is scheduled for twelve rounds.

TRIP WEST IS NOT NEW TO MEEHAN

Syracuse Coach Came to Los Angeles as Player Back in 1915

Having had previous football experience in Los Angeles, Johnny "Chick" Meehan, famous coach of Syracuse University, will not be caught off his guard when the big Orange machine arrives here Thursday afternoon for its intersectional battle with the University of Southern California in the Los Angeles Coliseum next Saturday.

As a hard-hitting and fleet-footed Syracuse halfback, Meehan left the bleak East with his teammates in 1915 on one of the most successful football tours in gridiron history. Snow fell from the time the New Yorkers left their campus until they hit Portland, where Dr. E. J. Stewart's Oregon Aggies were soundly walloped.

The hit Portland after being held to a tie by the University of Montana outfit on a snow-covered Missoula field. From Portland they traveled to this city, where Occidental College fell by a convincing score.

In this game Meehan tackled Sam McClung, then a famous halfback for Joe Pipal's Tigers, so hard that McClung, later named on Walter Camp's second All-America team, suffered a broken leg. McClung

Miss Josephine Koch and Willie Hunter Win Hollywood Mixed Foursomes

LEAD FIELD BY SEVEN STROKES

Card of 77, Alternate Drive, Wins Tournament

Joe Martin and A. C. Thompson Flintridge Victors

Favorites Advance With Ease in Oakmont Event

BY CHARLES WEST

Leading their closest competitors for golfing glory by the tremendous margin of seven strokes, Miss Josephine Koch and Willie Irvine Hunter coasted in easy victors in the invitation mixed foursome tournament held yesterday on the links of the Hollywood Country Club. Miss Koch and Hunter scored a gross 77 with alternate drives, and had low net score as well with the aid of a 5 handicap.

After going out in 41, the talented pair settled down to business and came back in 36, which is only one over men's par. Miss Koch played the type of golf which stamps her as a player to be feared in the coming winter tournament season for women, while Hunter performed in his usual faultless manner.

Miss Ann Webster and Jack Tarrant had the second best gross score with a card of 84, while Mrs. Ike Wentworth and Harold Thompson were third with 86. After tieing with Mrs. D. C. Riddle and R. J. Breed, Mrs. Wentworth and Thompson, and Miss Jane Lawson and Stanley Hughes for net honors at 79, Mrs. H. S. Carroll and Frank Delcot won in the play-off.

The tournament was a huge success, attracting the golfers by swarms and herds. Leading scores follow:

Miss J. Koch and W. Hunter	77-5—72
Miss A. Webster and J. Tarrant	84-5—82
Mrs. I. Wentworth and H. Thompson	86-7—79
Mrs. A. Trabue and A. Alward	91-11—80
Mr. and Mrs. L. Ferguson	92-12—80
Mrs. A. Lillie and W. Lomas	93-11—82
Mr. and Mrs. C. Marshall	93-11—82
Mrs. W. Lobman and E. Nuttall	93-8—85
Mrs. R. Collins and C. Salsedi	94-12—82
Mrs. D. Riddle and R. Breed	94-15—79
Mrs. W. Anser and L. C. Conrad	94-15—81

FLINTRIDGE

Genial Joe Martin, Virginia Country Club's pro, was the big hero at the amateur-pro sweepstakes held yesterday on the Flintridge links. Martin not only had the lowest score of the day with a card of 71, but he and his partner, A. C. Thompson, had a best ball of 68, which gave them the glory in the sweepstakes. A. K. Condy and Charlie Guest of Bellvue tied with Jack Malley of Annandale and Joe Hegaman for second place, each combination scoring 69 with their best ball. Harry Pressler of Hacienda had the second best individual score with a round of 74. Thirty teams entered the event.

SAN GABRIEL

Arnold Statz eased around the San Gabriel Country Club course in 74 yesterday, his card being the lowest registered. Andrew Getty had a good round in 79, which indicates that he is to be figured on in the approaching tournament season. Grant Halstead, San Gabriel pro, held a tournament Saturday which was won by M. W. Lillard in Class B. Mr. Lillard finishing five up in match play against par to win an excellent golf cup. E. G. Richardson and L. D. Larkin tied in Class A at two up each.

Rollo Wescott and Dr. W. Waterman birdied Dr. R. G. Cleland and Y. M. Edwards to death in a recent foursome, winning, 2 and 1. They scored 8 birdies, while Cleland and Edwards chalked up 7 themselves. The best ball of the four was in the low sixties.

Caddymaster Tommy Langdon is rejoicing over the fact that his proteges won the interclub caddy competition in the series of matches recently completed.

LOS ANGELES

Final matches were played yesterday in the annual fall handicap at the Los Angeles Country Club. D. A. Howard, Jr., was the resulting victor, defeating E. K. Brown in the deciding match, 1 up. The consolation flight was won by H. L. Derdorff, who downed H. W. Armstrong, 2 up.

OAKMONT

Oakmont members completed the first round matches in the club championship tournament yesterday, with the favorites marching forward without an upset. Harold Thompson defeated C. Hata, 7 and 6. R. Eckles defeated S. Coulter 4 and 3. J. S. Robertson defeated J. S. Hayward, 4 and 3. R. Thompson defeated H. S. Hedge, 4 and 3; Dan Green defeated J. S. Thompson, 3 and 2. E. P. Davis defeated Max Green, 2 and 1, and T. D. Meddick defeated D. W. Hepburn, 2 and 1, in the championship flight.

BRENTWOOD

Harlow Hurley's round in 77 yesterday set the low mark in the qualifying round of the President's cup tournament at the Brentwood Country Club. Medal play will continue until next Sunday, after which match play will follow at a round a week.

Women members at Brentwood will compete in a blind bogey sweepstakes on Thursday.

Bowl Seating 110,000 Spectators May be Erected on Long Island Soon; Dempsey May Open It

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Charley Henderson, owner of Henderson's Bowl, Brooklyn, plans a new stadium on Long Island, capable of seating 110,000. That, in Jack Kearns's opinion looks the best chance of all of Jack Dempsey going to work next year. That's the situation right now, but it may change at any time and Kearns was reluctant to discuss further, simply because it was so vague.

Jack revealed Henderson's plans while he and Dempsey were laying over here between trains.

"Dempsey and I both conferred with Charley Henderson while in New York. His plan is all right, but he's got to go through with it. He wants a Harry Wills match and we told him he could have it if his stadium materialised. The whole thing is extremely vague, but it looks like the best proposition right now.

"Henderson, so I'm told, is going ahead with his idea. Of course, closing the match is a big matter. Just say it may come about."

Kearns also added that Henderson had discussed a match between Mickey Walker and Benny Leonard with the two champion managers. They also agreed, so everything now rests with Henderson.

For the time being, or rather until the holidays are over, neither of the Jacks cares to think of boxing. They're going to the Coast to rest after their vaudeville tour, and they intend to do nothing else but that until after New Year's. Then they'll be ready to listen to to all the Hendersons who care to promote.

Speaking of Mickey Walker as Kearns was, it would be necessary for the welter champion to iron out the wrinkles in his trouble with the New York commission before he could talk a Leonard match.

Kearns declared that he understood Mickey had already opened negotiations for a Dave Shade match. If he agrees to box Shade he will be automatically restored to good standing.

Byrnes to Take on Bartledge at Wilmington

Sailor Jimmy Byrnes of the U.S.S. California and Leo Bartledge of Long Beach, a pair of real heavyweights, will appear in the star attraction at the Wilmington Athletic Club show next Wednesday night.

Byrnes comes from a mighty fighting battleship and he has evidently imbibed so much of the iron, steel, even T.N.T., from his "floating home" that numbers of the fans have it all doped out in advance that it is going to be Byrnes all the way through. However, Bartledge has the many fans who have seen his workouts all on edge and they are with him to a man. Byrnes is the greatest heavyweight the Navy has produced since the days of Tom Sharkey, K. O. Sunny Jim, Fred Cullen, Sam Eiseman, defeated French Coleman, Vic Alexander twice, Kid Williams twice, Sailor Carroll, Battling Savage and others. Has never lost a fight and tears right in and fights all the time.

Sailor Brett of the U.S.S. Oklahoma and Marty Kane of Huntington Beach, 133 pounds, meet in the semi-wind-up, while Sailor Spence of the U.S.S. Maryland and Eddie Brown, who knocks 'em cold, pride of Long Beach, 150 pounds, perform in the special event.

Other bouts:

Sailor Shifty May of the U.S.S. Arizona and Jackie Sherman of Los Angeles, at 126 pounds.

Sailor Buddy Seigel of the U.S.S. New Mexico and Earl Grigsby of Huntington Beach, at 126 pounds. A return match demanded by the fans.

Sailor Roy Baillis, U.S.S. New Mexico, and Jimmy Adaire, Long Beach, 130 pounds.

Sailor Mills, U.S.S. Medusa, and Battling Dugan, Los Angeles, 130 pounds.

HUNTINGTON BEACH DEFEATS WILMINGTON

Huntington Beach scored three runs in the eighth inning yesterday and beat Wilmington, 6 to 4, at Huntington Beach. Wilmington had held a one-run lead for several innings but couldn't hold the hard-hitting beachmen in once they got going. Billman on the mound for the victors, was largely responsible for the win. Billman settled down and pitched air-tight ball in the pinches, fanning three batters with two on in the eighth inning. Rudy, Beach outfielder, starred at bat with four hits in five trips to the plate. The score:

BARRY HATTERS WIN OVER ZELZAH SQUAD

Despite a great rally in the seventh inning, the Barry Hats baseball team defeated Zelzah by an 8-to-7 score at Zelzah yesterday. Zelzah is leading the San Fernando League. The Hatters had piled up their eight runs and were taking it easy when Zelzah broke loose with six runs in the seventh frame and almost tied the score. Montebello's great finish gave it a 6-to-5 victory over the Sperry Four baseballers at Montebello yesterday. The victors scored four runs in the last two innings and came from a hopeless beating to a close win. The Sperry nine did a little rallying on its own account, with two runs in its half of the ninth. WHITE KINGS ANNEX A PAIR FROM TIGERS

The White Kings took both ends of a double-header from the Tigers yesterday at Washington Park, winning the first, 3 to 1, and nabbing the second, 9 to 4. The opener was a pitcher's battle between George Payne and Elmer Reiger, with the former having the best of it. Reiger weakened in the eighth when the White Kings bunched four hits for two runs to break the tie. Doc Crandall had an easy time baffling the Tigers in the second struggle, the Soapsters clinching the struggle with a five-run rally in the opening inning. Golvin's fielding featured. Scores:

GREAT MOUND DUEL FINISHES IN TIE

One of the most terrific pitchers' battles ever seen in local semipro baseball ranks was staged at Azusa yesterday when Azusa and Glendora played over eleven innings to a scoreless tie. Dick Bonnely and Awerkamp were the rival pitchers. Bonnely, pitching for Glendora, allowed but one hit. Awerkamp allowed four hits and fanned fourteen, besides a clear record as to passes. Both teams were fielding far better than usual and that had a lot to do with the final count. None of the hits was longer than a single. The score:

BASEBALL SCRIBES MEET NEXT WEEK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30. — The annual meeting of the Baseball Writers' Association of America will be held at 2 p.m., December 11, the same hour as the joint session of the American and National leagues, Secretary Henry P. Edwards announced tonight.

The association's headquarters during the winter meetings of the major leagues December 9 to 11 in New York will be at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

PALMS NINE WINS

The Palms baseball team defeated the Spartan All-Star nine by a 11-to-1 score at Palms yesterday. The victors were never in danger and piled up a big lead early in the game. The Spartans made five costly errors.

JACK WHITE FATHERS A "HOPE"

Here's Jack Mason, middleweight, whom Jack White, former contender for the lightweight crown, has brought to the Coast for a series of bouts. White is the fatherly looking person with his hand around Mason's shoulders.

JACK WHITE IN NEW ROLE

One-Time Leading Contender for Lightweight Crown Here With Middleweight in Tow

BY PAUL LOWRY

Fight fans who remember Jack White when he was a leading contender for the lightweight crown will soon have an opportunity of gauging the Chicagoan's ability as a manager. With over 200 ring battles and sixteen years of fighting to his credit, Jack has put the padded gloves away in moth balls and taken to the gentler pursuit of managing ambitious pugilists.

As an opener, the Chicago Hebrew who gained a reputation for always being in perfect condition in his battles here, has brought to the Coast one Jack Mason, a middleweight, whom he hopes to boost into the seats of the mighty. Mason, who isn't half as ferocious in his street clothes as Jack White claims he is in his ring togs, is 26 years of age, and has been fighting five years.

MANY KNOCK-OUTS

With a string of thirty knockouts to his record and no K.O.'s against him, Mason has given some indication of being a tough customer for all rivals.

One of the first gentlemen Mason has in mind here as an antagonist is Bert Colima, the pride of Whittier. He battled the Mexican to a ten-round draw in the East a couple of years ago, and now he craves a fling over the four-round distance with the southern pride.

Manager White expects to satisfy his hope's ambition by carding a set-to with Colima at Vernon a week from Tuesday, and unless all signs fail the bout ought to be worth going a long ways to see.

FIGHT RESUME

Here is a resume of Mason's fights: Ten-round draw with Jack Delaney; newspaper decision over Dave Rosenberg in a fifteen-round fight; ten-round decision over Italian Joe Gans; ten-round decision over Billy Briton; fifteen-round draw with Happy Littleton; lost to Paul Berlenbach in twelve rounds.

STAGE ALL-STAR BOXFEST

Joe Benjamin and Spud Myers Will Battle in Wind-up at Hollywood Arena Friday Night

Hollywood Post 43 of the American Legion presents its first all-star boxing card Friday night. It is the best boxing bill that the Movie City club has presented to the boxing public all year. Joe Benjamin meets Spud Myers in the main event. This bout alone as the top spot will fill the big arena and a sell-out is a sure thing.

The Hollywood shows have been getting better all the time and the last month they have been the talk of boxing circles. Joe Benjamin is working his way to a shot with Benny Leonard just as soon as the new boxing law goes into effect. Before Benjamin can get Leonard he has to beat the best boys on this coast, as Tommy Carey is the recognized lightweight champion and before many weeks have passed it will be Benjamin and Carter for the Coast title with Benjamin the contender.

MAKES HIT

Spud Myers has had two bouts at the Hollywood stadium and they were very pleasing. It didn't take the Pocatello lad long to make a hit with Hollywood people. He was glad to get the chance at Benjamin while others have been ducking Jack Dempsey's little playmate.

Spud Myers has just arrived in this city from Seattle, where he engaged Dode Bercot in combat. Press reports from the north state that Myers whipped Bercot and that he had Dode on the floor for a long count.

What will make the bout interesting is the fact that Bercot beat Benjamin a few months ago and now Myers has conquered Bercot. This bout is a great shot and all Los Angeles boxing fans will be at the Legion stadium Friday night.

HART FACES GRANDETTA

Ray Neuman and Nick Newman, light-heavyweights, are in the semi-wind-up. These big gazebos were to have met two weeks ago, but through some misunderstanding the bout fell through.

Billy Hart and Frankie Grandetta box in the special spot. This is a bout that compares favorably with the main event. Billy Hart won a great bout from Joe Oaks last Friday. It was the best preliminary on the card.

Other bouts:

Johnny Grella vs. Sailor Ackerman, welterweights.

Paul Duarte vs. Roy Edwards, welterweights.

Joe Dunn vs. Bobby Bridges, lightweights.

Joe Levinthal vs. Ewell Paul, lightweights.

Tierney Faces Freddie Hill at Pasadena

Frankie Tierney, who mingles with the lightweight aristocracy of Southern California, has a tough man on his hands for next Thursday night, Matchmaker Pop Hanlon having billed him to meet Freddie Hill in the main event at the Pasadena Armory. Hill is an old timer, but still has a lot of pepper, which coupled with several years' experience will serve to give Tierney a busy time. Hill holds two decisions over the present Coast champion, Tommy Carter.

Phil Mata and Joe Burns will trade wallops in the semi-wind-up while Bud Sharp and Tod Stone of Glendale will mingle in the feature preliminary. Joe Herman and Sally Martinez, who fought to a torrid draw two weeks ago in the Armory ring, have been rematched.

Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, will referee one of the preliminaries.

JACKIE FIELDS TO TAKE ON JOE SALAS

In his final appearance as amateur featherweight champion of America, Joe Salas will meet Jackie Fields, Olympic victor, in the main event at the Los Angeles Athletic Club December 13, according to Charlie Keppen. Salas intends to follow Fidel La Barba's example and enter the four-round game the first of the year and is anxious to meet Fields, who has twice defeated him. An entire card of L.A.A.C. boxers has been arranged for December 13, according to Keppen.

Water Poloists at Venice High Start Practice

In anticipation of turning in their second consecutive Southern California championship water poloists of the Venice High School have started practice for the approaching season under the watchful eye of Coach C. S. Overin.

Daily practices are taking place in the Venice plunge. There are four lettermen returning to the Venetian seven, but only two of these played regularly as first-string material.

Capt. Norton Thornton, one of the best goaltenders in the circuit last season, is highly optimistic over the chances of his Gondolier crew to repeat its 1923 triumphs.

The first call for polo artists found a response from twenty splashers. The majority of these men are somewhat experienced. Lettermen returning for action aside from the captain, are George Wolf, Jerry Adams and Donald Rogan.

It is expected by coaches that the water-polo schedule will start considerably earlier this year than in 1923, in order to allow for a longer lapse of time between the polo and swim seasons.

BLUE DIAMOND NINE AND ARCADIA IN TIE

The Blue Diamond Company nine and the Arcadia club battled twelve innings to a 2-to-2 tie at Arcadia yesterday afternoon, the game being called on account of darkness. Johnson, on the mound for the visitors, allowed only five hits in the twelve innings, no two of them coming in the same canto. Arcadia went to bat in the last of the ninth with the score 2 to 1 against them, but tied it up without a hit, walks and an error turning the trick. Johnson fanned twenty-one, while Clink whiffed thirteen. Score:

TOO MUCH CLASS

The Purples put up a valiant fight but were confronted with too much class. Harry Hunt was all over the field, scoring three of his squad's points, while Hal Roach, with his powerful southpaw strokes, provided plenty of thrills. C. B. Wightsman ran wild in the last two chukkers, scoring three goals. The Purples handled the ball as often as their rivals but lacked the final polish to send it between the uprights when the opportunity afforded itself.

ALL-STARS WHIPPED BY ST. LOUIS STARS

Although both teams garnered thirteen hits, the wonderful fielding of the St. Louis Stars gave them an 11-to-5 win over Pulian's All Stars at Goodyear Park Saturday. The dark-skinned athletes from St. Louis were on their toes all the time, and made several double plays which gave them the game. Bell, who pitched for the winners, managed to keep the All Star hits more or less spread out, which helped his squad to come out on top.

The winning of this game marks eleven straight victories for the colored men, who are piling up quite a record for themselves.

ECHO INTERMEDIATES DEFEAT SALT LAKE

Behind the steady pitching of Max, the Echo Park Intermediate baseballers yesterday defeated Salt Lake by a 7-to-5 score at Salt Lake. The game was more or less of a slugging match, with each team garnering long and numerous hits. Only a three-run rally in the ninth inning saved the game for Echo since it was behind, 5 to 4, in the laft half of the ninth. Orloff, Thomason, Byron and Gus starred at bat. The score:

The game was one of the Southern California Y.M.C.A. league battles. Graham, Whittier forward, was a riot, scoring 16 of his team's total 24 points and making himself troublesome in general. DENY PRISONER TO SAIL LIPTON YACHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30. — John Westwood, secretary to Sir Thomas Lipton, today denied the report that the British sportsman had arranged with Amelius Jarvis, Sr., of Toronto, a prisoner at the jail farm there, to act as skipper of his next America's cup challenger. Mr. Westwood said he was "authorized to state that there is no foundation whatever for the report." He said that Sir Thomas had seen Jarvis but had made no arrangement with him.

MERCURYITES DROP CONTEST

fense and these two backs acquitted themselves brilliantly.

A fast pace was set with the opening whistle, and there was considerable end to end play, first one side forcing the issue, then the other. Both goalies were called upon to save their charge several times, and each rose to the occasion. After a time the players slowed up somewhat, but it was only a temporary lull and the same killing pace was again under way.

The only goal of the game came in the closing stages of the first half. With the change over the Club tried rally after rally, and while they succeeded by clever combination work in carrying the ball to the goal area they never seemed able to get into scoring position, so well covered were they by Brown and Collier. Toward the close of the game both sides showed the effects of the gruelling battle and the game slowed up. A last-inning rally by the L.A.A.C. almost placed them on even terms, but Collier forced Davidson to send by.

DIVIDE POINTS

Vikings and Sons divided the points with three goals apiece. This game was also hard fought and pressed the main event for honors. Vikings opened the scoring when Cleve bulged the net. Maynard came back a few minutes later and equalized. Cleve again put his team on the lead, and again Maynard repeated. The Vikings' third goal was scored by Doctor Brix with an excellent shot, and coming as it did toward the end of the game it looked for a time as if the Sons had shot their bolt. Whittingham, however, by a supreme effort, beat Wathne and the game ended even-Stephen.

Thistles surprised the Scots by holding them to the odd goal. As it was it is doubtful if the better team won. On the run of play Thistles were worthy of a win. For the greater part of the game they forced the issue, but weakness in the forward line held them scoreless. The Scots' lone tally was made by Holmes, who was easily the best man on the field in that game.

PASADENA MERCHANTS DOWN ST. LOUIS STARS

A six-run rally in the sixth inning gave the Pasadena Merchants a 9-to-7 victory over the St. Louis Stars yesterday afternoon in a wild and woolly game played at Goodyear Park. The Stars used two pitchers, Gurley replacing Ross, but the damage had been done, and in spite of a spurt in the eighth inning which netted three runs and three hits, the Stars were defeated. The game was a free-hitting affair, a total of twenty-six safeties being chalked up by the two teams, and the huge crowd of fans got a real kick out of the festivities.

McNab and Lindimore, infielders for the Pasadena team, each counted three hits out of five trips to the plate. Two home runs, three triples, and four two-baggers kept the fans in a continual uproar. Score:

coached at Washington University, St. Louis, and is now an Arizona rancher.

Bringing a team out of the chill and cold of the Atlantic seaboard and across a wind-swept continent to the balmy climate of Southern California has generally proved to be a severe task. Along this line Meehan's trip to the Coast in 1915 should prove of no little benefit to himself and the Syracuse team in their present invasion.

The Orange creation, which has dropped but one game this season, beat Columbia, 9 to 6, on a miserably cold Thanksgiving Day at the Polo Grounds, New York. They practiced on the frozen surface of Stagg Field, Chicago, Saturday and are scheduled to reach Albuquerque this afternoon.

After shivering all the way across the country members of Meehan's crew will appreciate Los Angeles' climate.

Echo Park Athletic Club's semi-pro nine humbled the Exposition Park team on the former's diamond yesterday by a score of 4 to 1. The Echo crew got revenge for a defeat suffered at the hands of the Expositions some six weeks ago. Britton's homer with one on and the twirling and hitting of Maple were the features of the game. DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in the proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clews to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly, it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions.

Mineral Exhibit at Phoenix Fair Being Filled Out

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov. 30.—The mineral exhibit at the State Fair, housed in its own building near the entrance gates, is becoming larger and more notable each year. It now embraces well-arranged and classified samples of about all the rock matter typical of Arizona, while the metals of Arizona have even better representation.

The copper ore display especially is relatively complete. This year, a new feature was a display of uranium, from Greenlee county, resembling crude sulphur.

The Phelps Dodge Corporation has added the model of a reverberatory furnace, while the New Cornelia Copper Company shows the workings of its electrolytic leaching process at Ajo. In pursuance of the policy adopted by the larger copper mines, a showing is made of utensils made of copper and of methods for the broader utilization of copper in the arts and manufactures.

October Report of Production in Valley Field

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—Six thousand nine hundred and ninety-three oil wells in the San Joaquin Valley produced a total of 6,288,742 barrels of oil during October, according to figures compiled by the American Petroleum Institute. This is an average of 202,863 barrels daily, divided by fields as follows:

Midway-Sunset: 3,398,181 barrels; Elk Hills, 1,213,630; Coalinga, 764,545; Kern River, 551,406; McKittrick, 178,240; Lost Hills-Belridge, 183,691; Wheeler Ridge, 31,449.

During October the Midway-Sunset fields completed thirteen new wells; Elk Hills completed six and Coalinga one. The initial daily production from these twenty wells was 3454 barrels. During the month thirty-one new rigs were erected and ninety-nine wells were under course of being drilled.

Old Oriflamme Mine May Again Mount to Fame

What is regarded as one of the most important ore discoveries made in Banner district, San Diego county, is reported in the old Oriflame mine, an ancient producer, but which has been closed down for a number of years.

The former owners of the property, working on the main vein, drove a thirty-four-foot cross-cut from one of the open cuts to within a few inches of what has proved to be a parallel vein.

Years of weathering has eroded the wall rock, exposing the ledge, the existence of which was accidentally discovered; the quartz assaying $100.50 to the ton in gold, it is asserted.

Subsequent prospecting on the surface gave returns of $22 to $94 at depths ranging from three to ten feet. The mine is owned by Spaulding & Ritter of San Diego.

Two New Wells Added to List at Huntington Field

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 30.—Two new producers were completed in this field last week. The Union Drilling Company finished Golden Dome-Ward No. 1, which was redrilled to 3280 feet. The Pan-American Petroleum Company completed Johnson No. 2-A at 2770 feet. The Golden Dome well is yielding 300 barrels daily, while the Johnson is putting out seventy-five barrels daily.

The Golden Dome well is one which developed so much gas pressure when it was drilled that it blew some of the casing out of the hole, according to reports from the field. Its mechanical problems were such that they required peculiar treatment, and its completion as a commercial producer is regarded by field men as a distinct drilling achievement.

According to field reports there are several deals on foot which are likely to result in the acquisition of many old wells by some of the bigger companies. It is asserted that the big operators plan to clean out all of the old deep holes and put them on the pump from a shallow sand.

SANTA FE ALSO USES LONGER ENGINE RUNS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WINSLOW (Ariz.) Nov. 30.—The Santa Fe is following the lead of the Southern Pacific in long-engine runs. The latter is running its locomotives from Los Angeles to El Paso, 815 miles. Passing up engine changes at Needles and Winslow, the new Santa Fe engines of the 3500 type are being rushed through from Los Angeles to Gallup, 731 miles. Coal-burning engines on the local division are being transferred eastward, as the run will be with oil burners exclusively, even though its eastern terminus is in the greatest coal-producing camp of the Southwest. Cab and train crews are changed as before. East of Gallup the through run has been extended through Albuquerque to La Junta.

HIT PRODUCING SAND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, Nov. 30.—The No. 1 well of the Frankel-Orloff Oil Company on Section 26, 11-24, in the old Sunset field is reported to have reached a depth of 703 feet and to be still drilling ahead in a fine productive oil sand which was struck at a depth of 643 feet. The well was spudded in in the Sunset district on September 27.

ROSECRANS FLOW DOUBLES

Completion of Four Wells Raises Daily Production to About 10,000 Barrels; Maxwell Yields 2200

Production in the Rosecrans field practically doubled last week, the completion of four wells, two of them for more than 2000 barrels per day, boosting the daily output of the field by 5000 barrels, and bringing the combined daily production of the field up to about 10,000 barrels.

The largest well of the week was the Superior Oil Company's Maxwell No. 3, which came in at the rate of 2200 barrels per day, and is reported to be holding up at about the same rate. The Associated Oil Company's Wanka well was the second largest, making 2050 barrels the first day.

ROSECRANS BACK

The most interesting completion of the week was the Union Oil Company's Rosecran's No. 1, the original well of the field which after a career checkered with trouble and disappointment finally went on production at the rate of 500 barrels per day. The Union also brought in its Howard Park No. 2, making 300 barrels per day.

Interest in the Rosecrans field is keener now than at any time since the Superior brought in its Maxwell No. 1, the second well in the field, and is reading to all corners of the Rosecrans and Athens district.

A drilling campaign similar to the one in the Maxwell area is under way in the Athens district as a consequence of E. J. Miley's success in his Athen's No. 1, and in the western part of the field all eyes are watching the Union Oil Company's Trust No. 1, which is conceded to have a gambling chance to set a world record by getting production at 5500 feet.

UPPER ZONE SAFE

In the southeastern area interest is centered not so much on the extension of the field as on the development of the already discovered sands. The success of the Maxwell No. 3 demonstrates that operators may safely tap the upper oil zone and materially increase their production, and this was the reason for the unusually prolific production of the Maxwell No. 3 and the Wanka No. 1.

Another interesting development in the southeastern area is the Superior's search for the Potter sand in its Van Nuys No. 1. This well is down about 4500 feet, and according to geologists will have to go at least 5100 feet before it is likely to find the sand from which the Union's Howard Park No. 1 got the first production in the field.

Developments in the Union's Gordon well, the deepest hole in the Rosecrans and Maxwell area, are said to indicate that this well is probably off the structure. This hole is down 5225 feet. In spite of poor showing the Union has set 8-inch casing at 5200 feet.

Oscar Howard and Associates in Oklahoma Corporation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Nov. 30.—Eight new corporations related to the oil and gas business, with capital stocks aggregating $1,267,000, were chartered by the Oklahoma Secretary of State during the first twenty days of November. During the same period like corporations reported capital investment increases of more than $4600,000 and two foreign oil concerns were admitted to the State with capital investments aggregating $60,000.

Oscar Howard, Los Angeles and Tulsa operator, was the leader in new corporate enterprises. He and his associates, including his brother, Congressman E. B. Howard, were organizers of the Howard Petroleum Corporation, capital $500,000, and the Duffield & Howard Oil Company, capital $500,000. The Ogletree Pump Company of Oklahoma City was chartered with a capital of $200,000.

Little Bear Company Quits Part of Kern County

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—The Little Bear Oil Company, owned by Southern California capitalists, has abandoned its prospecting efforts on Section 2, 32-22. The well was spudded in about three months ago and was drilled to a depth of 3000 feet, where it was cemented.

After drilling through the cement no oil sand was found. The company plans to continue its activities on other property on the West Side of Kern county, according to Supt. George W. Young.

Oil Signs in Rideout Test Well Meager

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIDEOUT HEIGHTS, Nov. 30.—The easterly test well of this district, which is being drilled on the Patten lease by the Standard Oil Company, is down 5200 feet, and the indications of oil are meager. The well is now 1100 feet deeper than the O'Donnell No. 6.

Oil operators are beginning to believe that the rock formations are nearly perpendicular, and give this as the probable reason why deep offset wells have failed to find oil sand.

The Associated Oil Company's well No. 1-A, on the Gregg property, has been halted for a few days by a fishing job at 3900 feet. The drillers are going around the fish, however, and will resume drilling at once. The Mohawk Oil Company well on the Denny lease is drilling in hard sand at 3500 feet.

A string of drill pipe dropped in the Pan American Petroleum Company's Jesrum well has caused a small delay. The well is down 3200 feet. The Taylor interests, which are drilling the California Royalties Company well across from the O'Donnell No. 6 have cemented at 3100 feet and are idle. This well is down to 3800 feet.

The Whitley Oil and Refining Company well No. 2 on the Strong property is plugging back and is attempting to secure production at shallower levels. The well was drilled 4900 feet deep and no production was found.

Railroad Wins Title to Oil Lands in Kern

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

McKITTRICK, Nov. 30.—The Southern Pacific Company has finally acquired title to the holdings of the McKittrick Oil Company, covering lots No. 1 and 2 and the south half of the southwest quarter of Section 1, 30-21, at this place, with several producing wells.

The property has been in litigation since 1905 when the railroad sued in the State courts to quiet title on the ground that the land was in a land patent issued in 1886.

The Superior Court decided for the oil company in 1918 but the judgment has been reversed on appeal, the appellate court declaring null and void the patent issued by the Land Office to the oil company in 1916, on the ground that title to the land had previously passed to the railroad. The McKittrick Oil Company's stockholders are largely Bakersfield people.

OIL FIELD WILL OPEN IN MIAMI MINE AREA

DERRICKS SOON TO APPEAR IN COMPANY WITH TIPPLES IN NORTH OKLAHOMA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MIAMI (Okla.) Nov. 30.—Great piles of "tailings"—the crushed rock left when lead and zinc are milled out—and monster tipples marking the presence of deep shafts in the mine fields surrounding Miami are about to be replaced by oil derricks.

Tests have shown that far below the lead and zinc veins lie petroleum deposits—an almost unique situation—and the odd spectacle of drilling rigs towering among the superstructures of the mines, will be seen soon.

All over Oklahoma revival of oil activity is expected soon after the holidays. Fields that have been prospected but not publicly announced are due to be brought in and a new era of "wildcatting" is scheduled to commence, along with increases in the price of crude oil which are expected between now and Christmas.

WINS WITH WILDCAT

Producing Well Opens New Field In Texas

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FT. WORTH (Tex.) Nov. 30.—Col. A. E. Humphreys of Denver and Mexia, Tex., has scored again as the master oil wildcatter. His latest is the bringing in of a well near the town of Wortham, four miles from production, in the famous Mexia district. The well, while not completed, has definitely established itself as a producer of first rank for that section and is expected to make 2000 barrels daily from slightly below 2000 feet.

Already more than 100 locations have been made for wells in the new field, and drilling on some will be started within a few days. The wildcat was brought in by the Boyd Oil Company, of which Col. Humphreys is president.

ROTARY OIL TOOLS MAY BE BARRED

Oklahoma Commission Plans New Regulations Governing Drilling

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Nov. 30.—Completion of oil and gas wells into productive formations in this State with rotary tools is all but prohibited in a new set of rules governing the conservation of oil and gas made by the Corporation Commission and to be submitted to a hearing before oil and gas operators of the State in the near future. A rule provides that drilling into producing oil and gas sands with rotary tools may be done only in high-pressure gas territory and only by permission of the State.

The new rules call for the taking of cores in wildcat wells being drilled with rotary tools below 900 feet unless oil and gas are found above that depth. These cores are to be preserved for the benefit of the industry. The rules provide that in rotary holes casing shall be cemented "at not less than 400 feet before drilling operations are resumed at a greater depth," and for the casing and cementing off of all heavy flows of water.

Two proposed new rules, touching the methods of cementing wells, are expected to provoke the most interest and probably controversy. They provide for the thorough sealing off of all oil or gas-bearing strata and coal seam by the use of cement "to set the required time before drilling through the block."

proval of the Corporation Commission says, shall be ten days after completion of the cementing job, "except that in cases where a cement accelerator, having the approval of th Corporation Commission, is used, operations may be resumed after seventy-two hours."

By these two rules the commission expects to prevent wholesale and indiscriminate use of newly discovered processes of cementing wells, at the same time offering encouragement to satisfactory processes that will save operators the difference in time between ten days and seventy-two hours.

NEW TEXAS TOWNS ARE DEVELOPED

SOUTH PLAINS REGION IS SCENE OF HEAVY DEMAND ON MATERIAL DEALERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SLATON (Tex.) Nov. 30.—New town building is going on so rapidly in the South Plains region of Northwestern Texas that wholesale and retail lumber dealers are meeting difficulty in supplying the demand for materials. It is stated that since January, fifteen townsites have been laid out and in several instances they have already grown into communities of considerable size.

These new towns are within a radius of 100 miles of Slaton, and their establishment was due to the ing tracts and to the great influx of settlers. Besides the laying out and development of towns, all of the older municipalities have had remarkable growth during the last several months. Many of them have more than doubled in population since the first of the year.

It is stated that approximately thirty new retail lumber yards have been established in the South Plains region so far this year. Most of these yards carry enormous stocks of lumber and other building materials. Along with general building operations there exists a large business in the sale of fence posts, barbed-wire and windmills. Hundreds of wells have been bored during the last year and each one called for the installation of a windmill.

GOOD SAND FOUND IN KERN WILDCAT WELL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—An excellent showing of oil is being reported by Frankel-Orloff Oil Company in the wildcat drilled in the northwest corner of Section 25, 11-24. The well is down 925 feet and it is asserted that twenty-eight feet of sand has been encountered.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—The Marne California Mining Company composed largely of San Francisco and Nevada people, which recently acquired the Rawhide Mine at Jamestown and the Newton group near Grass Valley, has started comprehensive rejuvenation of the famous Rawhide group.

Equipment is being installed on the 335-foot north shaft, preliminary to dewatering of the workings and extension of a crosscut from the 300-foot level to reach the huge sixty-foot ore body.

Besides developing milling and shipping ore this work is planned to make available for glory-hole mining a vast tonnage of commercial ore between the 300 level and the surface. Rich pockets and stringers were mined in this area several years ago before litigation compelled Capt. W. A. Nevills and associates to cease work.

The Rawhide is one of the famous producers of the Mother Lode. For many years prior to 1905, when legal troubles forced suspension of work, the property ranked among the premier gold producers of California and has an authenticated record of over $6,000,000.

The main shaft, on the south end, is 1800 feet deep and the huge ore body has been proved to extend from this area to the north shaft, a length of 1000 feet. As soon as sufficient ore is blocked out, the old forty-stamp mill will be improved and placed in commission. George F. Snyder, San Francisco, is general manager.

The Belcher Extension Company, operating claims adjoining the famous California Rand Mine at Randsburg, has increased its holdings to thirty-five acres by the purchase of twenty-three acres adjoining the original property. The management states profitable ore including rich shoots, is showing on the main 432-foot level, and the winze from this point is down more than 150 feet.

A new vein has been cut on the main level 127 feet from the shaft. Early production is planned. In the adjoining California Rand mine rich discoveries in virgin ground have been officially reported from the seventh and tenth levels. Production of this company is exceeding $230,000 a month.

DOMINGUEZ OIL OUTPUT JUMPS

Field Adds 9000 Barrels to Production in Week

Increase is from Four Wells; Two Being Gushers

Three Others Scheduled for Early Completion

The Dominguez field added 9000 barrels a day to its production during the past week, 7000 barrels of this being contributed by the Shell Company's Reyes No. 18, yielding 3000 barrels, and the Manuel No. 3, yielding 4000 barrels. The Union Oil Company's Callender No. 4, yielding 200 barrels, and the Maryland Oil Company's Dominguez No. 3, yielding 1300 barrels, helped swell the total.

Beside these wells two or three others are scheduled for completion within the next few days, all of them being in the gusher area, in the southeastern part of the field, which may be expected to turn out wells yielding anywhere from 3000 to 4500 barrels apiece.

The Associated Oil Company has one well making a production test, and another in the final stages of drilling. The United Oil Company has a well which should be on production this week, and the Shell Company has two or three near the completion stage.

The Union's success in putting its Callender No. 4, on production even at the low rate of 200 barrels a day is one of the interesting developments of the week. This well is on the northern line of the Callender lease, on which the discovery well of the field was brought in, and is an offset to the ill-fated Gardena lease of the General Petroleum Corporation, which is now making about fifty barrels a day from one well The Callender No. 4, found typical edge conditions at around 4750 feet, and has been trying for about a year to solve the water problem.

Carload of Ore Brings Return of $53 a Ton

A carload of ore recently conigned to the Hayden smelter by the Overton Mining and Milling Company of Los Angeles brought returns of $53 to the ton. The company now has a carload of metal ore ready for shipment which, it is asserted, will run more than $100 to the ton. The property of the company is located south of Vidal, Riverside county.
The company has ordered machinery for the construction of the first fifty-ton unit of a milling plant, the equipment of which will embrace a blake crusher, a ball mill of special design, and a Wilfley concentrating table. The mill will amalgamate as well as grind, the quicksilver being introduced to the pulp under hydraulic pressure.
J. M. Overton is president of the company and George D. Parking-ton is superintendent and mill manager.

MAY BUILD PIPE-LINE FOR NONBURNING GAS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FT. WORTH (Tex.) Nov. 30.—
As soon as tests which are being made of the noninflammable natural gas, which is flowing from a well near Seymour at the rate of about 16,000,000 cubic feet a day, are finished, a decision will be reached by the United States Helium Board as to whether or not it will request of Congress an appropriation to build a pipe-line to connect the well with the helium plant here. It is estimated that the cost of the proposed pipe-line with equipment would be approximately $750,000. Little doubt is being almost pure helium. Should the tests as to its content not prove satisfactory a pipe-line will be built from the helium gas field near Nocona to Ft. Worth, it is stated.

drilling has assured an additional 600 feet to the main ore body of the Kay mine, north of this point.
The bore at the 1200-foot depth cut seventy-five feet of mineral-ized matter, with fifteen feet of it sampling 2 per cent copper. A crosscut is being driven on toward the strike.

KERN LAND LEASED TO MARLAND

Extensive Operations in San Joaquin Valley Tract Forecast

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—Forecasting extensive operations in many new areas in the San Joaquin Valley the Marland Oil Company has obtained leases on about 50,000 acres in Kern county. It has large holdings at Blackwell's Corner, the area northeast of the Lost Hills and in the Weed Patch, Edison, Comanche Point and Rio Bravo districts and the west front extension of Kern fields.

In the Kittlemen Hills area active drilling is in progress on the Elliott lease, which was spudded in to a depth of 500 feet last spring and then equipped with a rotary outfit for a deep test.

On Friday the Marland rotary crew on Cauley No. 2, west front of the Kern fields, cemented twelve-and-one-half-inch casing at 350 feet. There was a good showing of oil in the circulation, and a fair gas pressure. Well No. 1 was drilled to 2656 feet.

Near Fellows the Marland will shortly spud in well No. 1 on its Balfour-Guthrie lease, located between Fellows and McKittrick. Rig builders completed work upon the derrick last week and a rotary drilling crew from the Cauley lease, on Section 16, 28-27, west front extension of Kern River oil fields, will go on the job Saturday.

This will make the third lease in the San Joaquin Valley upon which Marland is engaged in active development work. L. T. Edwards, drilling contractor, has charge of operations, which include work on leases in the Kern, Midway and Kittlemen Hills areas.

OPEN WORK ON ARIZONA MILL SITE

Katherine Company Will Construct Cyanide Type; Capacity 100 Tons

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Nov. 30. — A report has been received that construction of the Katherine mill at last is being started, with contracts awarded for a cyaniding mill of type similar to those of the Tom Reed and United Eastern at Oatman. It is to be of 100 tons daily capacity, with crushing done in ball mills.

Construction and operation will be under Eugene Ireland, former mill superintendent of the Tom Reed. General operation will be superintended by R. L. Dimmick. Plans for the process have had the approval of A. L. Bloomfield, cyaniding expert.

Work has been resumed on the Tidal Wave Mine in the Weaver section, a property owned in Los Angeles. When last operated, profit was known in shipment of ore to a smelter.

Underground workings and surface of the old Dean Mine are being rehabilitated by a force of men under Norval Bigler, with report that ore production again is to be started, to supply the mill which is of the concentrating type. The property is controlled by the Santa Fe Gold and Silver Mines Company.

G. S. Holmes of Los Angeles has advertised the sale or lease of the well-known Hackberry property, east of Kingman, one of the best-developed mines of the county, once equipped with a fine mill. He also has offered for sale the Midnight and Keystone mines.

CASING CEMENTED

Formax Test South of Fellows is Down 1116 Feet

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—The 12 1-2-inch casing has been cemented at 1116 feet in the Formax Oil Company's test well being drilled in the prospecting area, south of Fellows on the southwest quarter of Section 7, 31-23.

Another venture in this district is the Fresno-Taft exploration on Section 19, 31-23, in the hope of picking up a structure with commercial oil values.

An agreement to commence drilling within thirty days is contained in a lease obtained by the Painted Hills Oil Syndicate of Long Beach, on a government permit from T. E. Kliptein of Bakersfield.

ON WRONG SPOT

Test Well Misses Oil Sand in Lost Hill District

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LOST HILLS, Nov. 30. — The Ferguson No. 1, a test well of the Marland Oil Company in the Lost Hills district, is to be abandoned, it has been announced. The work of pulling the eleven-inch casing and tearing out the water pipes, is going ahead now.

The well was drilled to a depth of 5016 feet. It logged an oil sand at shallow depth. It is believed by geologists that the well was spotted on the wrong side of the structure and that a different location would have meant a good producing well.

ENCOUNTER OIL SANDS

Transport Officials Look for Well's Early Production

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—Encountering rich oil sands at 3980 feet, according to reports from company officials, well No. 2 of the Transport Oil Company, on Section 4, 11-23, is expected to become a producer within the next few days. The Transport well is located some distance beyond the center of operations in the Maricopa Flats area.

THINK SECOND SAND FOUND

Operators in Torrance Field Encouraged by Oil and Gas at New Low Levels

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TORRANCE, Nov. 30.—There is believed to be a second oil sand in the Torrance field. This is thought to have been definitely established Friday by a test made by the Jameson Oil Company at the Lora J., a deep well on East Palm street in Lomita. Just whether production may be obtained from the newly discovered second structure can not be determined until the company has ascertained where the water is coming into the hole.

Water string was set in the Lora J. at 4070 feet several weeks ago and the company was given an O.K. for a production test. The hole was then drilled at 4180 feet, where another test was made. This test revealed the presence of water in the hole. A combination oil and water string was set and the well was recemented through perforations, after which the hole was drilled ahead to 4300 feet.

TESTED WET

The well tested wet again Friday, but considerable oil and gas came up — enough to encourage operators here over the prospects for a second productive sand.

The Jameson Company is now making plans to shut out the water. Whether the objectionable fluid is coming in through the cement, or whether the hole was cemented too high has not been determined.

Observers here agree that the chances for a discovery of a second sand were never so bright as they are since the Lora J. test revealed the existence of so much oil and gas at new low levels for this field. They declare that the test showed that once the water trouble is eliminated, commercial production from the untapped structure seems likely. But they are dubious over the possibilities of eliminating the water from the Lora J.

In case the Jameson well is recemented through the combination string and still tests wet, the company would not know whether the cement job was faulty or whether the water was coming from below.

Some observers take the stand that the well was not cemented deep enough and that in order to shut out the water, the hole must be cemented in the oil-bearing formation itself, as was the case with the Union Oil Company's Rosecrans No. 1.

LITTLE NEW PRODUCTION

New production here last week was negligible. Several wells which have been idle for some time were put back on production and several more are drilling in the oil-bearing levels.

This week the Petroleum Securities is expected to complete Kleinmeyer A-6 and A-7.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company is swabbing Torrance No. 78 for production and is drilling in at Del Amo No. 9.

The Shell Oil Company's Ketchler No. 2, half a mile north of the Lora J. is down 5300 feet, but drilling is halted by a fishing job.

On Western avenue north of Torrance Chanslor-Canfield's Francis No. 1 has been drilled to 6285 and the company is going still deeper.

Mine Engineers Plan Meeting Tuesday Night

The American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, Southern California section, will have its second meeting of the year at 2200 West Seventh street, opposite Westlake Park, Tuesday, evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The topic of the evening will be "The Business of Mining." Persons engaged in mining from a business or financial standpoint are expected to attend.

R. T. Sill, chairman, will give a brief talk on the history of mining in California. Frank Hervey Pettingell will speak on the "Function of the Stock Exchange;" Victor H. Rossetti, on "Mining From the Banker's Viewpoint," and Col. Seeley W. Mudd on "Mining from the Engineer's Viewpoint."

S. R. Gillan is in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

INSPIRATION COPPER INCREASING OUTPUT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MIAMI (Ariz.) Nov. 30.—Ore now is being hoisted at the new Porphyry shaft of the Inspiration Consolidated Copper Company, at the rate of 1000 tons a day, this output to be increased gradually to 10,000 tons within six months. Most of the new ore is from the Live Oak division.

GOOD COTTONSEED RUN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WAURIKA (Okla.) Nov. 30.—Out of every ton of cottonseed run through the mill of the Ryan Cotton Oil Company at Ryan there is produced 100 pounds of lint cotton, 265 pounds of oil, 900 pounds of cake and 555½ pounds of hulls, every particle of the raw product being profitably utilized, says Theodore H. Ellis, manager of the plant. A great deal of the meal from the plant is being shipped north, much of it going to dealers in Minneapolis.

PERMIT FOR STOCK SALE IS REVOKED

Coalinga Kern Oil Firm is Under Ban; Held to Have Perpetrated Violations

The permit of the Coalinga Kern Oil Company to sell stock was permanently revoked Saturday by State Commissioner of Corporations Daugherty for alleged violation of the Corporate Securities Act.

Commissioner Daugherty held that H. M. Murry, one of the originators and secretary and treasurer of the company, engaged in dishonest and fraudulent transactions in connection with the stock sales. The permit under which the company operated was violated, Commissioner Daugherty declared, as a true copy of it was not printed on all stock subscription contracts.

During a hearing before the Corporation Department stockholders alleged that they were told that the company owned forty acres in the Coalinga oil field in fee and that the earnings of the company would represent a 20 per cent profit. According to the findings returned against the company these statements were untrue. It was found, the Commissioner declared, that the company merely held an option on the forty acres to purchase for $80,000.

New Strike in Rand Silver is High in Values

According to authentic information received from Randsburg, the California Rand Silver, Inc., has opened up a new stope of ore between the seventh and eighth levels of the mine, which is over 250 feet long, averaging twenty feet in width, and carrying exceptionally high values in silver.

This stope is on the Antimony vein which, in past years, has produced several million above the seventh level. A year ago it was believed that the rich ore had been bottomed on this level, but skillful development work has shown that it extends to the eighth, with possibilities of extending to greater depths on the flat rake of the shoot.

In October the company milled about 10,000 tons of ore, all but a small amount of which came from this stope. From this crude the mill produced $250,000 in silver concentrates, about half the values being net profit, reports say.

TEST HOLES PLANNED

Exploration Scene Shifted to Buena Vista Lake

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—Shifting the scene of exploration to the edge of Buena Vista Lake, a group of Taft oil men will spud in a well today on Section 26, 31-24. Directly north of the site of the operations under the name of the St. Anthony Oil Company another test hole will be drilled by the Petroleum Producers, Inc., on Section 14, 31-24, a short distance from the Bakersfield-Taft highway.

The newcomers are business and professional men of Woodlands, headed by A. T. Spencer, O. H. Pratt and Charles Eddy. The contract has been let for drilling by a Taft contractor.

WELL CORING SLOWLY

Petrified Wood Formation Hit in Hole in Kern Field

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—Finding what L. T. Edwards, drilling contractor, regards as petrified wood at 2300 feet, the Cauley Oo. 2 on Section 16, 28-27, has been coring through a hard formation during the past several days. The oil structure has been entered.

Well No. 1 on this lease, it is asserted, shows up as one of the best pumpers that has been drilled in the county, flowing by agitation.

LOAN TO FRANCE SHIFTS TRADING

Speculative Interest Turns From Bond List

Stocks More Active But Price Changes Slight

Credit to German Railways Also is Feature

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Flotation of the $100,000,000 French loan last week turned the attention of investment circles away from bond trading, which also suffered from a diversion of speculative interest to the stock market. Price changes were narrow and insignificant advances early in the week gave way before a resumption of profit-taking.

Offering of the French loan marked the third largest piece of foreign financing to be undertaken here this year. Fourfold oversubscription of the issue compared favorably with the responses to the larger Japanese and German loans and enabled the bonds to command a substantial premium in trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Another important financial development of the week, while not immediately concerning the bond market, was the extension of a $15,000,00 credit by American and British bankers to the German railways, putting into effect the railway provisions of the Dawes plan. The present advance, it was explained, was merely a banking operation, but Wall street heard that this market eventually might be called upon to absorb some of the securities of the German State Railways Company.

Announcement that the New Haven Railroad had completed plans for refunding its $23,000,000 European loan maturing next April was one of the most significant developments of the week. Retirement of these bonds was one of the most serious financial problems which the road has faced in recent years, and assurances that the operation would be successful brought an advance in many of the New Haven issues to the highest levels of the year. Some disappointment over details of the operation later caused prices to fall back slightly. The fact that the New Haven was able to command both banking and industrial support for its plan aided the bonds of the St. Paul Railroad, which also is confronted with a large refunding program in 1925.

Liberty bonds last week continued the downward trend which has been under way since the election. Prospect of eventual tax reductions has been a factor in the shifting of funds to more speculative and higher yielding securities. The premiums which the bonds have attained in the last six months, however, will make it necessary for Great Britain, for the first time, to pay its $90,000,000 semiannual debt installment to the United States Treasury in cash. Previously part payment had been made in Liberty bonds acquired at concessions.

The French financing brought the total of new bond offerings for the week to more than $137,000,000, the largest volume since the middle of October, when the German loan was floated. New issues in the preceding week aggregated slightly more than $50,000,000.

ROTARY WELL DRILL INVENTED BY ARNOT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—Owen G. Arnot of Bakersfield has been granted a patent for a rotary tool for deep well rigs, according to the report of Munn & Co. upon patents issued during the week ending November 24. It is said that this invention provides for a multiple bladed tool with a single split shank and that the rotary bit has great length of life and is operable for a much longer period than ordinarily before removal from the well hole for sharpening. The rotary tool is described as being fish-tail in shape and as having more than two cutting points, all of which are substantially and symmetrically arranged with respect to rotation of the bit.

GAINS FEATURE STOCK MARKET

Review of Industrials is Encouraging

Increased Activity in Steel Displayed

Net Revenue of Railroads Shows Increase

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Continuation of the advance in the stock market although at a reduced pace, further ease in gilt-edged bonds, slightly firmer money and steadiness in commodities were the principal characteristics of the past financial week.

Although there was a tendency in some quarters to feel that the stock market might be in a fair way to overdiscount the improvement expected in business, the industrial news of the week was encouraging.

Thus the steel industry reported a considerable increase in buying activity. Orders recently placed, for the most part, however, were for early delivery. This was interpreted to mean that the better demand for steel at present reflects a desire of consumers to get under the wire before prices rise, rather than any marked increase in actual consumption.

DECLINE HALTED

From the producers' standpoint the spurt in buying was doubly significant. It meant that in a season when demand ordinarily fell off and the rate of mill operations was reduced, steel companies were assured of a fair volume of work for the remainder of the year. More important, perhaps, was the implied recognition on the part of the consumers that steel prices for the first quarter at least probably would be higher.

The long decline during the summer and fall had brought selling prices to a point which meant unprofitable operations for many companies as was shown by the third-quarter earnings statements. This stimulated the producers in their efforts to get a better price and the greater confidence in business which followed election has led consumers to abandon ideas that they might get their steels cheaper later on. Steel mill operations, meanwhile, have increased from around 65 per cent capacity to 70 per cent during the past week.

RAILROAD SITUATION

The railroad situation was a further encouraging factor in the business outlook. Confirmation is now coming to hand of the predictions that the railroads would show unusually good earnings for October during which month loadings of freight proceeded at a record rate. Although gross revenues were slightly lower than a year ago, the better condition of the rolling stock and trackage of the carriers bore fruit in an increase in net operating income.

Last year the roads were still unprepared to handle heavy traffic in the most efficient manner.

Consequently, a larger proportion of their gross earnings had to be expended on maintenance. This year, however, they have taken care of the freight without car shortage or serious congestion. Savings in maintenance and train operation, therefore have resulted in larger net operating income despite lower gross. A compilation of earnings for the first fifty-one roads to report for October which includes the principal Class One carriers, shows $105,169,000 of net, compared with $98,547,000 in September, and $84,709,000 in October, 1923.

NET EARNINGS

On this basis net earnings for the month should total approximately $7,130,000,000, which is the largest amount shown since 1918. November carloadings meanwhile are showing less than the usual seasonal falling off, which augurs well for a maintenance of fair earnings.

Reports from the agricultural sections of the country agree that although buying so far has not fully reflected the increased purchasing power, merchants were anticipating a good holiday trade and were doing some stocking up. Both wheat and cotton prices meanwhile have held remarkably steady.

Novel Honeymoon

It was a case of love at first sight when Saxon Brown, age 19, advertised as England's strongest boy, saw Dorothy Dawes, age 16, said to be Great Britain's strongest girl, toying with a fifty-six-pound dumbbell at a circus. They celebrated their honeymoon by performing together at a fair, tossing motor cars about and bending steel bars.—[Indianapolis News.

RESTORING SIGNAL HILL

Oil Companies Dismantle Derricks and Start Grading On South Slope Sites

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 30.—Restoration of the south slope of Signal Hill to the conditions existing four years ago before the Signal Hill field became the wonder producing field of the country, is well under way, an inspection of that section revealed yesterday. The Union Oil Company is taking the lead in restoration work and is demolishing derricks along Creston street in a territory that yielded some of the biggest producers in the field's history.

Community No. 3 derrick has been torn down and the site leveled and graded. Work of dismantling Community No. 6 is now under way. Community No. 7, located between No. 6 and No. 8, is still listed as a producer and will be permitted to stand for a time, it is reported. At one time this well produced 12,000 barrels a day. Water trouble eventually checked the flow.

A short distance away stands the Black Diamond, a well that made history for Signal Hill and was once a record producer. Community No. 6 and No. 8 proved to be failures from a production standpoint, although both are located close to the Black Diamond and the Robinson wells of the Western Star Company. Two of the latter were at once listed among the big producers of the field, and another Robinson well proved to be an almost uncontrollably wild well.

Farther to the south, homes are now being built on ground that was being intensely drilled for oil two years ago. Along Almond street and Catalina avenue, names that appeared on daily drilling reports for more than two years, evidences of the oil rush, are fast being erased to make room for homes, and from Hill street almost to Burnett street the district is gradually slipping back into residence territory.

Scores of leases that once held promise of fabulous wealth have been turned back to their owners. The Y.W.C.A. property in Augusta street is one of the larger tracts that has had its fling at oil and missed. Future plans for this tract have not been decided upon by the association which is expected to resume control of the acreage soon.

Before oil development covered Signal Hill with derricks the property was under lease to market gardeners.

3000-BARREL WELL

Holly Development Co.

The Associated Oil Co. brings in Holly De Francis No. 4, a 3000-barrel well on Holly Development Co.'s 50-acre lease on DOMINGUEZ HILL.

This well is making 3000 barrels daily of 31° gravity oil, and sells for $1.28 per barrel.

DRILLING REPORT

No. 1—3700 feet; drilling.
No. 2—3882 feet; making flow test.
No. 3—4004 feet; drilling 127 feet in oil sand.
No. 4—Producing 3000 barrels from 400-fot oil sand.
No. 5—2513 feet; drilling.
No. 6—3200 feet; setting 11-inch casing.

Wells Nos. 2 and 3, located between two 4000-barrel wells, recently brought in by Shell Co., 300 feet from east and west line of lease, respectively, should be equally as large as the offset wells. Will be on production within two days to two weeks. This acreage is completely surrounded by nine producing wells.

ONE WELL PRODUCING, FIVE, MORE TO COME!

With SIX wells on production as large as the average of this field, Holly Development Co.'s net earnings should be over 20% MONTHLY on outstanding capitalization.

Conservative estimate of production from this lease is 15,000 barrels per day (within 90 days.)

We advised the purchase of Holly Development Stock at 60c per share and have been recommending it since the drill first started on the 50 acres at Dominguez.

Our clients have made from 50% to 200% on investment within the last 90 days.

The present slight reaction is your chance.
The closing quotation on L. A. Stock Exchange Saturday, $1.83 at $1.85, and much higher prices are expected.

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—Drilling ahead at 3900 feet with blue shale and gas showings the Main Oil Company test well in the Wasco area is making good progress in a race with the Union in a test near Rio Bravo to prove up a valley structure. The Union test well is making good progress, coring the formation below the 4000-foot level.

ODD FORMS OF "MONEY" EMPLOYED IN AFRICA

There are three modes of buying and selling. The first is for exchange article for article, direct. The second is by using a useful medium of exchange, which we will call currency. The third is the Western method of using a useless object in exchange, this we will call money.

In South Africa we get the natives using cattle as currency, exchanging cattle for goods and the same cattle changing hands for other goods. More usually, however, we get barter pure and simple, ivory and useful objects to buy beads, trinkets, wire and other goods.

Further north, in the Transvaal, we get actual money, in the shape of home-made wire, with a rough knob on the end. Farther west, in the Congo, we find H-shaped copper plates used as money. On the Upper Congo we find imitation swords serving the purpose, while lower down on the Stanley Falls we find the ax blade. (In many South African tribes we get the hoe so used.) In Sierra Leone we get an amusing imitation knife blade; one end is thin and twisted, the other widening to two points. The BaSongo and BaNkutu on the Congo use throwing knives.

ALAS, TOO TRUE!

Mrs. F. J. Miller, secretary of the National Council of Women, said in a Monticello address:

"The day is bound to come—of that I am convinced—when a man will marry a girl for her sterling qualities, her intelligence, industry, truthfulness and so forth. Yes, that day will come, but it has not yet arrived.

"At present, alas! it is but too true that light-headed girls make the best matches."

BOILERS WITH 1200 POUNDS

The power station which an electric illuminating company of Boston is erecting at Weymouth will operate boilers working under a pressure of 1200 pounds to the square inch.

This is five times the pressure of the most powerful locomotive and three times that ever before used in a commercial power station.

Parts of the boiler must have the strength of a cannon. The boiler drum will be thirty-four feet long, with walls of solid steel four inches thick. The original unit of the plans involve 400,000 horsepower, with boilers an diturbogenerators housed in a building 145 by 800 feet, 125 feet high. The stacks will far overtop Bunker Hill Monument, and their interior diameter will be so great that a street car could be lowered from top to bottom without touching the sides.

KEY TO INDIA IN BLACKMAIL

Reason for Concealment of Identity of Hurri Singh, Eastern Prince, by British Revealed at Last

BY JOHN L. BALDERSTON
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The world has held its curious eyes on a dingy court in London, excited and thrilled at disclosures of blackmail so astounding it seems nothing could surpass them for interest. And now it turns out that all this has been before the curtain.

Drama—nay, history—of international import has all this time been developing on the roof of the earth, in the Himalayas, where a handful of British officials and a few regiments of soldiers are guarding a restless Indian frontier before which a bear is once more walking like a man.

Answers are finally available to two of the great questions which have stood forth from the trial before Lord Darling in which the name of "Mr. A." the mysterious oriental potentate, was so zealously guarded for "reasons of state."

What are these great "reasons of state?" Why did the blackmailed Prince, trapped in a Paris hotel room with the pretty wife of a broken-down race-track sport, part with 300,000 francs in "hush money" when, as the judge commented, 150 francs would have been the more usual amount.

ANSWERS FOUND

The answers to the great questions are found not in London, nor in Paris nor in other continental cities the Prince visited, but in Jammu and Kashmir, the northwesterly tip of India, a wild and unenlightened country which would hardly be known through the world but for the fact that lovely shawls come from there—and that its soil harbors gold dust and nuggets.

Jammu and Kashmir encompass much of the Himalaya Mountain system north of the valuable Punjab, Turkestan, Russian and Bolshevik, lies to the north. Eastern Turkestan, Chinese but Russian-controlled, lies to the east. Afhanistan, an independent state, lies to the west. Jammu and Kashmir are the key to India, with its 300,000,000 restless souls held by a few British officials and only 200,000 soldiers.

The mysterious "Mr. A." as is now well known the world over, is Hurri Singh, heir to the Maharajah of Jammu and Kashmir, a ruler aged and failing. Hurri, it now develops, is but a pawn in Eastern diplomacy.

In Jammu and Kashmir the throne does not go from father to son, but is bestowed upon that member of the ruling house considered most worthy. Two nephews, cousins to each other, were rivals for the scepter thought soon to fall from Sir Pratab Singh's failing hands.

FRIENDLY PRINCE

One of these cousins was the mild and soft-eyed Hurri Singh. The British found him friendly, and it was reported in London that he would be the proper candidate to look after British interests without ever making trouble. At all costs, thought British powers, Hurri must be the next maharajah—not his stern, war-like cousin, who was probably old Sir Pratab's favorite. The cousin, the British heard, intrigued with the Bolshevik. After much wire pulling and politics of all kinds, Hurri was declared heir to the maharajah. He was promptly married to the daughter of the rajan of a neighboring State, the Raiah of Dhrampere. The he'r was to have a treat. He was sent forth to see the world. His wife stayed at home. A huge sum of money, said to have totaled $4,000,000, was provided to see that he had a good time.

Hurri took a box in Albert Hall on an Armistice night. The world knows what followed.

Fear of disturbance may have helped alarm Hurri. But it is more probable that two other worries preyed upon him. One involves the question of caste.

TOOK PRECAUTIONS

It is known that Hurri took some remarkable precautions to avoid losing caste through his intrigue with "Maudie." If his people at home believed he had lost caste only death or life in exile would have remained for Hurri.

The second worry concerned a possible divorce suit against "Maudie" by her husband. If Hurri should have been named a blood feud threatened him. His wife back home was the daughter of a potentate who was small fry compared with him, but still one possessed of many retainers with crooked knives. Under the moral code of Kashmir and its neighbors, a husband who so offends must be slain—whatever his rank—by his wife's relatives.

Up to yesterday no newspaper in all India had published Hurri's name in connection with this notorious case. But the news is around. How news gets around in India with the speed it does was the wonder of white men for generations before Kipling drew attention to the phenomenon. It is said Hurri will now seek out all the gurus and adepts in magic in his mountains, where the most extraordinary magic of all the world is supposed to reside, and turn it loose on his faithless aide de camp. A horrible death by torture is predicted as this gentleman's end because he betrayed his master.

She Was Miffed

Mrs. Nayber: I know. She was miffed because the papers published your husband's income tax and passed her husband by.—[Pathfinder.

Much Against Little

Leonard Bacon, who was one of the best-known theologians in New England a half-century ago, was attending a conference, and some assertions he made in his address were vehemently objected to by a member of the opposition. "Why," he expostulated. "I never heard of such a thing in all my life!"

"Mr. Moderator," rejoined Bacon calmly, "I cannot allow my opponent's ignorance, however vast, to offset my knowledge, however small."—[Christian Register.

Did She Mean It?

"And then, thousands of feet above the cruel ledges," said the talkative balloonist, "I pulled the string that released me, knowing well that should my parachute fail to open I would dash my poor brains out on the rocks beneath."

"And did it?" inquired the interested girl.—[Unidentified.

SAN JOAQUIN GETS POWER FROM PARK

Pact Between Federal Service and Company Put in Effect

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

YOSEMITE, Nov. 30.—Hydro-electric power generated in Yosemite National Park was distributed today to the San Joaquin Valley, in accord with a co-operative agreement between the National Park Service and the San Joaquin Light and Power Company.

A large crew of men has been engaged in building and connecting links between transmission lines of the power company and those of the park. This work, together with the completion of a substation, cost $30,000.

Chief Electrician J. W. Emmert said that the San Joaquin company would supply the park with power during emergencies, but that on the whole the park's plant would dispose of a large surplus to the private concern, which in turn would allow more power for the San Joaquin Valley.

This agreement between a national park service and a private company is considered unique.

During the day flags flew at half-mast and tonight all the theaters are dark. Throughout the city hundreds of black-rimmed mourning posters carried the city's message of regret of the populace.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

Por Heliodoro Dueñes

A guisa de introducción a esta corta serie de pláticas, séame permitido declarar, ante los numerosos lectores de la sección española de "Los Angeles Times", que tengo la convicción de que nunca podré llegar a ser un digno substituto de mi erudito antecesor, el señor profesor Guerrero, verdadero artífice que ha ido engarzando palabras, conceptos y enseñanzas en esta sección, como si fueran perlas de grande valor, que constituyen ya una joya muy preciada para aquellos que han tenido la precaución de coleccionar las "Pláticas de Los Lunes." Y como el arsenal de mis conocimientos en la noble lengua castellana es bastante limitado, para que el cambio en esta sección resulte menos perjudicial a sus lectores, he decidido pedir ayuda para su formación a reputados lingüistas, consagrados ya por la crítica, trasladando a aquí muchas de sus enseñanzas, que solo tendré el trabajo de seleccionar, poniendo de mi cosecha lo menos que sea posible, en gracia a los que en el campo de estas pláticas van espigando conocimientos en el idioma de Castilla.

Hecha la anterior exposición, en descargo de mi conciencia, entro en materia, para no tomar más espacio de una sección en la que nada tienen que ver asuntos personales.

Así como, para ser un buen ciudadano, se necesita cumplir las leyes del país en que se vive, para tener la aspiración de ser considerado "hombre culto", uno de los requisitos inevitables tiene que ser el de saber hablar y escribir con propiedad su propia lengua.

Si no se obedecieran las disposiciones de la Real Academia Española; en lo que a la gramática castellana se refiere, sobrevendría una verdadera anarquía al idioma y pronto tendríamos una reproducción de la torre de Babel.

Siendo necesaria una autoridad suprema, para conservar una disciplina gramatical, como es indispensable en el orden político un legislador, se llegará fácilmente a la conclusión,—pese a los rebeldes contra la gramática, que los hay tan anarquistas como en el orden político,—de que, para expresarse con propiedad, en la lengua castellana, deben cumplirse los decretos de la Real Academia Española, suprema autoridad en el caso, y que si alguno o algunos de sus acuerdos nos parecen errores, es preferible esperar a que venga la modificación, por los conductos legales, antes de sembrar la simiente de la anarquía gramatical, imitando así a los buenos ciudadanos, que procuran por medios lícitos conseguir la enmienda de un yerro de su gobierno, en vez de asumir una actitud rebelde, que puede poner en grave peligro el orden social.

Autores modernos hay que incitan a la nueva generación de escritores a rebelarse contra lo que llaman "la tiranía gramatical" y alguno hay que utiliza argumentos tan artificiosos como este: "No es lo propio que las ideas estén al servicio del lenguaje, sino el lenguaje al servicio de las ideas". ¡Como si el opulento idioma castellano careciera de elementos propios para expresar la idea mas sutil, el concepto más elevado! Como si la Real Academia no estuviera enriqueciéndolo más y más cada día, con la adopción de términos nuevos, consagrados ya por el uso, para facilitar la tarea del moderno escritor, no estrechándolo a lo que considera ya un campo reducido para su fantasía, si tiene que usar las dicciones consagradas de antemano por los legisladores de nuestra lengua.

Para no incurrir en el mismo delito de los que tratan de ocultar su ignorancia, declarándose rebeldes contra la gramática, tratemos de hablar y de escribir con propiedad; para ello nos bastará conocer las reglas de la Gramática Castellana, las que darán motivo a las siguientes pláticas.

Tema: Acentuación de las Palabras en Castellano

Acento se llama la mayor intensidad con que se hiere determinada sílaba al pronunciar una palabra. Las palabras; por razón de su acentuación, se dividen en graves o llanas; que son aquellas que se acentúan en la penúltima sílaba; agudas; acentuadas en la última; esdrújulas en la antepenultima y sobreesdrújulas en cualquiera de las sílabas anteriores.

Llámanse vocales fuertes o llenas la a; la e y la o; son vocales débiles la i ya la u.

Diptongo es la union de dos vocales; fuerte y débil o viceversa; pronunciadas en una sola emisión de la voz; o sea en una sola sílaba.

Triptongo es la union de tres vocales, dos débiles y una fuerte intermedia, en una sola sílaba.

Dadas estas definiciones esenciales, pasemos a conocer las regias generales que establece la gramática, para la acentuación de las palabras.

REGLA PRIMERA: Las palabras graves, terminadas en vocal o en las consonantes n, s, no se acentúan. Ejemulos: casa, Carmen, Carlos.

Si terminan en otra consonante; distinta de las mencionadas, deben acentuarse los vocablos llanos: Ejemplos: Mártir, López, cárcel.

REGLA SEGUNDA: Las palabras agudas, terminadas en n, en s, o en vocal, deberán acentuarse. Ejemplos: corazón, tirapiés, mamá.

REGLA TERCERA: Toda palabra esdrújula o sobreesdrújula deberá acentuarse.

Estas son las tres reglas generales, establecidas por la gramática castellana, para acentuar las palabras; pero hay un gran número de observaciones que deben tenerse en cuenta para aplicarlas, y me propongo pasar una breve revista a tales observaciones, en la forma en que las hacen los diversos autores que he consultado para el caso.

La y, al fin de dicción, se considera como vocal, para aplicar las reglas de acentuación, como en las palabras convoy, estoy.

Los diptongos se consideran como una sola vocal, y cuando van acentuados, lo son en la vocal fuerte, como habréis, viático. Si las dos vocales son débiles, se acentúa la última, como en huí, benjuí.

Los triptongos se acentúan en la vocal fuerte, como en amortiguáis.

Las palabras compuestos o yuxtaposiciones, conservan cada una su acentuación propia, como en lícitamente, décimoséptimo.

Las palabras extranjeras o latinas, se acentúan con arreglo a las reglas que se han dado; por ejemplo: Amiéns, Lyón, Schúbert, memorándum. Tal es la opinión de la Real Academia española, aun cuando algunos lingüistas, entre ellos Toro y Gisbert, opinan que deben suprimirse los acentos en uno y otro caso. Esta opinión parece ir de acuerdo con la de una gran mayoría de los escritores modernos, ya que pocos o ninguno han decidido escribir Wáshington, Róosvelt o Shákspeare, como ordena la Academia.

En las próximas pláticas, continuaré pasando revista a las observaciones respecto a la manera de acentuar las palabras en castellano.

WHAT IS A MAUSOLEUM?

Beautifully Illustrated Booklets Issued by California Mausoleum Company Answer This Question. They Are Free.

Although many people know in a general way what a Mausoleum is, we find that the greater number have no clear idea of what remarkable developments have taken place in Mausoleum construction, design and practice—nor any conception at all of the stately beauty of our superb buildings at Hollywood and Inglewood cemeteries. Still less is known of the cost to purchasers of crypts, and the cost of niches in the Columbarium in our Hollywood Mausoleum, and their relative expense when compared with the ordinary, and increasingly undesirable, ground burial.

So we have prepared two fully illustrated booklets, for free distribution, telling in word and picture just what a Mausoleum is, showing our buildings and their surroundings, interior arrangements, construction details, etc. Either or both may be had upon request—and there is also a special Booklet on the Columbarium, for the permanent disposition of ashes, where cremation is preferred.

CONFLICT NEAR IN FEE MYSTERY

Clues to be Weighed Against Natural Death Theory

Strong Murder Motive Seen in Official Information

Finding of Pistol Explodes Earlier Beliefs in Case

The crucial point in the William J. Fee death investigation is scheduled to be reached today when the San Bernardino county officials will match the report of County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner of Los Angeles, against the last few remaining clews in their possession which point to murder in the strange and complicated case. Dr. Wagner's report, said to be forward natural death theory, is certain to inject another complex of opinions into the inquiry as it contradicts the original announcement that Fee died from a fractured skull and other internal injuries.

In the meantime Sheriff Shay and Dep. Dist.-Atty Thompson have in their possession information that tends to show a strong motive for the slaying of the Alhambra and San Gabriel banker, and a number of statements that are said to be conflicting in some highly significant points.

FINDING OF PISTOL

The finding yesterday by Mrs. William R. Fee, the banker's widow, of the automatic pistol Fee is known to have carried with him, solved one of the highly advertised theories developed by the investigation. The pistol was found by Mrs. Fee in the automobile driven by the banker just prior to his disappearance from his cabin in the San Bernardino mountains.

Mrs. Fee went to the automobile to get it for the funeral Saturday. She found the gun, a .25-caliber automatic pistol, under the carpet in the torneau. Sheriff Shay of San Bernardino, and Alhambra officers had searched the car both in the mountain canyon and in Alhambra. However, it was explained, the torneau was filled with luggage and other materials incident to the vacation trip when the two searches were made. So it appears that Fee was unarmed when he walked to death in the canyon shadow.

Sheriff Shay is expected in Alhambra today to make a detailed search of the car and to examine the weapon now in possession of J. J. Ayo, Mrs. Fee's brother-in-law. Ayo communicated the find to the sheriff. He would make no statement regarding it, explaining that anything he would say might interfere with what the authorities are doing.

WATKINS LETTERS

It is the view of the widow and those who are advising her that the Watkins-to-Fee letters are the property of the widow. They were written and mailed to her husband, and so are his property, it is reasoned. They were kept in an unusual list in her husband's bank box, to which her husband had a key. It was Mrs. Fee who turned them over to the Sheriff and, it is explained, she has the right to call them back. That she will do so and that the Sheriff will return them was planned yesterday. What disposition she will make of them is not known. It is known that when she read some of the missives she turned away sickened and nearly collapsed.

Sheriff Shay will today receive the official report by Dr. A. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon, on the results of the autopsy performed by him on the banker's body. This report will state that in his opinion, Fee died a natural death instead of from a fractured skull as held in the first autopsy performed by Drs. E. L. Tysinger and E. H. Hall of San Bernardino. Dr. Wagner bases his belief that

MOTORISTS KILL THREE, HURT SEVEN

Woman Run Down by Taxi, Man on Sidewalk is Hit, Boy Dies in Crash

Three persons dead and seven injured was the traffic toll yesterday in and near Los Angeles.

The dead are: David Frazier, 33 years of age, of 1816 Commonwealth avenue, Alhambra; Miss Gladys Rowan, 25 of Medford, Or., visiting at 1425 West Fourth street, and Fred Blaswich, Jr., 12, of 2321 Alvarado street, Torrance.

Frazier was struck at Raymond and Main streets, Alhambra, by a small coupe that turned the corner suddenly, mounted the curb and knocked him down. He died of a fractured skull in the Alhambra Hospital.

The driver of the car, after striking Frazier, appeared to slow down as if to stop, then changed his mind and sped away with two cars in pursuit. After a chase of a car bearing the license number of the death car, police arrested R. O. Graves, 111 North Curtis street, Alhambra, and Leslie Triggs, 1702 Vine street, Alhambra. Graves, who was driving at the time of the arrest, denied that he had struck any one. Police are holding him and Trigg for investigation. Examination of Graves's car, police said, showed that the front fenders and lights had been damaged.

Standing close to Frazier when he was hit were his two little girls. Neither was injured.

The boy victim was a passenger in a car driven by his father, Fred Blaswich, that was struck and turned over on Rosemore Boulevard, near Torrance, by a car driven by Albert A. French, 1554 North Serrano avenue. French said Blaswich turned his car around in the street in the middle of a block,

WIFE BEATS MATE, SLITS OWN THROAT

Husband Attacked With Hammer While He Sleeps; Woman May Die

While her four children were slumbering in her bedroom, Mrs. Marion Wooley, 36 years of age, of 807 North Avenue 64, arose early yesterday morning, crept into the adjoining room, beat her husband, William Wooley, on the head with a hammer as he slept, and then picked up a razor and slashed her own throat, according to her confession to the police.

The husband suffered a depressed skull fracture but has a good chance for recovery, it was announced. Mrs. Wooley was removed to the prisoners' ward of the General Hospital, where her condition was pronounced critical.

Mrs. Wooley, in her statement to the police, declared the attack on her husband and her attempt at suicide was prompted by a desire to avenge herself for asserted wrongs, which, the officers said they believed were more imagined than real. From the husband and the children Detective Lieutenants Vail and Shand learned that domestic quarrels of late had kept the Wooley household in a state of turmoil. During the police investigation Mrs. Wooley accused her husband of infidelity while Mr. Wooley told the officers of his recent intention to have his wife placed in the psychopathic ward for observation.

The minor members of the Wooley household are William, Jr., 15 years of age; George, 12; Harrietti, 11, and John, 5. They were awakened by their mother's screams and found her stretched across a bed with her throat cut. The father, regaining consciousness, summoned the Lincoln Heights police.

When Officers Kriewald and Doyle arrived they found a blood-

SECOND "TIMES" LIMERICK WINNERS

Imagine a man named Smith getting smashed up. He would be smithereens, wouldn't he? Certainly. Smithers for short.

The idea, simple enough, nets T. H. MacDonald of Palm Drive, Glendora, just $24.98. Mr. MacDonald is the winner of the second daily Times limerick competition and will get a check for $25 for writing the best last line for the second limerick printed. With Mr. MacDonald's line supplied, the limerick reads:

Surrounded by fast-flying flivvers,
The jay-walker dodges and shivers.
"This speedin' must stop!"
Says the hard-boiled cop,
"Or jay-walker Smith will be Smithers!"

To send this gem to The Times cost Mr. MacDonald only 2 cents, the price of a red postage stamp and the return on the investment was 1249 per cent, which is more than Ponzi promised.

T. H. MacDonald

The second prize of $5 was won by S. A. Duvall of 1357 Laveta Terrace, Los Angeles. For the missing fifth line of the limerick Mr. Duvall suggested:

"Or it's flowers and sod for your 'kivvers!"

It's evident that the person who thinks out something out of the ordinary will get the reward. Scratch your heads, contestants!

There was a 50-per-cent increase in the number of replies received to limerick No. 2, which brought in 4500 letters that arrived before the time limit was up, and 1000 or so of stragglers that could not be considered. It should be noted that it is no use whatever to send in replies that arrive after the closing date.

THEATER FIRE LOSS $1000

ANOTHER CONTEST TOMORROW!

FLEET STARTS NIGHT FIRING

Hawaii-Australia Cruise Will Follow Intensive Schedule of Training

Night battle practice this week will start the battle fleet's last fortnight of gunnery and tactical training this year, the completion of which period will find the battleship divisions further advanced in all forms of elementary training than at any year's end since the fleet came to the Pacific in 1919.

Late this afternoon all ten units of the battleship divisions now in port will get under way for the San Clemente drill grounds for the first round of night spotting and night battle practice, which will be completed on the night of the 5th inst. Night battle practice is one of the most spectacular of all gunnery exercises, the flashes of broadsides from the entire line of darkened ships being followed by starshells and flares that light up weirdly the long field of action.

The week beginning on the 7th inst. will be given over to the completion of unfinished practices and the third of the monthly series of co-ordination exercises, in which the entire battle fleet will participate during the twenty-four-hour period beginning on the morning of the 13th inst.

CHRISTMAS LIBERTY

From the 14th inst. until January 4, 1925, all units of the fleet will remain in port, the first week for machinery overhaul and the following fortnight for the usual Christmas period of leave and liberty. Three important units of the fleet will return to the base during the Christmas period. The U.S.S. Nevada will call for the first time Navy Yard after completion of night battle practice on the 4th inst. for her annual overhaul, while the following ships will return: U.S.S. Idaho, the 23rd inst. from Puget Sound Navy Yard; U.S.S. Mississippi, the 25th inst. from Puget Sound Navy Yard; U.S.S. Relief, on January 2, from Mare Island Navy Yard.

The Christmas period this year will separate the sharply-defined schedule of short-range, visual gunnery practices, the elementary exercises by which the gun crews are trained, from the program of highly technical long-range practices upon which work will begin immediately after the first of the year.

The first of these will be long-range battle practice, to be fired during the week of January 18, followed by secret advanced practices, scheduled for the period between February 2 and 15.

TACTICAL PROBLEM

In mid-February the entire battle fleet will begin a week's overhaul in readiness for the long cruise southward to engage the scouting fleet and control force, steaming up from the Atlantic under command of Vice-Admiral N. A. McCully. The battle fleet, under Admiral Samuel S. Robison, will depart this base on February 24, and between her, and Panama will encounter the Atlantic forces in a strategic problem which will approximate an attack on the California coast, the battle fleet representing the defending force.

During the week of March 16, the combined United States Fleet will be in port at Los Angeles Harbor for machinery overhaul after the several weeks at sea and in preparation for force practice, in which the combined fleet will participate about March 26.

On April 3 the entire force, under command of Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet, will depart for the spring maneuvers in Hawaiian waters. The fleet will be absent from the Los Angeles Harbor base until its return from Australia on September 27.

SANTA FE SPRINGS OIL FIRE FATAL TO ONE; LOSS HUGE

Thirteen Derricks Are Razed by Flames Which Peril Field; Blaze Fought by 500

One man lost his life and property estimated at $250,000 was destroyed in a spectacular oil fire which raged for over nine hours out of control in the heart of the Santa Fe Springs district yesterday.

The dead man is W. Mills, an aged watchman, who was housed in a small cabin near the Mohawk Oil Company holdings. His death resulted from heart disease brought on by the shock and excitement.

The property destroyed included four derricks of the Mohawk Oil Company, pumping house, tanks and office; three derricks of the United States Royalties Company, pumping house, tanks and office; two derricks of the Belleview Oil Company, pumping house, tanks and office; two derricks on the McIntyre property; one on the Whiston & Cox property, and derrick No. 11 of the Union Oil Company. The Union Oil Company derrick was only partially burned.

WELLS SAVED

The damage was confined entirely to the surface property, none of the wells themselves, according to officials, being damaged.

The fire broke out at 9:30 a.m. yesterday when a nipple on a tank on the Belleview property gave way and spurted a stream of oil into the Belleview boiler room. Two men were engaged at the time in welding the tank.

The flames rapidly spread to adjoining property and within a short time the greater part of a two-block area at what is known as Four Corners and is located at the juncture of Telegraph and Norwalk roads, had been embraced. The derricks at this point stand like the trees of a forest and the pumping plants of the different companies are within a few feet of one another.

FLOOD THREATENS

The greatest danger came when a 1000-barrel tank owned by the Mohawk Company and located but a few feet from the juncture of the two highways, threatened to boil over. Had this occurred, streams of burning oil would had been turned on the roads and the spread across Telegraph Road would have been certain. The efforts of the 500 or more men fighting the blaze were directed largely toward preventing this and shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday the flames were turned away from the tank.

Another danger lay in the possibility of the ignition of oil which had escaped in one manner or another from the tanks and lines and lay mixed with water in the streets.

The Mohawk Company was the greatest sufferer, its surface workings, the most pretentious in the area involved, being destroyed with the exception of several storage tanks which were badly damaged by the heat and flames. On the Mohawk property is one well of 500-barrel daily flow.

Companies operating adjacent to the area immediately suspended operations with the alarm and rushed all available men to the scene, while apparatus from Whittier, Norwalk, Rivera and Los Angeles county responded. With the exception of two companies, all of the thirty companies of the Los Angeles county department, were rushed to the scene. At one time, it is estimated, 750 men were engaged in battling the fierce flames.

A shortage of Foamite, a chemical used in combating oil flames, greatly retarted the efforts of the fighters.

Huge columns of black smoke, shot with tongues of flame, leaped hundreds of feet into the air and spread a pall over the district. With the boiling over of each tank the flames took on a fresh intensity and rolled skyward in an appalling manner, forcing the men who were playing water and chemicals into the seething heart of the conflagration to retreat before its fierce heat.

TIDE TURNS

The exact number of storage tanks in the area scourged by the blaze was not available late last night, nor was the exact loss in oil. The tanks involved boasted a combined tankage of approximately 18,000 barrels. What that storage was at the time of the blaze had not been computed.

Shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday a marked progress in the battle against the flames was noted and by 6 o'clock W. M. McElroy, chief fire engineer for the General Petroleum Company, announced that the blaze was under control. At that time it had been confined practically to the U. S. Royalties property. The fire will not be completely extinguished, however, for probably twenty-four hours.

The work of rebuilding the derricks and buildings and installing new pumping machinery will be started as soon as the twisted mass of iron and steel that marks the site of the plants can be removed. A considerable loss in production will result.

The physical loss resulting from the blaze was placed tentatively at $250,000.

Attracted by the column of smoke which rose into the sky, hundreds of automobilists hurried to the scene, the resulting traffic congestion interfering with the transportation of fire-fighting apparatus to the scene. Within a short time a cordon of county motorcycle officers had been thrown about the district and the traffic turned into other arteries.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE estimable and perpetually agitated Editor George Harvey is after the scalp of Secretary Wilbur because the German-built Zeppelin ZR-3 now bears the name "Los Angeles."

How would they christen it if not with the name of this beautiful metropolis where the around-the-world flight started?

Mr. Harvey is the first editor who ever wore horn-rimmed glasses and, as Ambassador to England, exhibited the funniest-looking legs that ever got into diplomatic short pants. Also he discovered Woodrow Wilson and was formally requested by the latter not to "queer" him forever by his editorial support.

Wilbur is the most capable Secretary the Navy ever had; and he doubtlessly realizes the importance of giving this Zeppelin a name calculated to lead ever onward toward the beacon-lights of beauty, brains, high intelligence and Christian fortitude.

ANGRY SAN FRANCISCO

The city of San Francisco is once more drenched in grief and jealousy. As usual, it is Los Angeles that afflicts her proud and sensitive spirit.

It appears that the Bay City recently decided to illuminate her Stygian and horrendous darkness by planting some electric lights around her City Hall. Thirty-two lights.

Although they cost a lot of money, they were very lovely and prideful. It seemed a grand sight until a horrified San Franciscan stooped to examine the inscription at the base of the electric-light standards. He found "made in Los Angeles"—or words to that effect—stamped indelibly in the steel thereof.

Now the city auditor excitedly refuses to pay the bill. And the San Francisco Chronicle with terrible dignity remarks, "It may be all right for Los Angeles to press her intensive campaign for publicity far and near, but we cannot stand for her coming right up to our front porch and pasting her label on our front door."

As though we were to blame because our superior products fill the world!

Soon our trade-mark will be like "The Widow of Windsor" that Kipling writes about:

"There's 'er nick of the cavalry horses
"There's 'er mark on the medical stores
"She has ships on the foam: she 'as millions at home, etc."
"Walk wide of the Widow of Windsor
"For half of creation she owns."

In future years, San Francisco will glow with exultation, as one with a pearl of great price, as she escorts honored visitors down to those electric light standards and points with tear-dimmed pride to her most glorious possession—those little words, "made in Los Angeles."

Oh, San Francisco, honored among cities!

THEY CANT LEARN HOW

It is announced that the flappers of America used 18,000,000 pots of rouge last year. It seems amazing that, out of such a wealth of experience, they didn't learn how to do it. For the most part, their damask cheeks look as though some one had hit them with a tomato.

CONCERT AT KHJ UP TO STANDARD

Meritorious Bill Presented by Martin Company

Lubovisky Trio Heard in Group of New Selections

John Martin and Ruth Pitts Round Out Program

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

Last evening was the semi-monthly visit of the Martin Music Company to KHJ. True to their traditions of broadcasting, the program was calculated to give infinite joy to lovers of good music. The Lubovisky Trio, Ruth Pitts, soprano, and John Martin at the Gulbransen registering piano were the artists presented.

As many of you must feel it is extremely difficult to review a concert in which one has taken a prominent part, personally. It is rather like being asked to praise one's own family. Some day I am going to ask Uncle John to allow another critic to write up the Lubovisky Trio on one of its appearances at KHJ, and then, we shall all know the truth of the matter!

There is one thing, however, which I can always hope to do with my column. Strange as it may seem, I feel the urge, day by day, to express less of individual praise or criticism, and write more freely of the great lessons which radio teaches us in the studio, and which I would have you share. As the years pass a new array of artists, announcers and critics will succeed those who now hold your love and interest; and on their ability to stimulate and preserve a love for all forms of great art, rests the character of the radio entertainment which will be enjoyed by the coming generation. As no one can live to himself, every company that presents radio programs, either adds a stone to this glorious cathedral of sound or does something which delays its completion.

QUALITY KEPT HIGH

The Martin Music Company, with John D. Martin as president, is one of the builders of KHJ. His company has never deviated, since its first concert, from a standard which has added considerably to the fair honor of musical Los Angeles.

This keynote of standard-bearing is, I may say, truthfully the foundation of the Lubovisky Trio. Its aim is to present only the greatest works in the highest fashion of which it is capable. You as a family must be receptive to the beauties of an unknown composition, and when you hear a number announced that is unfamiliar, instead of always wishing that it were an old favorite, try to greet it as a new guest crossing your threshold for the first time, and who, shown the proper interest and respect, will be transformed into a lifelong friend.

NEW NUMBERS HEARD

Last night the Lubovisky Trio played for the first time in California, and perhaps in this country, "two movements from a trio by Fesca. Its simple yet eloquent themes, breathing of another world and century, must have contributed a goodly share to the Sabbath peace. The Arensky Trio, with its highly modern emotional atmosphere and the magnificent architecture of the immortal Schubert Trio, certainly—provided a sumptuous banquet for those who hungered for the highest type of Calmon Lubovisky drew his magical bow across the violin of the human heart and gave the "Serenade," by Rachmaninoff and the "Caprice Basque," by Sarasate in a fashion which left him within an enchanted circle that brooked no rivals who might demand admittance.

'CELLIST CHORUS

Maurice Amsterdam, the 'cellist of the trio, whose musicianship is beyond cavil, played as solos one of Gluck's pure cooling melodies and the "Koi Nidri," which he endowed with particular reverence and beauty of tone.

Ruth Pitts, soprano, added her usual quota of attractiveness to the program, singing a group of songs, accompanied by John Martin at the Gulbransen registering piano, with an elusive loveliness of tone and depth of understanding peculiarly her own.

It would never be just to the Martin Music Company to speak of one of their programs without mentioning the unique work of John Martin at his favorite instrument, the Gulbransen registering piano. And last evening we were again intrigued and charmed by the good taste exhibited in his solos.

Mistaken Diagnosis

Small Ellen had been much impressed by her first experience in Sunday-school. Pressing her hands to her breast, she said solemnly to her sister, two years older, "When you hear something wite here, it's conscience whispering."

"Why, 'taint no such thing," her sister retorted. "That's just gas on your tummie."—[Mrs. J. D. Harr in Capper's Weekly.

stained razor near the woman's prostrate body. A bottle of muriatic acid, partly emptied, and an acid-stained teaspoon were within easy reach. A blood-stained hammer which the woman admitted she used in the attack was identified by the husband as being his own. A batch of partly burned letters were rescued from the kichen stove and are being held by the officers as evidence. The nature of their contents was not disclosed.

Mr. Wooley told the detectives he was awakened by his wife as she walked through the house, but he paid no attention to her movements. The next thing he remembers was being stunned by a blow on the head. He soon recovered from his daze and rushed to aid his wounded wife, he reported.

Both man and wife were taken to the Receiving Hospital where each underwent an operation by Police Surgeon Saverein. Mrs. Wooley's throat had been slashed from ear to ear, it was reported, and breathing was made possible by the insertion of a tube. She was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and removed to General Hospital. Mr. Wooley was removed to the Glendale Sanatorium catching him by surprise. French was not held.

Blaswich's wife, Winifred, 32 years of age, and their two other children, Kessel, 7, and Helen, 9, were injured. Blaswich suffered a broken shoulder; Kessel received a broken left leg and the others were cut and bruised. All were treated at the Receiving Hospital by Dr. Sebastian.

Miss Rowan, according to the police report, became confused in traffic while crossing in front of 1243 West Sixth street, and was struck by a taxi driven by Lester Kemp, 22. She was taken to the Wilshire undertaking rooms. Detectives Dryden and Wilson arrested Kemp and held him on suspicion of manslaughter, pending a further investigation of the accident.

J. Kirkpatrick of 205 West Fifty-sixth street suffered a fractured skull when his car struck a Los Angeles Railway trolley car at Redondo and Manchester streets. He was taken to Receiving Hospital. His condition is critical.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Cook of 1012 South Soto street suffered minor injuries when they were knocked down at Brooklyn avenue and Soto street. The car that struck them, according to police record, was driven by Frank Solomon, 27 years of age, chauffeur for Mrs. Beulah Barker of 2027 Highland avenue. Solomon was driving his own car, however, police said. He was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

CONFLICT NEAR IN FEE MYSTERY

Fee did not die a violent death on the lack of outward marks on the head such as would have been left if the skull were fractured. Drs. Tysinger and Hull, however, contend that Fee did die a violent death from being struck by a blunt instrument.

DOCTORS DIFFER

Dr. Tysinger declared yesterday that when he performed the first autopsy he chiseled away part of the bone around the place where he said he found a fracture. This left Dr. Wagner little evidence of a fracture, Dr. Tysinger said.

That the mark on the bone declared by Drs. Tysinger and Hull to be a fracture is commonly found in the head of a person who died a natural death, was the statement of Dr. Wagner.

Sheriff Shay expects today to receive the report of a noted criminologist, who is making an analysis of blood stains found on a handkerchief picked up in a cabin near where Fee's body was found, and is comparing a strand of hair caught in a dried clot of blood on the cloth with a lock of hair taken from the dead man's body. The expert has been making a thorough study of these clews in his laboratory in Los Angeles, Sheriff Shay stated.

Search for two persons, whose names have not been mentioned in the case, as those who may be able to help in a solution of the mystery, was still going on yesterday without success, the Sheriff said.

Inquiry at the Watkins home yesterday brought courteously but coldly the information from Mrs. Brent North, Miss Watkins's sister, that Miss Watkins was not at home and that anyone who wished to see her relative to the Fee case should see Miss Watkins's attorney, Waters of San Bernardino. Barks from a bristling terrier accompanied the information. Waters has asserted that the letters which his client wrote to Fee are her property, that they were taken from a box held in the name of the San Gabriel water district of which Miss Watkins was secretary.

BOX NOT RENTED

From bank officials it was learned that the box was not rented to anyone but that Fee, the bank's president, had a key to it and that the Watkins girl had another key to it—that it was carried under the name of the water district but without having been rented to the district, and that this was Fee's arrangement.

Mrs. Fee, who was near collapse again Saturday after the funeral, was somewhat more normal again yesterday, it was said at her home, and was taken for an automobile ride.

Sunday motorists in numbers passed the Fee and Watkins homes and turned curious glances in their direction. Both are on little frequented streets in different parts of Alhambra.

Among Fee's possessions are Alhambra and San Gabriel bank stock, Ohio telephone stock, real estate, stock in the San Joaquin Light and Water Company and other securities, the total of all of which has not been calculated.

Tomorrow directors of the banks will meet to consider the vacancy caused by their president's death. F. M. Townsend of San Gabriel, vice-president of both banks, is said to be among those principally under consideration for the presidency, but it is not known whether he would accept the responsibility for longer than a short time, if at all.

CAMERA HUNTSMEN RETURN

Thrills a-Plenty "Shooting" Whales and Bears Found in Polar Regions by Snow and His Party

A motion picture that should be popular in midsummer is one presenting scenes from the neighborhood of the North Pole, now being arranged into reels in a Hollywood studio by H. A. Snow of Oakland, who won fame for his African films shown throughout the country last year.

The African production featured wild animal life on the Dark Continent and its photography involved a greater number of hair-breadth escapes on the part of the intrepid cameramen than any previous picture. The Arctic film also is devoted largely to animals, and to obtain it the photographers encountered numerous adventures no less perilous than those in Africa.

FIGHT HUGE WHALE

Perhaps the most astonishing scene is the one showing a seventy-foot whale whose ire has been aroused by sundry indignities heaped upon him. The camera caught him just as he reared up about seventeen feet in an apparent effort to stand on his tail. How the small boat from which the "shooting" was done escaped being swamped by the big waves resulting from the frantic plunges is a mystery to the human participants in the affair and the whale is probably still wondering why he wasn't more successful in his destructive efforts.

Another notable scene shows a caribou herd, estimated at 10,000 animals, on their way to other pastures during the migratory period. There is also a herd of 5000 reindeer belonging to the aggregation of animals of this species now being developed in the Northland under the auspices of the United States government.

"One of our most exciting experiences was that connected with the filming of a 2200-pound polar bear," said Sid Snow, who was in charge of the expedition, which numbered fifty men. "After a considerable amount of hazardous maneuvering, we were able to lasso this beast on the edge of an ice field. It promptly plunged into the sea the moment it felt the tightening of the rope and we got a good picture of it while swimming. Later, we hoisted the animal on deck alive and with the lively efforts of all hands and an abundance of rope we were able to render it harmless. We kept the bear aboard until we reached San Francisco, where it was presented to a zoo."

Incidentally, the expedition made an interesting discovery on Herald Island, located near Wrangell Island, when it found the skeletons of four of the dozen members of the Stefansson exploring party who were left stranded in the vicinity of Wrangell Island when the explorer's ship, the Karluk, was crushed in the ice and went to the bottom in 1914. Eight of the party proceeded to Wrangell, where they were rescued after spending several months on the island. The other four decided to await rescue on Herald Island, but were not found when the ship arrived.

HEATH'S REQUEST UP TODAY

Finance Committee of Council Will Discuss Addition to Police Force

Police Chief Heath's request for 400 policemen to help toward reducing the number of traffic deaths and accidents will be considered by the Finance Committee of the City Council this afternoon. Originally, the Council, by a vote of five in favor and four opposed, ordered the Chief's request sent to the budget committee, which does not begin its sessions until next Spring. Then the Council reconsidered its action and by a vote of seven in favor and two opposed, ordered the report taken from the budget committee and placed in the hands of the Finance Committee which meets this afternoon.

In his report to the Council Chief Heath pointed out the appalling increase in the number of traffic accidents as well as the increase in burglaries and robberies and showed by charts how large areas of the city are not policed due to the fact that available policemen are placed on duty at busy street intersections. The Chief proposed to have the 400 policemen he is asking for all placed on the traffic squad, after special training at the Police School in this kind of work.

The traffic squad, he proposed, shall be commanded by a Deputy Chief of Police. Including the commanding officers for the new Newton-street police substation which will be placed in service in January 1, the salary of the new Deputy Chief of Police who is to command the traffic squad and the salaries of the 400 new traffic policemen, a total expenditure of nearly $400,000 will be required for the remainder of the fiscal year beginning July 1, last.

Mayor Cryer said yesterday that the traffic situation was so serious that he hoped that the Council would give favorable consideration to Chief Heath's request.

CRIME BODY TO DISCUSS YOUTHS

Monthly Academy Dinner is Set for Tomorrow

Mrs. E. K. Foster to Talk on Juvenile Problem

Head of Whittier School Will Tell of Work

Mrs. E. K. Foster, president of the Juvenile Protective Association of Los Angeles county, and Fred C. Nelles, superintendent of the California State School at Whittier, will be the principal speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Southern California Academy of Criminology, following a dinner tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. in Science Hall of the University of California, Southern Branch, 355 North Vermont avenue. Peace officers, magistrates and educators will be given five minutes each for brief discussions of matters touched on by the principal speakers.

The directors of the academy announced last night that Dan H. Stewart, investigator of psychiatric cases for the Los Angeles police department, has been elected chairman of the program committee. The program for January and February will include Harry Carr of The Times, several specialists of the Sheriff's office, Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Assistant Detective Captain James Bean.

The subject of Mrs. E. K. Foster's address will be "Juvenile Delinquency," and the fact that she has long been the president of the Juvenile Protective Association and has devoted the past twenty years in championing the rights of children has earned her the reputation of being an authority on the subject she will discuss. Her organization investigates complaints of neglect or abuse of children, bad home or neighborhood conditions, locates runaway girls and boys and either returns them to their parents or sees that they are placed in proper environment, and in general seeks to locate girls or boys who are showing signs of restlessness and who give indications of character defects which may make them problems if not given immediate attention.

Last year more than 600 families, with more than 1500 children were reached for the first time through the Juvenile Protective Association. These were new cases and were in addition to the many hundreds already taken care of by the organization during other years and still receiving practical assistance.

Mr. Fred C. Nelles has earned a nation-wide reputation in his work at Whittier, where he has had the support of several State administrations in changing an old-fashioned "house of correction" or "reform school" into one of the most successful educational institutions in the country. Mr. Nelles offers statistics to show that among the hundreds of wayward or delinquent boys sent to Whittier each year more than 80 per cent graduate and take their place in society with good jobs, maintaining excellent records as law-abiding citizens.

POINTS TO POWER OF CHRIST'S WORDS

"Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at Hand," is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. H. C. Culbertson at the Plymouth Congregational Church. Dr. Culbertson said in part:

"The word 'Repent' is like a sharp sword, piercing through all the armor of shams straight to the heart. This was the burden of the preaching of John the Baptist, and it was the text of Jesus's first sermon to the people who were as self-satisfied and self-complacent as our people are today. The keenest thrust and saddest of all sarcasms was Jesus's saying to the pompous and hypocritical Pharisees that there shall be joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth more than over ninety-nine who need no repentance. We need only use the key of repentance to open the gates and let the flood-tides of heavenly love, peace and good will pour down through all the dark valleys of life, putting out the hell fires of hate, greed, lies, prejudice, sloth and envy that are destroying our hearts and blackening our world."

CALLS LOVE SUPREME RULE OF UNIVERSE

"If the law of love were universally applied it would solve all the lawlessness of the world," declared Rev. W. C. Isett in his sermon yesterday at Amanda Chapel. In part Mr. Isett said:

"There is talk on all sides about the lawlessness there is in the world. Everywhere there seems to be a disregard of law. Now, sin is lawlessness, and the lawbreaker is a sinner. That applies as much to breaking the laws of health as it does the laws of the mind or spirit. Any broken law makes one a sinner. There are two things that make people obey the law, fear of punishment and love. The former works only when there is danger of being caught. The latter works all the time. That is the reason that the greatest law of all is that we shall love God with all our heart and our neighbor as ourself."

SAYS CALL OF CHRIST IS TO ALL HUMANITY

Rev. A. Hansen, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, preached yesterday on "The Call of the Master." He spoke in part as follows:

"Christendom has entered into the glad season which develops into the bright day that brings anew heaven's sweet message of grace for sinners. But a few days hence and in all the world the blessed message of the angel of the Lord will be proclaimed again: 'Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people; for unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior which is Christ the Lord.'

"Where Christ's call to come to him is heeded in uprightness, Christians will not only experience Christmas to be a most happy day for themselves, but will, too, find it a day which impels happiness to be carried into the homes and hearts of the masses who have no Christmas of reality, who have not yet learned that Christ's call is meant to be significant and saving for them also."

BELIEVES ALL TYPES OF MEN ARE NEEDED

Dr. E. F. Magnin, rabbi of Temple B'nai B'rith, preached last Friday on "Jacob and Esau." He said in part:

"The world needs both dreamers and practical men. We need laborers with brain and laborers with brawn. A man must follow the bent of his own nature to be happy. And society must make it in proportion to their efforts and responsibilities, minimizing the dangers and assuring a minimum of comfort and economic return of mutual helpfulness toward one another. They are brothers in the flesh and in the spirit, however they may vary in tastes and attitudes."

SAYS MATE THREATENED TO 'LICK' HER

Wife Also Asserts Mate, 61 Years Old, Seems Spry With Other Woman

Although Chauncey B. Harding swore in a deposition that he is 61 years of age and not able to work, he felt sufficiently vigorous to threaten his wife with a "licking," Mrs. Jennie A. Harding declared in her suit for divorce.

Also he seemed spry enough in the company of one Florence Ward, Mrs. Harding asserted.

The Hardings are engaged in a bitter legal battle over money matters and Florence Ward. It was during an argument over family finances that he promised her a "licking" if she persisted in her refusal to sign a $6000 check over to him, the wife said.

Mrs. Harding was refused alimony after a hearing before Judge Guerin recently in which she admitted that she had paid detectives $2000 to trail her husband.

Street Signal Requirements Given Makers

City Purchasing Agent Oughton today will distribute to manufacturers of automatic traffic signal devices printed copies of the proposed specifications for the 100 signals to be purchased and installed at busy intersections not now protected by signals. The City Council next Thursday afternoon will hold a hearing at which objections and proposed changes in the specifications can be submitted. The Council has expressed the desire to have the specifications "wide open," so that manufacturers and inventors of all types of automatic signal devices can bid.

ARREST TWO IN WINDOW BURGLARIES

Police Think Gem Thefts Solved as Pair Are Caught at Local Harbor

A dozen or more window-smashing burglaries are cleared up, according to Asst. Capt. Herman Cline of the Harbor district detective bureau, by the arrest yesterday of Tony Green, 19 years of age, and Norman Maness, 22. Green is said to be an army deserter. The pair were caught in the act, it is declared, of smashing a window at the Gold Loan and Jewelry Company store, 519 Front street, Los Angeles Harbor, and pursued by Officers Slaughter and Chenault. Maness, it was said, was caught in a hotel into which he ran, and Green was picked up later by Officer Fuller.

Questioned by Capt. Cline, they admitted burglaries in the past two weeks in Glendale, Hollywood, San Bernardino, Ontario, Riverside and other points in Southern California, Cline says. In their room at 714 Edgeware Road, the police declared, they recovered more than $3000 worth of clothing and jewelry, including a ruby taken from a Glendale show window.

THE RED PIONEERS

Nobody can question the Americanism of the new Republican leader in the United States Senate. Some of his ancestors were here before Columbus sailed the ocean blue.

DAMES AND DOGS

Styles in dogs change almost as often as they do in skirts. Now that the ladies are shearing their domes the short-haired dogs are being restored to fashion. They are supposed to match better.

BACK TO NORMALCY

President Coolidge and Director Lord have hammered the new national budget down to less than $1,500,000,000, which is getting it down to where folks may mention it without crossing themselves or shuddering. It is a vast sum of money, but there is a light ahead.

CRIME ORGANIZATION

Our latest sensation is an international ring of motor thieves. Five costly cars, stolen in New York, have been found to have been sold in Holland, although the method of getting them overseas has not yet been disclosed. The crime industry appears to be highly organized along special lines. Some of its circles are as wide as the globe itself.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

That the Longworths are expecting an heir is now being frankly admitted. It is even asserted that quarters in a Chicago hospital have been retained for the auspicious event. The Alice Roosevelt who was married out of the White House eighteen years ago has not been carrying out the traditions of her illustrious father and the family. But the Longworths have wealth and an ancient name in Ohio and it is well that there should be at least one heir. Americans will wish the family well.

CLOSE TOGETHER

The Conservatives and Liberals in England have grown to look very much alike. One must glance twice to be competent to tell them apart. At that, they are not vastly different from our own Republicans and Democrats. The White House fence is about all that keeps them apart. In the last election lots of Democrats felt perfectly at home in voting for Coolidge and, on the other hand, there were plenty of Republicans who admired and respected Davis.

THE FLYING BIKE

At Berlin an inventor is perfecting an aerial bicycle. He says he can pedal his way through a thick cloud. The Germans hope to stock the world with flying bikes. The cycle glider is reported as being an actuality and it may register in accordance with the inventor's promises. The propeller of the plane is said to be operated with less effort than walking and to be as efficient as if inspired by an engine. It seems that we are to be bicycle birds instead of angels.

ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY

With Secretary Hoover working on a program for the elimination of national waste and President Coolidge insisting upon further reductions in both taxation and expenditures it would seem that the citizen taxpayer might at least get a run for his money. It has been some time since serious efforts to reduce the load of the burden-bearers were being made. If Hoover and Coolidge were merely politicians their plans would be heavily discounted in the popular mind, but both are known as men of resolute action rather than emotional verbiage and therefore definite results may be expected. The nation is to be congratulated.

THE DELINQUENTS

The La Follette group in Congress having admittedly formed a third party cannot in reason object if they are treated as the representatives of any new party would be. That would not only restrict their representation on the regular committees according to their party strength, but would put them at the foot of the ladder. They would have to start afresh, as it were, and take their assignments at the bottom. There would certainly be no chairmanships for them. If the disturbers are not dispossessed from their present positions in the make-up of the major committees it will be because the Republican organization is big enough and sufficiently magnanimous to overlook their treachery.

LAWS FOR BANKERS

Congress is proposing to make certain changes in the national banking laws. Uncle Sam is a trifle worried over the number of national banks that have surrendered their charters for the purpose of reorganizing under State laws. For one thing, it is proposed to permit loaning of money on real estate security. This denial has been quite a handicap to the national banks and there is no justifiable warrant for it. It is certain that land has become the favorite security in America and loans upon real estate are considered the soundest of investments. There is no reason why a national bank should be permitted to loan funds on a man's note and not be allowed to loan it on Broadway realty.

WAR DEBT HAZARDS

Refunding war debts is a problem for financiers and economists, not for politicians. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Commerce Hoover are probably better posted on France's ability to pay than any other men in public life; but in advising the President and Congress on the question of the proper solution of the French war-debt problem their combined ability will be put to a severe test.

Advices from Washington and Paris are to the effect that the French government will not accept the Socialist policy of debt repudiation, although the Socialist sentiment is strong in the French Chambers; but the French representatives assert that their country is willing to pay, but not able.

There is no disposition on the part of the American government or people to play the part of a Shylock. They realize the sacrifices that France made during the World War, which are reflected in the present exchange value of the French franc; and they have no desire to impoverish the French people to repay the American loan. But they also realize that France was the greatest beneficiary from the Treaty of Versailles. She regained Alsace and Lorraine, something she lost while trying to fight Germany alone and something that she could never have recovered single-handed. The mineral deposits in this territory represent more money than the entire French war debt. She occupies again the position of the leading country on the continent of Europe, a place that she lost for more than 100 years, the result of the Napoleonic wars of aggression.

But France has not yet regained her productive energy of the years before the war. She is the second colonial power, but her colonies cannot be looked to for the funds to repay the war loans. Colonies are as often liabilities as assets.

The French have a special plea to make to this country in regard to the war loan, which, with accrued interest, now amounts to more than $5,000,000,000, that does not apply to England and our other war debtors. During the War of the Revolution France loaned money to this country under terms and conditions somewhat similar to those under which the present loan was made. At the end of the war the colonies were without funds, and the terms under which the French King consented to the refunding of the debt are terms which France might be willing to accept at the present time.

But our own government is not, morally at least, wholly free to act. The refunding of the English debt established a precedent. If more favorable terms were granted to France the English could accuse us, with a show of reason, of being unjust; yet any attempt to modify the terms of the English repayment agreement would meet opposition in Congress and probably could not receive Congressional approval.

Here is where politics enters into the question of war debts. A proposal has been made that the money paid by France should be reloaned by our government for a term of years to French industries. Financiers and economists might agree that this is the best solution. But what would happen to it when it was forced to run the gauntlet of party opposition in Congress?

Political interference will complicate the labors of Mellon, Hoover and the President's other advisers. They must first come to an agreement with the French commissioners that will be acceptable to the French Parliament; and they must then secure Congressional authorization to put it into effect. Whatever conclusion they reach will be denounced by the Democratic and radical opposition in Congress, for purely partisan reasons. The President's advisers are too wise to make the best the enemy of the good; but the attempt to guess in advance the temper of Congress looks like an extra hazard.

If the politicians could be ignored in both the American Congress and the French Chambers an equitable solution of the problem could be reached, but politicians are as inimical to good government as cyclones and droughts to good harvests.

BABES FOR THE CHILDLESS

For reasons best known to the medical fraternity, one in nine married couples in this country is childless. By a strange perversity of fate there are more than twice as many children born into the average poor family than into the rich. In what would seem to be an attempt to even up these conditions nature puts it into the hearts of wealthy and well-to-do childless folk to adopt poor children. Never before were there so many of what may be called initially childless couples, and there probably never was a time when there were so many adoptions. There is a commendable enthusiasm for the adoption of babies in New York and other eastern cities. Hundreds of persons are acquiring the rights and incurring the responsibilities of fatherhood and motherhood by conferring upon helpless, unknown waifs the privileges belonging to the relationship of a child to its natural parents. The societies that place babies for adoption have long waiting lists of applicants. The orphanages and other asylums cannot begin to fill the demand for children that seem to give any sort of promise of healthy development of mind and body. The State Charities Aid Association of New York has on its list the names of over 600 women who are eagerly waiting to press to their breasts as many homeless little ones.

The high rate of mortality incident to the separation of a babe from its mother, usually about 50 per cent, according to medical observation, has resulted in a great hesitancy on the part of asylum managers to agree to such a proceeding. In these days mothers, even of illegitimate children, are encouraged and aided to keep their babies until such time as the turning of them over to foster parents may be deemed advisable. Formerly the separation was made with little regard to the consequences.

On the recommendation of ministers and psychiatrists women who drink or who are in a way to become drug addicts sometimes try to adopt children on the theory that the satisfaction of the maternal instinct will cure them. Charity institutions, however, will listen to no pleas from such sources. They consider the effect upon the child's future, and so they closely investigate the habits of each applicant.

Girls for adoption are said to be in better demand than boys, though it is admitted that they are a greater care. A foster father thinks a daughter will pay him more attention than would a son, and rich mothers want girls to dress as they would dolls.

Some of the best business and professional men in the country have had foster parents. In California one of the great railroad magnates, now deceased, was a foster child. He was one of the few of his millionaire associates who developed a high appreciation of art and literature. In adopting a child of unknown antecedents there is less risk than generally is insisted upon by the confirmed eugenist or the person full of the theories of heredity. Environment is now believed to count for more than Galtonian abstractions or speculations. To be sure, racial characteristics of visage will obtrude themselves, but moral and intellectual training generally will efface bad family tendencies. And the most learned and liberal authorities on heredity now agree that about all one inherits from a progenitor in the matter of maladies or immoralities is a tendency and not the evil itself, and often the tendency can be removed.

Perhaps the acceptance of this comforting hypothesis by many childless couples has been one of the causes for the greatly increasing number of child adoptions.

PASSE ISSUES

Americans have been fooled for generations with the word play of politicians. Every campaign year a new set of politicians with new catch words strut about the stage. We set them down pretty accurately at what they are worth. We know, for example, that the "progressiveness" of La Follette and his legislative raiders is an arbitrary adoption of a good word for vote-tickling purposes only, and in reality conceals job-seeker's itch with the ancient political cosmetic of general donatives and popular flattery.

"The people," also, is a phrase used and misused too long to mean anything when shouted by selfish politicians during a campaign for votes. American political experience has gone far enough to make the average voter cheerfully skeptical of campaign oratory. Our danger is not so much in our impending conversion to any of the humbug doctrines which go into the shadowy platform of the third party, as it is in the cynical nonchalance which the political insincerity of many generations of American politicians has bred in us.

Our trouble is less wrong-thinking than light-thinking. The national mind is none the healthier for this streak. La Follette poses as a "Progressive!" Political bunk was invented with the first election and bunk we have had with us ever since. The menace in this country is not a political one. The La Follette raid is not likely to get very far. The menace is a deeper one; it is in a people's economic education. La Follette but rides the age-old urge to beat the game, to get ahead without pains and effort, to get something for nothing, not money, necessarily, but the soft things of life.

In a community which depends for its existence upon the thinking capacity of its electorate the danger of La Follette's school of economic education is great. Politically, in this campaign, it will count for little, because in an atmosphere of banalities no "issues" will be taken seriously unless they mean something near and concrete, as his do not. But for his campaign to be possible at all means something. What it should mean is that the good citizenship of America accept the challenge to resist utterly the doctrine of special economic interests, as now preached by La Follette in the crusade of small special interests organized under his leadership into voting groups to prey upon the nation at large.

The menace of legislative banditry may be more apparent in ordinary times than it is right now, but its injection in this campaign should prepare honest people to oppose progressively the dishonest or misguided ones whom La Follette is teaching that all paths lead to the public's trough which, under his system, we are told, nobody need ever take the trouble to refill.

Morley on India

The Duke of York, suggested as Viceroy for India, is called too youthful and too inexperienced for the position. There are also family considerations which must keep him at home. From the correspondence between Lord Morley, when Secretary for India, and Lord Minto, the Viceroy, one may gather an idea of the tremendous task of any man tackling the Governor-Generalship of the Indian Empire. There are the eternal quarrels and difficulties between the civil administration and the commander-in-chief of the forces. In Minto's time the commander was none other than Lord Kitchener. Morley's letters, full of wise and liberal counsel, given from "the safe distance of England," looked somewhat ridiculous and impractical to the Anglo-Indian press. Morley admitted that it was not possible or desirable or even conceivable to adapt English political institutions to the nations who inhabit India. But he thought the introduction of the spirit of English institutions a different thing. It is worth recalling Morley's advice to Lord Minto in regard to the growing discontent. "How could we best procure an abatement?" he asks. "Clearly by trying to give the agitators as little to cry about as possible; to blow off gas in talk and articles; and never to meddle without clear and established prospects of breach of the peace." That's what Morley meant by the English spirit. It happens also to be the spirit of liberalism.

Though the Heavens Fall

In Germany the editor of Die Rote Fahne, the Communist paper, is sent to prison for printing an excerpt from the works of the Poet Heine. The Magistrate wanted to get hold of the writer, but was informed that he was buried more than sixty years ago in the Pere la Chaise Cemetery in Paris. This recalls the story of George Bernard Shaw, who was told by a young Londoner that he had been haled to court and fined for reading Shaw's "Unsocialist Socialist" in the street car. "You got off light," Shaw wrote back to the young man. "Think what you would have got if you had been caught reading the New Testament." Notwithstanding, justice must be done though the heavens fall.

RIPPLING RHYMES

DOING IT EARLY

I'm starting on my Christmas shopping long weeks before the day arrives; from store to store you see me hopping, to purchase dolls and butcher knives; all kinds of doodads I am copping to send to people and their wives. Long, long before the bells are pealing my Christmas junk will all be bought, the holly stuff to deck the ceiling, the dope for Yuletide willis-waught; contented then I shall be feeling, peace will pervade my dome of thought. And, having done my Christmas labors, I'll sit at ease and smoke cigars and watch my mad and frantic neighbors go chasing to the toy bazaars to buy the children wooden sabers and Noah's arks and small tin cars. They'll carry bundles by the dozen, they'll push and shove and groan and sigh, and roundly cuss the aunt or cousin for whom some present they must buy, with weary clerks around them buzzin', and locoed shoppers crowding nigh. It is a thing of stress and trial, this shopping when the rush is on; but Christmas suffers no denial, you must buy snuff for Uncle John and for his wife a white rose phial, and for the niece a skirt of lawn. And as you blow your hard-earned coppers, pushed you and hither by the crowd, exuding cuswords that are whoppers, your whiskers torn, your spirit bowed, I'll thank, while gazing at the shoppers, the sense with which I am endowed.

Phillip Spencer, Samuel Cromwell and Elisha Small of the U.S.S. Somers, a brig of war, were hanged for mutiny in the year 1842. They were convicted of a plot to murder the officers and turn the ship into a pirate cruiser. This is the only instance of punishment by death for mutiny in the history of the United States Navy.

SOME REFLECTIONS

BY J. A. GRAVES

"Glory be to God on high! We have had an election and conservatism defeated radicalism. The Constitution stands intact. The Supreme Court will not be subservient to the corrupt radicals of Congress. Prosperity, with all her blessings, will remain with us. Labor will be employed. The marts of trade will flourish. Manufacturing on a more extended scale will be in order. Soup kitchens will not disgrace us as they did during the early part of the Wilson administration.

And California (God bless her!) has purged herself of the yellow streak of Johnsonism. She has redeemed herself. She gave President Coolidge a magnificent majority. She did this without the aid of that utter failure as a statesman, Hiram W. Johnson. Any lip service he rendered during the campaign was rendered to La Follette. What a pitiful, craven position Johnson now occupies! After having devoted fully ten years of his life to the attempted destruction of the Republican party and having denounced every man in it of any prominence, he had the audacity to offer himself in the Presidential primaries as a candidate for President of this great nation! He was self-conceited enough to imagine that he could be elected. He could not grasp the fact that Mr. Coolidge's honesty and fearlessness had taken hold of the affections of the people sufficiently to render him invincible at the primaries.

With a blare of trumpets and loud declamation, defamatory, denunciatory and blazoned with demagoguery, he deserted his seat in the Senate and made a canvass for the nomination. He was so ignominiously defeated that all hopes of political resurrection are lost to him. He was simply obliterated. Like La Follette in the last election, he carried one State. He proved himself to be neither a good sport nor a good politician. He sulked when defeated.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Of course, Johnson has long been riding to a fall. The reason is obvious. There has never been anything to him. He is not a great lawyer. He has never been connected with a single celebrated or important civil case in California. True, he did get soundly trounced as the attorney for Hearst in an eastern cause, but Hearst's lawsuit was neither celebrated nor important. In 1910, after Judge Lovett of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had announced in several magazine articles that the Southern Pacific was out of politics and ordered all of the employees of the road to keep their hands off of political matters, Johnson played four-flusher and in strident tones announced the falsehood that he would kick the Southern Pacific out of politics. On this cry, because both of the old parties were disorganized, apathetic and without leaders, he won.

Johnson's campaign was not for reform; it was for political power, political loot. Every so-called reformer who joined forces with him was rewarded with a position, sooner or later, at the public feed-trough. If my memory is correct, even Marshall Stimson was the attorney for one of the commissions that Johnson called into life. Then Lissner, never of marked ability as a lawyer or as a business man, got his reward where the feeding was good. There is irony in the case of Lissner in that, holding a Federal position, he was unable, if so inclined, to assist Johnson in his Presidential aspirations.

Ex-Senator Frank P. Flint, one of Johnson's warm supporters, never, to my knowledge, received a reward, in the shape of any official appointment for his Johnsonian loyalty. Possibly, being allowed to act as the manager of the mighty Hiram in this section, was sufficient reward for him. Then, too, he was allowed to bask in the graces of the greatest gubernatorial failure California ever had, "Don't-Let-Them-Fool-You" Stephens. Flint, after his years of loyalty to the impossible Hiram, must have felt highly complimented by that portion of the latter's famous letter to McClatchy which stated that his friends in Southern California (of course, including Flint) were without political influence. By doing valiant service for Coolidge in the late election, Flint has done much to regain his former position in the Republican party.

JOHNSON'S RACE RUN

In the face of the Republican majority in California, in the face of the universal indorsement of the voters of this nation of President Coolidge, whom Johnson outrageously abused, Hiram can never come back. His political race is run. He will be without recognition or influence in the Senate for the rest of his term, and he will never again be elected to that position from California. The Southland, which now holds the balance of voting power, has already three times defeated him and has two men in training, either of whom can take Hiram's scalp at the next Senatorial election, if he should have the effrontery to offer himself as a candidate. Without patronage to dispense, Johnson is as powerless as Samson when shorn of his locks. Patronage was the only magnet to popularity which he ever possessed.

And how about Mr. Seavey of the Railroad Commission? He was groomed for Governor, if reports are true, but he spilt the beans when he openly declared for La Follette. He will never make the grade. Union-ridden Northern California may attempt to do something for him, but Southern California will swamp his aspirations. The south has no use for La Follette or any of his supporters.

It does a loyal citizen good to see how hard the brazen, foul-mouthed La Follette fell. With him, the hoary-headed English importation, Samuel Gompers, who has been against the American government ever since he was naturalized and who has defied the Constitution, defied the decisions of our courts and ordered his followers to disregard injunctions, has also gone down to ignominious defeat. Hereafter the labor vote will not be a heavy one for candidates for office. Any man with the courage to defy the unions will win, anywhere, any time, in America, just as the people of Texas has won all of their fights.

THINGS THAT HELP

The most glorious result of the election is the retirement of that bucolic buccaneer, Magnus Johnson of Minnesota. That fake and traitor to the Republican party, Brookhart of Iowa, seems to have pulled through by the skin of his teeth. He has a contract in his hands for the office of Senator for Rest assured he will put no obstruction, comfort or assistance to any true Republican. If the people of Montana could have been given a free hand, my cup of happiness would have overflowed.

Wheeler, who made the boast of himself of all the wets and radical bunch, in his campaign for Vice-President, is not a resident of the woods. He is to be put on the indictment rendered against him. He may be convicted, but he and my end were to be the same, I could say, with Wolfe, "Now, on the Heights of Abraham, 'Now, praised, I die in peace!'"

Nearly all members of Congress who are dodgers of the Constitution have either been put out of business or their venomous fangs have been drawn by the election of intelligent loyal Americans to office, so any of their efforts hereafter in behalf of will hear less in Congress than the legislative bloss.

Little will be accomplished, probably, between December 1 of this year and March 1 of 1925, but after that, look out for vicious legislation. Taxes will be reduced, government expenses curtailed, the public debt lessened, the burden of all the people considerably removed.

The finest thing in the political history of America was the inaugural address of President Coolidge. The evening before the election three demagogues, David Reed, Borah and Hiram Johnson, tried to catch the labor vote, advocating the modification of injunctions in labor disputes.) the wild-eyed La Follette and the unspeakable Wheeler (campaigning while he was under the influence of liquor) abused the President without stint and to verge of indecency. In his last speech which President Coolidge delivered he never mentioned one of them. He never referred to them. He asked no man to vote for him. He made no promises. He appealed for good citizenship, for obedience to the laws, for honesty and efficiency in government affairs, for reverence for the Constitution, and exhorted all the people to vote in their interest in the government by voting, and to vote as their conscience dictated. Again I say, a finer exhibition of true manliness was never given in a political campaign in this country.

THE NEXT JOB

Now that the good people of Los Angeles—by far the greatest city of the Union west of the Rocky Mountains—have so magnificently aided in giving the country a God-fearing, law-abiding, peace-loving sustainer of the Constitution for President, for the next four years, it should turn its attention to securing a Mayor and a Council in keeping with the commanding commercial importance of this city. The people should now serve notice now that, at the election next May, pinheads will not be tolerated. The city wants a big-minded, able, business executive at its head; a Mayor with courage, fearless, honest, possessing a full share of energy and loyalty to the interests of all the people, and not one or temporarily residing in Hollywood must not have a weak, vacillating Mayor to disgrace it by his commission appointees, appointees who would seem from their records to be, on account of fitness or ability, because they were tools of the former chief politicians. It wants a Mayor who will appoint a fearless, honest Chief of Police; one who will see to it that the laws are obeyed; that life and property will be safe; that those who will keep the streets safe to run; who will make no peace with the criminal; who will not be influenced by any boss, be he a gambler, politician, an ex-saloonkeeper, banker or political-interfering preacher.

We had an able Chief of Police in Vollmer, and he was thrown out of office. Get another man without any flaws in him and put him on the job.

The city wants Councilmen of ability, who will not be given to wrangling and calling each other dishonest. Every one of the present Councilmen who indulges in such practice should realize that the people, they publicly, in so-called debates charge each other with dishonesty, the man on the street can see the charge as the truth. It is a shame that the Councilmen cannot understand the moral issues involved themselves better than the outside public. No Socialist, trailing the red flag or badge of dishonor and anarchy, should be elected on the Council, nor should there be a rabid labor-union delegate. Let the vote most of his time to looking after his comrades from the bottom ranks in soft jobs, at high salaries and abundant opportunities for graft. It is safe to say that whether the present Mayor and the majority of the Councilmen or the minor officials of the city ever earn their present salaries in private life.

The city wants a business administration of a great business institution, which will mean a saving on upward of $20,000,000 annually. There are enough honest men in this city to secure such a government, if they will get out and work for it. They cannot secure a good government, however, until "let George do it," when election comes around.

The Woman and Her Job

By Kathleen Norris

[Questions concerning the problems of women will be answered in this column if addressed to Mrs. Watrous at The Times.]

THE ONE WHO STAYS HOME

We were sitting together, we three . . . the brilliant woman I had been sent to interview and her sister. It had been one of those delightful human experiences of two people meeting for the first time and suddenly establishing an intimacy that usually grows out of years of friendship.

She didn't wish to be interviewed; it wasn't because she detested publicity, in fact she had invited me for nearly a week. When I had 'phoned her the day before she was leaving she said: "Oh, well, I have about ten minutes before dressing for dinner; you can get more than interests the public in that time." You'd hardly call that a pressing invitation, would you?

But somehow when she opened the door of her suite and we stood looking each other our hands met in that warm clasp there is no mistaking.

Have you ever thought about hand-clasps? Volumes could be written on what not to do when shaking hands. It's curiously identifying. There's no mistaking that limp hand that slides out of sight on the instant touch. There is the crushing grip of the too-cordial type that sets nerves on edge. Each tells its own story.

After such a friendly heart-warming contact as this woman and I had there at the entrance to her temporary castle all barriers were down.

We laughed a little over my determined pursuit of the interview, for she was just kind and human enough to be a little ashamed about it.

"A subtle newspaper woman on the make," she said. "they always talk about my blue eyes and yellow hair, and describe me as the domestic home woman. I never have time, to be that, and when I read in print it fills me with resentment."

Being interested in the work women are doing in the world it never would have occurred to me to touch on that side of the interview. I said so, and she laughed back. "No, you wouldn't; that's why I'm sorry I didn't see you earlier in the week."

As we talked about her interesting career, her sister came in. She was as tall and slim and dark as the other was short and round and fair. Somehow we skidded off on a delicious tangent and the clever one said:

"We had a great argument over that gown Cyle is wearing. She is always trying to buy inexpensive things, and I'm too busy with my own affairs to bully her into buying the gowns that suit her."

There was no doubt about its suitability. It seemed to have been designed by some artist who knew that perfection of line really counts. Yet it was so disarmingly simple. And I said just this and more.

"But terribly expensive," suggested the sister called "Cyle." "You see, I shouldn't really care if I earned the money, but I'm only the stay-at-home housekeeper and that was all the fairy godmother got."

"Cyle always makes me feel like a stingy husband. She can't seem to make [illegible] understand that I never could have forged ahead as I have done if I had allowed the thought of ordering the groceries to interfere with the job."

"But that's nonproductive," Cyle protested. "I haven't been an asset, I've just been a source of expense."

"Now, I'll leave it to Mrs. Watrous," countered the other, "if the business of keeping the home, and making it the place that delights my soul when I have finished the day, isn't a big part of the success I've made. After sister got out of school I objected to her going into business, then mother was ill a lot, and when she passed away we just went on as before. Whenever I got a rise, or made a change that increased my income, I increased her allowance.

"There are too many women in the world who belittle the importance of home-making. I can't buy what Cyle provides . . . there isn't a club or a hotel that can create the atmosphere of a home. Perhaps I am the typical home woman these newspaper interviewers have talked about. Since I haven't time to make that home, then I think it's only just to be generous to the one who does.

"Men wouldn't have had women competing with them in the business world if they had seen that the homekeeper was just as important as the man who made the money downtown."

"Anyhow this 'simple frock' as the saleswoman called it cost a scandalous lot of money . . ." but Cyle never was allowed to finish.

"So did mine, and there's no reason why I should be reckless and you niggardly. . . ."

We called a truce at that, but I've thought of that conversation many times since then.

Did that clever blonde put her finger on the "feminist movement"?

ANSWER TO QUESTIONS

Dear Miss F.: This work is usually under the direction of the production manager." Go to the studios and see what you can get in the way of an apprenticeship in designing sets. If you fail to make a connection then try the house furnishing stores. After you have investigated the studios you will have a better idea how to approach the work you wish to do. In the meantime you would be wise to do a lot of reading on stage craft, or better still take a course in that work.

Dear Mrs. T.: I have forwarded your letter concerning the knitting machine to the man whose query I answered in a recent issue. I've also made a note of your address and will be glad to pass it along to anyone who may be interested.

Dear Olive: Mastering the operation of any calculating machine depends upon the individual and the concentration given to the work. If you can operate a typewriter the route will be shorter, but from thirty to ninety days is the usual time.

JUANA NEAL LEVY

An interesting report just received from Paris tells of the celebration in the French capital of the Thanksgiving holiday in true American spirit with roast turkey, cranberries and "all the fixins," the affair this year being very elaborate. Corresponding celebrations were also the order of the day in Geneva, Switzerland, where there are many Americans on account of the official delegation from the American government, which crossed in the George Washington. There was a gala dinner followed by a dance at the Hotel Beau-Rivage, Thursday evening, among those present being Rt. Rev. Charles H. Brent, bishop of Western New York, and Stephen Porter of the House of Representatives, Surgeon-General Rupert Blue and Mrs. Hamilton Wright. The dinner was presided over by Lewis W. Haskell, retiring American Consul-General at Geneva and among the honor guests was E. Tickney Tuck, newly appointed Consul-General and his bride, the former Miss Beatrice Beck, daughter of James M. Beck of the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C. The Riviera is also attracting many American visitors for the holidays, as well as Switzerland and the French capital. Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff of 1260 West Adams street, who crossed on the Homeric November 22, will pass the winter in Paris. She is accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Bernard George Heyn (Lelia Holterhoff) of New York City. Hon. and Mrs. Percy A. Brooksbank, the latter formerly Miss Annabelle Ralphs of Los Angeles, are planning to enjoy the winter at their villa on the Riviera after their return from their wedding trip. The wedding was one of the brilliant events in the American colony of Paris, taking place at the American church, November 24, last.

For Bride-Elect

Miss Olga Simpson, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simpson, whose wedding with Henry Bishop Grandin will be one of the events of the 10th inst., is not accepting many invitations before the wedding, but many plans are being made for post-nuptial affairs after her return from the wedding trip. Miss Marion Wigmore, daughter of the George Herbert Wigmores of West Adams street, who will assist as maid of honor at the wedding invited a coterie of intimate friends of Miss Simpson for an informal tea and chat Saturday afternoon. The tea table was centered by an immense basket filled with autumn fruits and foliage, thirty-five guests responding to the telephonic invitations. This afternoon Mrs. George Rampb Martin (Byrd Wallis) has asked a dozen in for an informal luncheon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wallis in Harvard Boulevard, and Thursday afternoon Mrs. John Carruthers, sister of Mr. Grandin, who has come recently from Washington, D. C., to make her home here is entertaining with a luncheon party at her home in San Rafael avenue, Pasadena, for her new sister-in-law.

Christmas Sale

The Christmas doll and toy sale of the Children's Hospital salvage department will open today at the salesroom, 712 Maple avenue. Mrs. Walter Brode and Mrs. Rufus Horton have collected all the broken toys and dilapidated dollies and have mended and repaired them and dressed the dollies in charming frocks made from bits of silk and lace, which will grace the sales tables and it is hoped will clear a nice sum for the fund of this worthy philanthropy. Those in charge of the affair include Mrs. Budd Frankenfield, Mrs. Brode and Mrs. Horton assisted by Mrs. Harry Baldwin, Miss Florence Hunt, Mrs. C. B. Bryant, Mrs. Waller Taylor, Mrs. Albert Crutcher and Miss Helen Matthewson.

Afternoon Tea

Mrs. Herman H. Kerckhoff of West Adams street entertained informally with a charmingly arranged tea Friday afternoon honoring Mrs. D. G. Stephens of Santa Monica, who is her house guest. Autumn flowers and fruits graced the tea table where Mrs. William Stephens and Mrs Reynolds presided at the tea urns. Fifty guests called to greet the honor guest.

Felicitations

Capt. and Mrs. F. H. Nichols of Menlo avenue are receiving congratulations over the recent arrival of a tiny grandson, born to Mr. and Mrs. John O. Moseley of Oklahoma. Mrs. Moseley was formerly Miss Marie Nichols and the little laddie came the 6th inst., and has been named John Nichols Moseley.

In Java

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wallis and their daughter, Miss Etheiyn Wallis of Harvard Boulevard, who are enjoying a tour round the world are now in Java and are planning to make their next visit in India, where they will be for two months. From India they will go on to Italy, reaching there early in March, and later will journey to Egypt before touring France and the continent.

For Returned Voyageure

One of the many delightful affairs of last week was the luncheon and bridge given at the Los Angeles Country Club by Mrs. George Benjamin Hull, honoring Miss Gwendolyn Longyear, who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Douglas Longyear, have just returned from an extended trip abroad. Young.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Home Tailoring

When hubby's dark serge suit looks hopeless because of shine, sponge it with hot vinegar and then press in the usual way. He will get a month or so more out of it at least.

Flakes in Lieu of Soap

If you have never used soap flakes for dishwashing try it some time and see if you don't like the quick suds they make better than that eternal "washing the soap" to make a lather. Very few flakes are required in the hot water and a box will last a long time.

The Fur Rug

The white fur hearth rug requires its fall laundering just like any other winter accessory. It may be washed without fear in lukewarm water and soap suds, rinsing in clear water of the same temperature. After drying in a good breezy place, rub a little linseed oil on the back of the skin.

ALMANAC SEASON

"I've brung home a couple of omenicks for you," said Gap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge, upon returning from the county seat, flinging them into his wife's lap.

"Aw, shucks," returned Mrs. Johnson. "Omenicks are all alike these days and none of 'em much account."

THE WISE HENS

The teacher had been lecturing his class on the wisdom often displayed by animals and birds. He compared it with that of human beings, to the latter's disadvantage.

Having finished his discourse, he invited his pupils to ask questions on the subject. Percy held up his hand.

"Well, Percy," said the teacher, "what is it you want to know?"

"I want to know, sir," replied Percy, "what makes hens know how big our egg cups are?"

"NEIGHBORLY DISEASES" (Part I)

SCARLET FEVER

"Doctor, I believe my neighbor's child has scarlet fever. I suppose Vivian will have it sooner or later and I might as well expose her to it?"

I looked at my questioner gravely. She was the mother of a dear little girl I had had charge of since birth. "I love Vivian," I answered. "I love her dearly. I'll adopt her if you don't want her."

"Why, doctor! What do you mean?"

"Would you leave some bread and jam sprinkled with poison within her reach, because sooner or later she might get some poison anyway?"

"Doctor! That would be deliberately poisoning my baby and perhaps killing her!"

"Well, that is what you would stand the risk of doing by deliberately exposing her to scarlet fever, or to any of the other infectious diseases of childhood."

"But, doctor, isn't it true that all children may have these diseases and sooner they have them the better?"

"No, No, NO!" I'm afraid I almost shouted at her. "No! That is a double pernicious falsehood, mother. In the first place, children do not have to have these infectious diseases; in the second place, the older they are when they contract them, the greater are the possibilities of their recovery . . . But what do you mean by 'believing' the neighbor's child has scarlet fever?"

"Well, the child began with a severe headache and vomiting and sore throat and fever, and then a day later, she had a bright red rash, and her skin, after a few days, is beginning to peel."

"But hasn't your neighbor had a physician and isn't the house quarantined?"

"No, doctor, she doesn't believe in 'medical doctors' and in the 'germ theory' of infectious diseases, and she is caring for her little girl herself. The child is not having a severe case. That is one of the reasons I though Vivian might as well—"

"Excuse me, Mrs. B.," I interrupted, as I took the receiver from my telephone and notified the Health Department to call on Mrs. B.'s neighbor. A busybody, was I? No, I was simply doing my duty in the prevention of a disease and possible death.

I explained to Mrs. B. that the idea that the infection contracted from a so-called mild case would also be mild, is another one of the erroneous beliefs concerning the infectious diseases, and these mild cases represent a serious menace and one of the greatest sources for the spread of the disease. I emphasized to her that it was not only the infectious disease itself which is to be dreaded, but the complications of the disease which quite frequently follow it—complications involving the kidneys, ears, joints, hearts, glands, etc.

Questioning Mr. B. I found that she had not visited her neighbor's house and that there had not been any neighborly borrowing—simply a conversation carried on from window to window. From this I was sure that Vivian had not been exposed yet, for the infectious agent in scarlet fever is now thought to be a type of the Hemolyticus Streptococcus germ, present in the discharges from the nose and throat or from suppurating ears or glands of a case.

Anything that becomes contaminated with these discharges might be the agent transferring the germs, and therefore the disease, to a susceptible person who came in contact with it. We call such contaminated things "fomites." The word "fomite" is taken from the Latin word meaning "tinder," or something that starts a flame. You can see that human beings, dogs, cats or other pets, flies, insects, and inanimate objects such as food, dishes, books, toys, etcetera, can act as fomites.

Vaughn calls scarlet fever a "neighborly disease" because one of the greatest factors in its spread is the exchange of things which have become "fomites." Of course, the disease is communicated by direct contact, also.

Half-Million Dollar Fire Razes Pressed Brick Plant

FACTORY BURNS; MANY JOBLESS

Near-by Building is in Grave Danger for Time

Four Alarms Bring Out All Available Apparatus

Over Three Hundred Men Out of Employment

Fire which early yesterday swept through the plant of the Los Angeles Pressed Brick Company, located at Date and Petrol streets, caused damages estimated at half a million dollars. The figures were given out by Howard Frost, president of the concern.

As a result of the devastating fire, Mr. Frost announced, the entire plant will remain shut down for about three weeks and will result in 310 laborers on the company's pay roll and a large force of technical men being thrown out of work for that length of time. He said the loss would be between $400,000 and $500,000.

The fire, which necessitated the turning in of four alarms, was a spectacular blaze which raged for over three hours before it was brought under control. The fourth alarm brought every available fire-fighting unit in the downtown district and reserves from outlaying stations to the scene. Three wings of the big factory building were destroyed. Heroic work on the part of the fire-fighters, however, saved the company's large warehouse, machine shops, kilns and offices. A cordon of police was thrown about the site to keep back a throng of sightseers.

The blaze, which is believed to have originated in the engine-rooms, was discovered shortly after 4 a.m. by Robert Carlos, night fireman, who turned in the first alarm.

For a time the flames threatened the near-by plant of the Wilson Packing Company.

Production by the brick company will not be discontinued, two of the concern's other three plants being equipped to handle the company's output, it was announced. The fire loss is partly covered by insurance.

Take them off when you buy paints

(We mean, of course, that you should not let cheapness blind your buying vision.)

—you're wasting money buying inferior paints just because of their first cost per gallon.

—good materials and high-grade workmanship cost money. You know that.

—Mathews high grade paints are 100% Pure—the formula appears on every label.

—They cost no more and often less to put on than inferior paints.

—They last longer—look better and preserve the surface better.

—Because all surfaces worth saving should be repainted at regular intervals, you will find Mathews Paints leave a superior surface for repainting and costing less for labor and material for renewal.

—Mathews Paints require less frequent renewal.

Every home owner should investigate this matter of Paint Quality before blindly buying the cheapest thing offered. It's far too costly to put on paints that don't cost enough to warrant the manufacturer putting in materials that will give you service.

Picked Workers to Make New Effort to Reach Goal in Little Campaign

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

Workers of the Community Chest campaign, although released from their volunteer duty last Wednesday, are responding willingly to the call for a few more days of service in the final clean-up effort to be conducted to reach the full goal of $2,522,405, President R. W. Pridham of the Community Welfare Federation states.

In this clean-up work or "little campaign," the full organization will not be used it is stated. Approximately 350 picked workers will participate in the effort to obtain the 750 subscriptions of $100 each needed to wipe out the deficit against the campaign goal and thus obtain a number of pledges previously made, contingent upon this goal being reached.

The meeting at which names selected by the Community Welfare Federation executive committee will be assigned to workers for solicitation will be held in the Biltmore supper-room Wednesday noon. A report meeting at which returns on the final week's efforts will be announced will be held Wednesday, December 10.

The clean-up effort will not resemble the main campaign, it is stated, as no daily rallying or report meetings will be held. No public solicitation will be carried out, but the workers will confine their solicitations to those people whose names have been assigned to them. Contributions from those who were not solicited and who desire to aid in wiping out the deficity are still being received at headquarters, 911 South Grand avenue.

MATE HARD TO PLEASE, SAYS WIFE

Asserts Her Husband Even Complained of Trousseau; Files Maintenance Suit

Harry L. Carpenter, who conducts drug stores at 801 South La Brea avenue and at 5201 Wilshire Boulevard, is a carper, according to the separate maintenance suit of his wife, Rose L. Carpenter.

Nothing she could do pleased him, Mrs. Carpenter related.

He even complained about her trousseau on their wedding trip, she said.

They were married in Fayette county, Pennsylvania, June 1, 1922. On their wedding trip, Mrs. Carpenter said, the bridegroom began to express dissatisfaction with his nuptials.

"You don't suit me. You have no clothes. You have no money. Get out," was the way in which he tersely summed up his disappointment with the situation, the complaint read.

Furthermore, Mrs. Carpenter related, she once trailed him to New York, where he went on a business trip and there found him in company of three women whose bearing aroused her wifely suspicions. A few months after the wedding, she said, he deserted her and left her with no provision for support. In Pennsylvania this is a criminal offense, and she declared that she had instituted proceedings against him, and that he is now technically a fugitive from justice.

IMPROVEMENTS ORDERED

GENEROUS RAINS FORECAST

Father Ricard Predicts Mid-December Showers; Sunspots Seen as Weather Factor

Generous rainfall throughout Southern California after mid-December is forecast by Rev. Jerome S. Ricard, venerable "Padre of the Rains," in a report yesterday to Thomas P. White, a State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus and a leader in the national movement for a memorial observatory to Father Ricard.

In his report the famous weather prophet and astronomer stresses the value of sunspots in predetermining weather conditions on the earth.

"Old ideas about the sun are falling off like autumnal leaves, and disintegrating like false creeds," he says. "Sunspots are now recognized as important factors in forecasting weather conditions. Formerly spots on the sun were entirely disconnected from the weather—now they are entirely connected."

Father Ricard's schedule for December weather follows:

The 1st, 2nd and 3rd insts., small insignificant depressions arriving both north and south with scanty rains in the Northwest and Southern California; hardly any in Central California where good weather will prevail.

The 4th inst., fair, with some cloudiness.

The 5th, 6th and 7th insts., fair all over the Coast. Cool waves and high barometric pressures over the central Coast from the 2nd to the 8th insts., inclusive.

The 8th inst., continued fair, excepting western British Columbia, Washington and Oregon, where a disturbance will land.

The 9th and 10th insts., fair in Southern California; rain over the North Pacific States; partly cloudy centrally, with slight sprinkles.

The 11th and 12th insts., some rain on general coast, Southern California not excepted.

The 13th inst., general clearing amidst clouds and showers for Central Coastal California.

The 14th inst., generally fair.

The 15th inst., a disturbance of serious character landing over the western sections of the North Pacific States, to be continued on the 16th inst., and free to roam at will down the Coast even so far as San Diego. Brisk to high south winds and rains expected.

The 17th inst., cloudy with occasional breaks.

The 18th inst., nearly fair.

The 19th inst., a minor depression arriving both north and south, with its conjugate area of high pressure between, dispensing some rain in the northern sections of the Coast and possibly in the south also, with cloudiness in Central California and sprinkles.

The 20th insts., general cloudiness with breaks and sprinkles for the central part of the State.

The 21st inst., cloudy and rainy over the Coastal Northwest, fair in Central and Southern California.

The 22nd inst., disturbance of previous day continued, intensified and expanded, likely to take in Southern California also. Some rain nearly everywhere this side of the Sierras and beyond. Cool waves and high pressure areas arriving on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th insts., harbingers of fine weather.

The 23rd, 24th and 25th insts., fair and fresh north winds.

The 26th inst., getting disturbed by Vancouver and roundabout, cirrus clouds in California not marring the fair. Fields of high pressure in the making.

The 27th inst., general debacle ending in fair.

The 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st insts., fair.

FERRER MAN OF MYSTERY

Wife, Business Friends Unable to Throw Much Light on Murdered Chemist's Past

A veil of mystery surrounded the activities of Fred W. Ferrer, French experimental chemist, found murdered last week at Lankershim, according to Assistant Captain of Detectives Bean. Capt. Bean said yesterday that after much questioning he has learned that the friends, associates and wife of the murdered man knew only a few obvious facts concerning his past.

Capt. Bean questioned a number of business associates who worked in the same laboratories with Ferrer, but they all said that Ferrer was mysterious in his actions, confided nothing, but apparently had much business which he kept to himself. Capt. Bean was seeking in past enmities some clew to the murder.

AIDS INVESTIGATORS

Mrs. Ferrer, whom he married two years ago, was in San Diego yesterday with friends. She cooperated with investigators, but was unable to furnish much evidence.

Ferrer came to this country from France five years ago, and had been in Los Angeles more than four years. He worked for several wholesale drug companies that are now searching their files to aid the police. He also worked for the Yucatone Chemical Products Company, said Capt. Bean, but the employees there could not help the investigation. Ferrer formerly lived at 160 West Fifty-ninth street.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Davis and Capt. Bean are convinced that the murder was committed by a Latin knife fighter of fiendish ferocity. At least a dozen wounds on the head testify to the brutality of the slaying, while a terrible gash in the front of the head appeared to have climaxed the attack by causing death. The throat was cut so deeply that muscles far from the surface were severed. This mutilation was performed while the body lay on the floor, and was done carefully to insure death, the officers believe.

LURED TO COTTAGE

The investigation is being conducted on the assumption that Ferrer was lured to the isolated cottage by men intent upon obtaining valuable formulae which he had worked out secretly. The formulae were upon such subjects as poison gasses and perfumes.

Capt. Bean stated that valuable assistance would be rendered the police department if he should be given information by citizens who observed a car equipped with balloon tires in which were men with blood on their clothes, or a car with blood on the windshield or steering wheel. There was evidence at the scene of the murders that the killers became covered with blood which they did not remove there.

ZONE CHANGE ORDERED

City Attorney Stephens has been directed by the City Council to prepare an ordinance placing both sides of Seventy-third street, from Enghth avenue to Van Ness avenue, in Zone B, permitting flats and apartments to be built there.

LOEW FILM GOOD

LEW CODY RUNS OFF WITH ACTING HONORS

By Grace Kingsley

"In every love affair, there is always a kisser and a kissee—and God help the kisser!"

That's the theme of "So This Is Marriage," down at Loew's, which is convincing enough to make you exclaim: "So this is marriage."

Carey Wilson's characters and action ring true. Hobart Henley's direction and bits of business are perfect. If the psychology of the story isn't deeply penetrating, it is at least true as far as it goes, for its action grows out of character. Stripped to the bones, the story is about the husband who loves his wife better than she loves him simply because he is more capable of loving than she is; the wife who has been brought up in luxury, and who isn't really to blame for her extravagance; and the other man, who loves all women, and who loves the heroine a little more than any other woman, but understands his own limitations.

The deepest thing about the picture—the most life-like effect—is the manner in which sympathy shifts from one character to another. You don't sympathize with the husband a bit, for instance, no matter how fine he is, when he makes his wife come home from the reception and washes the paint off her face, nor when he almost insults her for riding home from the country with another man when her car breaks down. But you would like to take her across your checked apron, too, when she is selfish.

There is one brilliantly ironical sequence, brilliantly put over by Lew Cody, who, craftily telling the married heroine the story of Uriah and David, finds she is weeping at the death of the child. He watches her narrowly, and decides right there that she is in love with her husband, that she will continue to weep, that he doesn't want her, and that, what is more, he doesn't want her to want him. Thus skillfully he leads her to think she is giving him the conge. But there's just a little more to it than that, too—which is a fine touch. There is just a suggestion that he really could love her more than any woman he has ever known—but he that knows his own limitations—and hers. Of course, there are people who will feel that all those classic jazz revels of David's court were dragged in.

Cody, to my mind, is the real star of the picture. His work is almost entirely put over through mentality, concentration of mood, and what is perhaps the most mobile and expressive masculine face on the screen. His is a real characterization of many moods and characteristics.

The Techni-Color process of color photoplay is used for making the Biblical scenes. And to me it is always like being let out of a black and white prison to see this exquisite color process on the screen. Mabel Julienne Scott is gorgeously beautiful as Bath-Sheba, wife of Uriah, especially in the undress scenes. The original couldn't have been more lovely.

Eleanor Boardman, intense little elf, intelligent and skillful, is splendid as the wife; and, of course, Conrad Nagel is great as the husband. Everybody in the cast is excellent, with Shannon Day doing a piquant bit as a telephone girl, Miss Dupont coldly fascinating as Cody's mistress, with Clyde Cook in a part that didn't give him much chance, and other big names cast in small parts.

Even this reviewer found herself gasping at the gorgeous loveliness, the startling novelty of Fanchon and Marco's Revue, the Sphynx of the Nile. Fanchon and Marco evidently have read about Earl Carroll and aren't afraid to stage ladies in the altogether, or at least in the almost-altogether.

MISSING GIRLS ARE ON VIEW AT CAMEO

Missing girls are usually, according to cold, hard statistics, missing because they want to be. They leave home because they don't like having to stay home nights, or because father and mother aren't tactful, or because they fall in love with some man, or because they don't like to wash dishes.

But as long as we have pictures, I suppose somebody will break out on the screen with stories like "Missing Daughters" down at the Cameo, in which macks and pimps are shown as kidnapping girls in airplanes and taking them to South America. To be sure, these girls in the story are first lured to a tough cafe, and maybe that part is more or less true to life.

To me, "Missing Daughters" missed more than the daughters. It misses convincingness on all four. It has too much plot, or, rather, too much action, and there are moments, as when Eva Novak is gagged and bound and thrown into the cellar of the cafe, when you seem to hear the honka-tonk music that went with the good old serials about "The Iron Claw" and "The Man Without a Face."

In the first place, to criticise the logic of the thing, there isn't a bright young secretary in the world that wouldn't get onto the fact of her employer's real business. Especially if she was in love with him. So you couldn't possibly waste tears over Eva Novak's thinking her lover-employer was philandering at the low cafes, when in fact he was a secret service man, though pretending to be a stock broker.

There are some bewildering details, too. Who was driving those airplanes, for instance? There didn't seem to be room for all those folks, and you never never caught a glimpse of the drivers.

You know the worst when you find the chief procurer had a convent-bred daughter whom he forsook in her babyhod. Sure she turns out to be one of the kidnapped girls!

Rockliffe Fellows is attractive and clever enough to make almost any picture worth sitting through, to my way of thinking, and he almost makes you believe "Missing Daughters." Eva Novak is sincere and pretty, while Claire Adams and Eileen Percy, Walter Long and the other players do what they can with a story that just seems to run on and on.

There is a Neely Edwards comedy that is quite funny, especially the underwater stuff.

But the program isn't up to the usual Cameo standard.

LONE DOG STAR OF "SILENT ACCUSER"

Peter the Great Keeps California Feature Above Water

BY KENNETH TAYLOR

It's too bad dogs can't write scenarios. Since they can act in pictures and show up so many of their fellow-human actors, it's reasonable to suppose that they might also put it all over the usual run of the gentry who construct photoplay plots. At least, this wouldn't have been so hard in the case of "The Silent Accuser," the Jack Boyle story in which Peter the Great stars at the California this week. If Peter ever saw a motion picture before in his life, he must have laughed up his sleeve or behind his ears or wherever it is dogs smirk, every time he thought of the thing he was perpetuating for posterity.

This story made a hit in the palmy days when any picture that moved was a knockout, and has been used relentlessly ever since. A year or two ago it was shelved—and then they started bringing it out when a crop of talented dogs put in appearance. The only change is that the hero, instead of suffering from false accusation all by himself for five reels, now has a faithful four-footed companion to not only do most of the suffering by in some way or another apprehend the person who is really guilty, and then look bored to death while the happy young man folds the happy young lady in his arms and smothers her with kisses.

If you except the plot you'll find entertainment aplenty at the California. Peter the Great, a newcomer in the ranks of dog players, displays unusual intelligence and great camera presence. He never hogs the lens or overacts, and he isn't particular which side of his face is featured in the profiles. Would that all that could be said of more actors and actresses. In addition, the direction by Chester M. Franklin and the editing have been such that the dog performs few stunts so remarkably clever and thoughtful and premeditated that you just know it can't be real. On the other hand, he's just an ordinary dog with some extraordinary training and a lot of horse-sense—if that's what dogs have.

That rising young player, Eleanor Boardman, does so much with the inconsequential role of Barbara Jane that you don't mind its being cut and dried and bromidic at all. Raymond McKee, as the happy young man, also makes the most of a not-too-thankful role, while Earl Metcalfe, Paul Weigel and Edna Tichenor are other members of the cast.

Our Gang in "Fast Company" offers a number of hilarious moments, although the little rascals have done better in previous efforts. Carli Elinor's diversified concert is another feature of the program.

TWO BRIGHT SPOTS IN FORUM FEATURE

They've got you right where they want you at the Forum this week. There are two interesting sequences in "The Girl on the Stairs," and one of them is early and the other is late in the picture, so you have to sit through the whole thing if you want to get them both.

Perhaps it is coincident, but both of these points focus around the sleepwalking of the heroine, and while the first depends largely upon the interpretation of Patsy Ruth Miller in the star rôle, the other hinges on a bit of good dramatic construction that sustains interest even though you know the outcome in advance and most of the details.

The second episode is perhaps the most startling, for as the girl, placed in a trance at her trial for the murder of a neighbor, tells of her midnight somnabulistic journey to his house the night of the crime, the suspense created proves nearly as gripping as that of a hair-raising stage mystery-comedy, and that has never been successfully done on the screen before. Credit in this instance, probably goes to Elmer Harris, who adapted the picture from Winston Bouve's magazine story of the same name.

The first episode that stands out particularly opens the picture. It is a sequence that goes back four years from the story proper to establish the girl's habit of sleepwalking, which figures so prominently in the close, its cause and its supposed cure. Here we find Miss Miller as a girl of 13 years of age, gay, vivacious, and full of life as you could hope for, yet no more the modern young lady we meet later than you would expect in a lapse of four years. While her work at all times is good, that first little characterization seems to stand out a perfect gem.

Freeman Wood makes an engaging villain as the young married man whose longing to "play around a little" proves fatal. Niles Welch is the conventional hero, and Arline Pretty, Shannon Day, Michael Dark, Bertram Grassby, George Periolat and Frances Raymond are others of prominence in the cast.

Christie's "Why Hurry" presents a number of comic situations successfully, and Lo Wah, Cantonese prima donna; Ray Van and Esther Valey, in an offering of song and dance, and William K. Johnson at the organ are other features of the program.

"Lincoln" Once More Features Local Screen

"Abraham Lincoln," Al and Ray Rockett's filmination of the life of the Great Emancipator, is having a return showing at the Alhambra Theater this week.

This production was more than two years in the making, and at times as many as 2500 people appear in the cast. It deals with the life of Lincoln from his birth, through his boyhood to manhood, and unfolds his romance with Anne Rutledge, carries him through the Presidency and the strife of the Civil War.

George Billings portrays the role of Lincoln, with Ruth Clifford as Anne Rutledge and Nell Craig as Mrs. Lincoln.

NINE-ACT BILL

Nine acts will appear on the Orpheum bill opening today—one more than usual, but with no lack of quality through increased quantity. And in the list are two notable events—the first vaudeville appearance here of Miss Martha Hedman, the actress, and her company, in a playlet, "You Can't Beat Them," by Edwin Burke, and the reunion in vaudeville of Ed Flanagan and Neely Edwards, the hall-room boys of the movies, in their old-time skit, "Off and On."

PLAYDOM

THE ARGENTINE AGAIN

BEBE DANIELS AND RICARDO CORTEZ EFFECTIVE

By Edwin Schallert

Much gratification for those who like the tango with a tang. "Argentine Love" offers the paprika of personalities, and though it may not be the year's best feature by long glide and dip, it won't necessarily arouse the Defamatory "carambas," either, because of lack of tabasco.

The garnishings are fine, and Bebe Daniels is peppery, while Ricardo Cortez isn't all apple sauce either, despite certain resemblances in his role to those that have caused Valentino to be famous. "Argentine Love" really makes Grauman's Metropolitan a very agreeable place to spend a couple of hours, particularly as the news reel, the comedy and the orchestral and stage diversions are not wanting in entertaining ailments either.

Of course, these pictures about the Argentine are not the novelties that they once were. Valentino came forward with one in "The Sainted Devil," only last week, which is still running. There is a difference, though, in the Pampas as viewed by Rex Beach, and as seen through the eyes of Vicente Blasco Ibanez, of "Four Horsemen" fame. "Argentine Love," which owes its authorship to him, has much more atmosphere.

Ibanez seems to be rendering more or less valiant service to the films in supplying stories. Some of it is "less" rather than "more," but his plots are seldom deficient in the picturesque quality. His villains aren't all straight villains, who have to be knocked out by the hero, before they become reasonable. In fact, in "Argentine Love" the plot is so devised that the villain is next thing to a hero, and far more interesting as played by Cortez.

The only thing the hero does is rescue the heroine from being lashed to death by a mob of inconsiderate villagers, but that is quite enough. The only mystery is how he holds them at bay as well as he does, but then heroes in general, and even Ibanez heroes in particular, seem to be possessed of some sort of magnetism of personality that makes whole crowds run away from them, at least when they appear in the movies.

Altogether there are good enough twists in the plot of "Argentine Love" to overbalance any discrepancies. Though some of it drags a little, it is not at all slow at the finish. So if you have a little patience, the ultimate results are gratifying.

Miss Daniels looks prettier than usual, and a Latin-type of heroine is exactly the kind for her to play. There is a distinctly contrasting white and black motif to the gowns that she wears, setting off her presence very attractively. Nobody can gainsay that she troupes every minute. Bebe puts really an astonishing amount of feeling and sincerity into her scenes.

Cortez is assuming growing interest as a screen personality, and his acting is acquiring constantly better graduations. This picture, like others he has lately made, promises much for his future.

James Rennie looks stouter than the last time he appeared in the films. His role is not especially striking, but is capably done.

Julia Hawley is a great old character and brings the most laughter. She appears as La Mosca, the duenna for the heroine. And for once they did have a duenna for a well-bred Spanish girl.

"Argentine Love" is so much better as a piece of direction than Gloria Swanson's "Wages of Virtue," that Allan Dwan, who made both, merits very particular commendation, for her comeback in this latest. John Russell made the adaptation, and players that are in the film beside those mentioned, include Mario Majeroni, Russ Whital, Olive Chapin, Mark Gonsales—very good; and Jose Alessandro.

The comedy on the program is a clever Christie affair, featuring Neal Burns, called "Court Plaster." Creatore is applauded for his conducting of the orchestra, and the Four Dark Princes of Song meet with favor.

FAMOUS MUSIC DRAWS MANY

Yesterday afternoon the concert played by the Philharmonic Orchestra was one of those happy events which seemed to please all. The program was made up from famous, well-known and much-loved masterpieces, and the large audience was made up of that type of music lover which made the Bowl concerts such a practical success. These people came entirely with the purpose of enjoying the music—not to criticise it—and they were not disappointed.

Schubert's Unfinished Symphony—that almost saccharine "concord of sweet sounds," and the only composition in orchestral form by this composer which won for him immortality among composers—was undoubtedly the drawing card. This symphony may be enjoying especial popularity just now because of the fact that "Blossom Time," which is built around Schubert and themes from this symphony, has recently been played here with great success.

I looked for an unusual rendition yesterday, for the first eight measures were played with that pianissimo which is so appropriate with this number, and in many sections the performance was all that could be desired. Conductor Walter Rothwell's interpretation certainly was polished and reposeful. The music has become so well known that if anything new is to be accomplished in its rendition it must be in matters of dynamics. Since there are no very great climaxes, spiritual calm and quietness might well hold sway through the entire composition. Its melodies should ever be limpid, its harmonies quiescent, its messages lofty in simplicity.

Ruth May Schaffner, soprano, was the soloist of the day, singing "Agnus Dei" and "Il est doux" by Bizet. While her voice and stage personality do not equal others who have graced the stage at Philharmonic, nevertheless I received a real thrill from her rendition of these songs. Equally satisfying was the encore "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn, with harp accompaniment. Her voice is rich and warm; her tones are not entirely free nor without certain restraint, but she always gives pleasure. She was recalled many times, and her success was most gratifying. She has established herself, and very deservedly, in the affections of local concert goers.

GIVE UP SEARCH FOR AVIATORS

Naval Authorities Believe Further Hunt Useless

Flyers Either Lost at Sea or in Mountains

Doubted That Bodies Ever Will be Found

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 30.—Search for Harry E. Mitchell, North Island aviator, and his companion, Bisely Minor, who disappeared after going aloft last Sunday, has been abandoned, naval aviation authorities believing it would be useless to continue the hunt.

A dozen or more planes from the Naval Air Station have tried for several days to find some trace of the missing men, their search taking them seventy-five miles below the international border and for many miles at sea.

Numerous reports were received at the air station that an airplane, seemingly in distress, had been sighted last Sunday near the border. A stiff wind was blowing at the time and it is believed the plane either crashed at sea or was lost in the mountain fastness of Lower California. In either event, it is doubted that the bodies of the men ever will be found.

BEACH KLAN WANTS TO CLEAR ITS SKIRTS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 30.—The Long Beach Ku Klux Klan, in a letter today to City Manager Windham, offered a reward of $250 for the arrest within sixty days and conviction of two "hooded and white-garbed men," asserted to have mistreated three negro prisoners at the rifle range at The Willows on the 18th inst. The reward is to be doubled if the two men are shown to have been members of the Klan.

When the grand jury investigation of the affair is resumed Tuesday, Chief of Police Yancey, Detective Sergeants Brockley and Jensen, Jailer Morrison and Assistant Jailer Lysacht will appear as witnesses.

The negroes declare police officers took them from their cells and turned them over to the white-robed figures, who flogged them and strung them up by the wrists in order to make them confess burglaries of which they were accused.

ORANGE AUTO DEATH TO BE INVESTIGATED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 30.—Differences in stories of witnesses subpoenaed to tell of an accident in which Julian Dabalos of Orange sustained fatal injuries caused a Coroner's jury sitting here to demand an investigation of the tragedy. K. L. Corrington of Riverside, truck driver, denied his vehicle was the one that knocked Dabalos from his bicycle, near Olive, the impact causing internal injuries that resulted in death. Six witnesses to the accident, however, identified Corrington's truck as the one involved. Dabalos, 24 years of age, died at the County Hospital late Wednesday.

SAN FERNANDO, Nov. 30.—The San Fernando Board of Trustees has granted a forty-year franchise to the Los Angeles Midway Pipe Line Company, with the agreement that the company will be permitted to lay pipe lines in certain streets not improved for the transportation of oil and gas. By the granting of the franchise the city will come into a fairly large profit each year in revenues from the pipe line concern.

"Naw, miss, not a bit! I've bin a-skeerin' the crows with it all the week!"—[Tit-Bits.

CHOP WOOD AND GET FREE MEAL

City Manager Announces Pasadena Soon to Have Woodpile

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

PASADENA, Nov. 30.—Chop wood and get a free meal. This is the sign City Manager Koiner proposes to tack up over the city's gates of welcome. A municipal woodpile will soon be established where men desiring food and lodging may swing a mean ax for a few hours and acquire these comforts.

In the olden fables Little Tommy Tucker sang for his supper, but in Pasadena it takes more than a song to obtain a square meal. When a man chops his quota of wood at the Pasadena woodpile he is given his dinner and a place to sleep for the night.

The advantages of the municipal woodpile to the poor and needy are twofold; first, it provides the chopper with food and shelter, and, secondly, the wood thus chopped will be distributed free of charge to all needy families in the city.

FIFTY THOUSAND IN VALLEY

New Population Figures for San Fernando Cities Indicates Constant Growth in All Section

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Nov. 30.—New figures show that there are approximately 50,000 persons residing in San Fernando Valley, including the section of Chatsworth near the western part of the valley, and the city of San Fernando on the north. Figures are based on the new compilation made by the Los Angeles Directory Company, and attested to by civic statisticians here and various towns of the valley.

San Fernando Valley is bounded by Girard on the far west, Lankershim on the south, Burbank on the east and San Fernando on the north. Within the radius of these four towns the total population, including Van Nuys, the "hub" of the valley, is estimated at very nearly 50,000 persons.

MANY OLD RESIDENTS

The directory company gives the valley nearly 20,000 names. These persons are the home owners and ranch owners who have resided in San Fernando Valley for a long period of time, and do not include the thousands who have come into the valley permanently since the figures were compiled.

Taking 20,000 as a basis for conservative estimate, the population of each town and settlement is increased two and one-half times to reach the figure, $50,000. By some this is regarded as a very low estimate, most families in the valley towns numbering at least four or five persons.

The new estimated population figures are as follows: Burbank, 12,263; San Fernando, 12,767; Van Nuys, 11,785; Lankershim, 6250; Girard, 225; Owensmouth, 2817; Chatsworth, 530; Reseda, 1230, and Zelzah, 787.

FAIR ESTIMATE

It is possible that the above figures may exceed the conservative estimate. On all the principal highways connecting the various valley towns are hundreds of families who are not listed, and there are many new families who have settled in the valley and purchased acreage within the last few months. Careful compilation indicates that when these are added to the figures, 50,000 is a very conservative estimate on the valley's population.

Pasadena Out to Older Boy Scouts Parley

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 30.—Invitations were dispatched today to the California State Older Boy Scouts' Conference now in session at Diamond Camp, Oakland, to hold their 1925 conference at Camp Huntington, the camp owned by the Pasadena council of the Boy Scout organization. The telegrams were sent by Stuart W. French, president of the Pasadena council, and head of the City Planning Commission of this city; William Dunkerly, secretary of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce; and Hiram W. Wadsworth, acting Mayor of Pasadena.

All the telegrams urged that the next conference, that is to be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday following Thanksgiving Day, be held in the Crown City. The Older Scouts' Conference is composed of Scouts over 15 years of age, and holding some of the highest ranks in the organization. Each council is entitled to send eight Scouts and two leaders to the sessions. The majority of the Scouts are of the Eagle rank, the highest grade. About 200 boys attend these conferences each year.

One of Oldest Physicians in State Called

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 30.—Dr. John L. Dryer, one of the oldest practicing physicians in California, died at his home here today at the age of 79. Dr. Dryer continued to practice medicine until about ten days ago, despite his advanced years.

He leaves a widow and two children, Attorney George W. Dryer, of Los Angeles and Miss Katherine Dryer, a teacher in the Polytechnic High School of Los Angeles.

The funeral will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the First Methodist Church here.

Dr. Dryer was graduated from DePauw University and the Cincinnati College of Medicine. He came west and settled in Eldorado county, California, in 1876, and removed to Santa Ana in 1889.

GARAGE WRECKED BY BLAST OF TORCH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, Nov. 30.—With a blast which shook the entire city of Clovis ten miles south of here and sent practically all the inhabitants rushing from their homes an acetylene torch in a garage exploded this evening, destroying a portion of a wall of the building and breaking windows and showcases. No one was injured, and firemen extinguished the flames before further damage was done.

TWO MORE VALUABLE RINGS REPORTED GONE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 30.—Two more valuable diamond rings valued at $1000 each were reported missing from the South Orange Grove avenue mansion of Miss E. R. Lutz, Pasadena millionaire. Several days ago $500 worth of silverware was taken from the Lutz home, but was later recovered by detectives when they arrested Joseph T. Traynor, Miss Lutz's gardener. The loot was found in the gardener's trunk and he is now in the City Jail charged with burglary. The discovery of the loss of diamonds mystifies the police.

Traynor, a man of 71 years of age, has been in the employ of Miss Lutz for four years and was considered one of her most loyal servants. As he was given complete access to the fashionable home, it is impossible, the police say, to prosecute him on a felony charge. It was further indicated that because of the extreme age of the gardener, he might have become mentally feeble and, therefore, not responsible for his acts.

BURGLARS ACTIVE

Long Beach Business Houses and Residence Robbed

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 30.—Three burglary jobs, all productive of valuable loot, were reported to the police during the past twenty-four hours. One of the victims was Harold Rhyne, shortstop for the San Francisco team of the Coast League, whose apartment at 840 Junipero avenue was entered and two valuable gift watches stolen.

A large showcase in front of Silverwood's Haberdashery Store, 116 Pine avenue, was broken open and clothing valued at more than $200 stolen. H. Mokindo, 1765 Pine avenue, was the third victim. Burglars entered his apartment during his absence and made off with $13 in cash and valuable jewelry.

PROSPERITY SPECIAL PLANS ARE COMPLETE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Nov. 30.—All is in readiness for the great "Southwest Prosperity Special" that starts from here on next Thursday noon and will traverse various other cities in this section of the county. The response has been most gratifying from these other communities, according to Ross Porter, chairman in charge of this "get acquainted" motor tour. The plan is for each community visited, after a half-hour conference, to fall in line with as many decorated cars as possible, making the balance of the trip to the other towns on the itinerary. Hawthorne has not only sent word she will participate, but will bring her caravan to Inglewood and start from here. Mr. Porter is asked to be the guest of the Redondo Chamber of Commerce at the Elks' Club tomorrow in order to outline plans to them, Hermosa has accepted the invitation to participate, and so have other communities.

BAKERSFIELD WANTS HUNGARIAN FARMERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—The California Cattlemen's Association co-operative marketing project was indorsed today by the board of directors of the Kern County Chamber of Commerce. The latter organization appointed C. H. Nichols to represent it tomorrow at the meeting of the San Joaquin Valley Aeronautical Association in Tulare, at which time air mail routes will be discussed and the possible establishment of a field in Bakersfield is to be considered.

The Chamber of Commerce directors voted to welcome the proposed colonization of 1000 Hungarian farmers in Kern county and Leigh H. Irvine, chamber secretary, was instructed to visit Los Angeles county, where the leaders of the project and many of the Hungarian agriculturists now reside, for the purpose of furthering the project.

GLENDALE BALL PARK IN RUINS

Flames Almost Totally Raze White Sox Grand Stand

Discovered Shortly After Game With Giants

Fire Official States Opinion it Was Incendiary

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Nov. 30.—Flames almost completely destroyed the grand stand of the Glendale White Sox Baseball Park this afternoon. The loss is estimated at $2000.

The fire was discovered at 4:45 p.m., shortly after the game between the White Sox and the St. Louis Colored Giants. The ball Park is located between San Fernando Road and the Southern Pacific Railway tracks near Park avenue.

Owing to the dryness of the lumber in the grand stand, firemen were unable to keep pace with the flames, and the structure was so badly damaged that officals said it would be necessary to wreck it.

One of the fire officials of Glendale stated that he is of the opinion that the fire was of incendiary origin and that an investigation would be made.

Firemen finding they could do nothing to stem the flames in the ball park turned their efforts to saving the houses and other buildings near. Two horses were rescued from a barn adjoining the grand stand.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 30.—The Alhambra Community Theater was launched last week when a program comprising two one-act plays, readings and musical numbers was presented at the Woman's clubhouse.

John Steven McGroarty, one of the prominent sponsors of the theater, was an honored guest, and in a brief address urged everyone in the community to stand back of the enterprise. Gretchen Hensel Copper, dramatic reader, also spoke, advising the young people to take advantage of this medium of self-expression. Percy Challenger, English actor, gave a number of humorous monologues and pianologues, and Frieda Mueller Sterling sang a group of songs.

The next community theater program will be given during the Christmas holidays, Mr. Sterling announced.

HOLD-UPS FRIGHTENED WHEN TOLD TO SHOOT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Nov. 30.—Placing a greater value on his money than he did on his life saved both for Peter Luporini of 136 Geary street yesterday morning, according to police records.

Luporini, on his way home after an evening spent with friends, was accosted at A and Fresno streets at 2:40 o'clock yesterday morning by two armed men who emerged from a near-by automobile.

Leveling their revolvers at his head, Luporini told Sergt. John G. Moran, the pair commanded him to hold up his hands, so they could rob him. Luporini demurred, informing them, "shoot if you want to, but I will not give you my money," and the pair fled, evidently awed by their victim's temerity.

CUTS EIGHTH CROP OF ALFALFA IN YEAR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Nov. 30.—The eighth crop of alfalfa hay for the season is the remarkable record of N. G. Perkins, Corcoran rancher. He has cut and cured seven crops and the weather being too cold now for hay making the last crop is being cut and fed green. Newly seeded alfalfa is growing nicely, despite the fact that frost has been heavy in the mornings much of the time recently.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 30.—City officials holding elective offices will receive substantial increases in salary, in some cases amounting to 100 per cent, if plans of the charter revision committee are carried out, it was revealed today.

No formal recommendation for the increases will be made, however, until the proposition has been put in legal form by the City Attorney, it was said.

The latter would benefit by an increase from $5000 to $10,000 a year, the City Auditor would receive an increase from $3000 to $5000, police judge from $3000 to $5000, City Assessor from $3300 to $5000 a year, and members of the City Council from $50 to $100 a month.

Zelzah Pickle Plant to Start on Repack Job

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ZELZAH, Nov. 30.—The Zelzah plant of the H. J. Heinz Pickle Company is about to start on its repacking season, it is announced here by Manager J. M. Williams, who is getting together a crew for the work. The entire season's crop, with the exception of 500 barrels which will be sent to the Compton plant, will be repacked here, furnishing much work to skilled factory hands. This repack is a part of the work of putting up pickles each year. Williams also announces that the Heinz concern is now planning to double the cucumber acreage in this vicinity which next year will call for an increase in plant facilities and the employment of many more workers. It is probable that the working force in 1925 will be more than doubled. The Zelzah section of San Fernando Valley is specially adapted to the growing of the various varieties of cucumbers, and each year the Heinz company puts up thousands of barrels of pickles at its plant here.

DIVISION TO BE PROPOSED

San Bernardino Favors Two Fire Districts in Angeles National Forest and Use of Planes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 30.—Dividing of the Angeles National Forest into two districts, one comprising the San Bernardino Mountain territory, will be recommended by the Board of Fire Review to the United States Forestry Bureau, it was decided at a conference here.

The use of airplanes in a fire patrol and the establishing of lookout posts high up in the more remote districts will also be advocated by the board, it is probable. In the event that the forest is divided into districts, San Bernardino will become headquarters for a new division.

Scores of property and resort owners of the San Bernardino Mountains met at the conference with the board, organized by Col. W. B. Greeley, chief of the United States Forestry Service. Francis Cuttle of Riverside, a member of the board, approved the project of dividing the forest as a means of affording better protection against the ravages of fires.

John Anderson of San Bernardino, an extensive property owner in the mountains, suggested that owners of summer homes in the mountains organize volunteer fire fighting corps to assist rangers during the summer months. He pledged his aid in organizing a group of workers in various districts from Pinecrest to Big Bear Valley.

Dr. J. N. Baylis, owner of Pinecrest, declared the government should establish camping grounds where the building of fires would be prohibited. Dr. Baylis opposed the proposed charging of $1 for an annual fire permit to campers, asserting that if such a charge is imposed, sanitation in the camp grounds should be provided by the Forestry Service. Other proposals at the conference were: the investing of police power on rangers and fire wardens. Closing of certain areas permanently to campers. Registration of persons entering the fire areas throughout the year. Establishment of nurseries to care for the reforestation work in the San Bernardino district. An educational campaign to more forcibly impress the losses and irreparable toll of forest fires.

SEES BEACH ACCEPTANCE TOMORROW

Harbor Board Expects to Make Formal Appointment Soon Afterward

The Board of Harbor Commissioners at its meeting tomorrow afternoon at its offices in the Harbor district is expected to receive from Maj.-Gen. Lansing H. Beach, U.S.A. (retired) a written acceptance of the board's offer to the general of the position of consulting engineer of the Harbor Department at a salary of $1000 a month.

This will be followed by the board's formal action in appointing Gen. Beach, the employment to continue until July 1, when the department will be reorganized under the provisions of the new charter. It is probable that the approval of the City Council will be required to the board's action in employing Gen. Beach.

The board at its meeting on Friday referred to the Consulting Engineer plans which will be awaiting his action when he takes office, for a new wharf to be built at Berths 235, 236 and 237, to cost $195,000, the purchase of an additional piling to complete Pier 229, and the plans for a slip forty feet deep at Pier 1 in the Outer Harbor, formerly occupied by the United States Submarine Base.

The board may take action tomorrow on appointing a Harbor Engineer to succeed J. W. Ludlow, whose resignation takes effect January 1. George F. Nicholson, port engineer of Seattle, has been mentioned for the position.

LAYS FOUR THUGS LOW WITH FISTS

Garage Man is Victor in Battle Royal; Bandits Flee Empty-Handed

Engaging his opponents in a five-cornered fistic encounter early yesterday morning, H. Cunningham, garage attendant, emerged victor from an impromptu battle royal when four bandits attempted to hold him up in his place of business at 221 East Sixth street.

Cunningham was surprised by one of the gangsters who attempted to slug him from the rear. Wheeling about and placing a well-directed blow under his attacker's chin, the agile garage man laid his first opponent low. Amazed at the prowess of their intended victim, the other three ruffians put up half-hearted defenses in sparring with the hefty mechanic. Cunningham's first opponent regained his feet and fled through the front door, followed in hasty retreat by his three badly beaten companions.

The hold-up men took nothing in their attempted robbery, Cunningham reported to the police.

LONG-DISTANCE PHONE FOR CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

Czecho-Slovakia is about to install its first long distance telephone line. E. B. Blumgrund, works engineer at the Kabel Fabrig Aktien Gesellschaft in Bratislava, has been in Chicago for three months studying American methods of manufacturing long distance telephone apparatus at the Hawthorne works of the Western Electric Company, having previously spent several weeks at the company's laboratory in New York. He is about to return to his native land to supervise the manufacture of the new cable. It will consist of two sections, the first to connect Prague and Colin, a distance of sixty kilometers. The total length of the line will be about 300 miles. It will extend from Prague, the capital city, to Bratislava.—[Telephone Press.

TAXES REVEAL PROSPERITY

Comparatively Few Take Advantage of Privilege of Making Four Payments on Incomes

Reflecting convincingly the healthy condition of business in Southern California, only 17,000 bills for final payment of the 1923 income tax will be mailed to Southern California taxpayers today, it was announced by Collector of Internal Revenue Goodcell.

In other words, out of 282,000 persons who made income tax returns last March, only 17,000 took advantage of the privilege under the law of making four quarterly payments, the last being payable not later than December 15.

Goodcell's figures show that 265,000 of the total returns had been paid in full before the third payment was due on September 15. Under ordinary circumstances, he said, about 70,000 bills are sent out for the December payment.

The collector explained that the December bills allowed full credit for the 25 per cent reduction allowed under the Revenue Act of 1924, and that the amount on each bill was the net balance due.

With the taxes on 1923 income cleaned up by the December payment, the Revenue Bureau is preparing to send out income blanks on which 1924 incomes will be reported. Three hundred thousand taxpayers will receive these blanks which will not be sent out until after January 1, 1925.

"These 300,000 blanks for the 1924 income reports will be a pleasant New Year's gift to the people for they provide for sweeping reductions in income tax rates," declared Goodcell.

CAR MARKS TO BE CHANGED

Numerals Will Replace Letters on West Adams and Lincoln Park Trolleys; Terminal to Be Altered

Numbers will be introduced as street car route markers on North Broadway, North Main street and West Adams street next Wednesday, when the use of the letter "A" on West Adams and Lincoln Park cars will be discontinued, and the north terminal of line "L" will be changed in a rearrangement of service recently approved by the Board of Public Utilities.

Service over North Broadway and Lincoln Park avenue to Lincoln Park will be given by cars marked with the numeral "3" in the roof sign instead of the letter "A." There will be no change on this line.

Line "L," which now runs by way of North Main to Lincoln Park and Selig Zoo, will use North Spring and Bellevue street, near the Plaza, as the north terminal, and service over North Main street will be given by cars marked with the numeral "2" in the roof sign.

Cars "2" and "3" will serve West Adams street jointly, but will divide at the Plaza to serve North Main and North Broadway, respectively.

On the West Adams end, route "2" cars will terminate at Second avenue. Route "3" cars will run through to the far terminal at Glen Airy.

The only change in routing affects patrons on North Main street, as the route "2" cars which will serve this district will run through the downtown district on Hill street. The line "L" cars now running to North Main use Broadway.

Under the rearrangement the turning back of cars at Avenue 20 on North Broadway, and Lamar street on North Main, which was established as a power-saving measure last summer, will be discontinued, and all cars will run through to the north terminal.

Service on the West Adams line will be improved by operation of two-minute service in the morning and evening rush hours in place of two-and-a-half-minute service on the short line to Second avenue, and a four-minute service instead of a five-minute schedule to Glen Airy. In the midday period five-minute service will replace the six-minute service to Second avenue, and a ten-minute headway in place of the former twelve-minute service will be given to Glen Airy.

Another increase in service is made today on the Eagle Rock and Hawthorne line by the addition of six evening rush-hour cars, which will reduce the minimum headway, time between cars, at the peak of travel from three and a half to two and a half minutes.

MOTOR GROCERY FILES PLEA

Company is Second to Ask Permit to Sell Stock for House-to-House Store Project

The second local organization seeking to establish traveling grocery stores in neighborhood districts applied to the State Corporation Department Saturday for permission to issue $200,000 in stock to place the company on an operating basis.

Motor Sales, Inc.

According to the application the company has originated a dust-proof, sanitary van which has been given experimental tests in the city. It is declared that anywhere from $50 to $100 a day will be the gross earnings per van and that the company should realize a yearly profit of approximately $1800 from the operation of each of these units.

It is the object of the concern to acquire the wholesale business of the Rousso & Wolf Produce Company, 609 East Eleventh street, and eventually to establish central offices throughout the city as local headquarters for the moving stores.

Jacques Rousso, part owner of several cafes in Los Angeles and San Francisco, is named as president of the new organization; Sam Wolf, vice-president; Charles M. Callner, secretary, and Morris Wolf, who has managed the Rousso & Wolf company for the past three years, treasurer.

The State Department has under advisement at the present time the application of the At-Your-Door-Groceries Inc., for permission to issue $1,000,000 for the purpose of placing a similar traveling grocery-store plan in operation.

DRY SQUAD RAIDS CAFES

Barred Entrance at Sorrento Cafe Leads to Fight, Agents Say; Twelve Arrested

Federal prohibition agents under Lawrence Tyson put in a busy twelve hours between dusk Saturday and dawn Sunday, raiding five places in Los Angeles and vicinity, where a dozen men were arrested. In one place they met with opposition, they reported, and a fight ensued in which they were victorious.

This was the Sorrento Cafe, 1438 West Sixth street. When the officers appeared at the door to serve their search warrant, they reported, they found the door barred with a chain, with James Dunn, doorman, reinforcing the bar. The chain was torn down and the agents entered, to be greeted by what they termed "rough-house tactics" and a shower of glassware. In a few minutes they emerged with the proprietor, Bert Bursterno, whom they said was known as "Bert, the Barber;" Mack McCowen, waiter, and Dunn. The trio was lodged in the County Jail under charge of violating the Volstead Act. Bursterno's bail being set at $2000 and the others' ba being placed at $2000.

At the Maison Pierre Cafe, 735 South Olive street, the agents arrested the proprietor, Joe Faranelli, they stated, and a waiter, Ralph Pauli, placing them in the County Jail under bonds of $5000 and $2000, respectively.

Leroy Hobbs was arrested at 1431 West Twelfth street on charges of illegal sale, possession and transportation.

At the Glendale Tavern Micky Murphy, manager, and J. W. Oliver, waiter, were arrested and held under Federal charges, while two guests were turned over to Glendale police on Wright Act charges.

Sol Discorado, proprietor, and Frank Spera, waiter, were arrested at an Italian cafe at 1016 South Olive street. They were held in $5000 bonds at the County Jail.

LIBRARY UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Occupancy Expected Before January 1, 1926

Concrete Now Being Poured for Foundations

Proceedings for Frontage on Flower Street Moving

Construction of the new $1,500,000 central public library on Normal Hill is now under way, and is expected to be completed and in use before January 1, 1926, Librarian Everett W. Perry announced yesterday. Immediately after Weymouth Crowell was awarded the contract for the building in October by the Board of Library Directors, he started to mobilize his organization and equipment, and ground was broken on November 1. Concrete is now being poured for the foundation of the building.

At the time he was awarded the contract, Mr. Crowell said, that while under his contract he was allowed fifteen months to complete the building, he hoped to finish his work in a year, which would make the completion date November 1, 1925. The contractor's price for the completed building was $1,298,000. He was the low bidder.

Assuming that he completes the building by November 1, 1925, several months will be required to furnish the building with the hundreds of steel book stacks and other equipment required and which will cost in all about $300,000.

The building and furnishings will be paid for from a $2,500,000 library bond issue authorized on June 7, 1921. Of this $1,000,000 has been expended for branch libraries, as announced at the time when the bond issue was presented to the voters. On the present schedule, the public library should be in its new home about January 1, 1926.

The legal proceedings to acquire a Flower-street frontage for the central public library are moving rapidly, Librarian Perry and Deputy City Attorney Stahl said, and two of the six parcels of land have already been purchased, one from Arthur G. Newton for $66,000 and one from Dan Morris for $114,000. These were the prices awarded by the court in condemnation proceedings. The court awards totaled $614,000, and of this amount $500,000 was available from a bond issue authorized for this purpose and the City Council returned to the Library Board $100,000 which the board had given the city at the time the Council transferred to the board the Normal Hill site for the library. Deputy City Attorney Stahl said that the entire Flower-street frontage of the Normal Hill property should be in the possession of the city about February 1.

The acquiring of the Flower-street land is not in any way delaying the contractor on the building as it occupies no part of Flower-street property, which is to be landscaped to provide a setting for the building and an entrance to it from Flower street. This will make ornamental entrances to the building from Fifth street, Flower street, Sixth street and Grand avenue.

All stages of the construction work are being carefully supervised by Librarian Perry, H. A. Nelson, engineering superintendent for the Library Board, Carleton M. Winslow, the architect and his assistant, Royal Dana.

On December 17, next, the Library Board will open bids from sculptors who desire to offer their services for the ornamental entrances and other decorative stone work on the building.

TO CAPTURE WILD GOATS ON CATALINA

Gland Expert Gets Life Concession for Animals From Wrigley

The doom of the wild goats of Catalina Island—thousands in number, now engaged in leaping carelessly from crag to crag in the rugged interior of the island—is sealed.

And by the same token the rejuvenation of the populace of Southern California is imminent.

Dr. Clayton E. Wheeler of San Francisco, gynecologist and authority on the mysteries of the endocrine gland, made this known when he returned late yesterday from a trip of inspection of the goat herds of the island.

Dr. Wheeler owns the Catalina Island goats, having obtained from William Wrigley, Jr., a lifetime concession to pursue and take the hardy fauna at will. And Dr. Wheeler will; that, is, he will if he can come upon his goat herds between careless leaps from crag to crag.

When Dr. Wheeler captures a goat from his vast herds, he will extract the captured goat's endocrine gland and later inject the contents into the persons in need of rejuvenation. The rejuvenation follows.

In the meantime, the goats, unconscious of impending doom, continue their incessant crag leaping.

ANTS WITH PARASOLS PARADE IN LONDON

Among the recent acquisition at the London Zoological Gardens is a nest of umbrella ants, which have never been seen before in the gardens. They are proving extremely interesting to Londoners, and have had a busy time, because during the journey the queen's apartments got terribly disarranged but the whole community, by working overtime, soon had them in model shape.

In their native home in Trinidad the ants are always to be found in the neighborhood of rose trees. They cut off portions of the petals of the roses and carry these to their nests, holding them over their heads like parasols. On reaching home they masticate the rose petals thoroughly and pile up the resulting mixture in heaps inside the nest. On the beds thus prepared a special fungus growth grows, of which the ants are very fond.—[Kansas City Star.

MAN SHOT IN RESTAURANT GUN BATTLE

Two Officers Suspended as Result of Melee in Fontana Cafe

Frank Carlos Carnevale, proprietor of the Fontana Cafe, 808 North Broadway, died shortly before midnight last night as the result of gunshot wounds suffered earlier in the evening when restaurant employees attempted to eject three peace officers from the restaurant. More than a score of customers in the cafe at the time of the shooting sought safety beneath tables and otherwise protected themselves from the rain of bullets that shattered glassware and splintered woodwork within the establishment.

The policemen, Adolph Rivera and F. R. Sweet of the Lincoln Heights division, and Joe R. Rivera, a special deputy sheriff, were placed under arrest on charges of assault with deadly weapons. The policemen were suspended from the force late yesterday by order of Assistant Detective Captain George Smith pending an investigation of the charges against the trio.

The three officers were in civilian clothes and off duty at the time of the shooting, according to Detective Lieutenants Rosselli, Culp and Miller of the police flying squadron, who started the investigation.

ORDERED OUT

According to the wounded man and his brother, Ralph Carnevale, the presence of the officers was objected to when they are asserted to have become boisterous. The officers, witnesses declared, made a menacing display of firearms when they were ordered out of the place. Frank Carnevale was shot, it was learned, when he leaped over a counter in an interference between his brother and the special deputy, the restaurant man shoving Rivera out into the street. Carnevale was struck in the left side, the bullet ploughing through his chest and upper abdomen. He was taken to Receiving Hospital and later to Hollywood Hospital, where he underwent a major operation. His condition late yesterday was announced as critical.

In disarming the officers accused of the shooting, detectives took three Colt revolvers and several rounds of ammunition. Tony Nicosia, a material witness, surrendered two other pistols which he declared he picked up from the floor after the shooting subsided.

GLASS SHATTERED

Witnesses reported about ten shots were fired in the affray, several bullets shattering the large glass front of the cafe.

The accused officers, in giving their version of the shooting, told detectives they were drinking coffee when the altercation started. Each of the three asserted they were forced to throw up their hands at a command from Ralph Carnevale who, they said, covered them with a pistol. This, the officers said, precipitated the shooting.

Ten New Wells in Los Angeles Basin Finished

Ten new wells, which swung the Los Angeles Basin back into its old form as a gusher producer of crude, were completed in the basin last week. Huntington Beach claimed two of them, while four went to Rosecrans and a like number to Dominguez.

ROSECRANS

Superior Oil Company, Maxwell No. 3, 2200 barrels at 4322 feet.
Associated Oil Company, Wanka No. 1, 2000 barrels at 4425 feet.
Union Oil Company, Rosecrans No. 71, 500 barrels at 4050 feet.
Union Oil Company, Howard Park No. 2, 300 barrels at 4497 feet.

DOMINGUEZ

Shell Company, Manuel No. 3, 4000 barrels at 4300 feet.
Shell Company, Bayes No. 18, 2000 barrels at 4250 feet.
Union Oil Company, Callender No. 4, 200 barrels at 4770 feet.
Marland Oil Company, Dominguez No. 3, 1800 barrels at 4300 feet.

HUNTINGTON BEACH

Union Drilling Company, Ward No. 1, 300 barrels at 3300 feet.
Pan American Petroleum Company, Johnson No. 1-A, 75 barrels at 3770 feet.

START SEEN ON WILSHIRE WORK

Council Expected to Grant Widening Pleas Today

Slight Change to be Made on Western Boundary

Mulholland Drive Dedication Set for the 27th Inst.

The widening of Wilshire Boulevard from Westlake Park to the ocean is expected to be put under way today by the City Council in granting, as a first step, a property owners' petition asking for the cutting back of the curbs seven feet on each side of the boulevard from Park View street to Muirfield Drive, near Rimpau Boulevard. This will make a total widening of fourteen feet and will widen the roadway to seventy feet. From Muirfield Road to the Pacific Ocean the boulevard will be 200 feet in width.

The property owners' petition, which was headed by the name of Frank L. Meline, who is a member of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, represented 67 per cent of the property on that part of Wilshire Boulevard where the curbs were to be cut back. The new fourteen feet of roadway to be created by the widening will be paved with eight-inch concrete.

The property owners' petition asked that the curbs be cut back as far west as Rimpau Boulevard, but today this will be changed by the City Council, it is expected, on the recommendation of the Public Works Committee of the Council, which will today file its report.

The slight change of the western boundary of the curb-cutting from Rimpau Boulevard to Muirfield Drive is in line with the recommendations of the engineers who prepared the Major Traffic Street Plan approved by the voters at the recent election and was also asked for by the Community Development Association through Attorney Henry W. O'Melveny. The association and Mr. O'Melveny have labored for many months to bring about the widening of Wilshire Boulevard and the making of it one of the greatest boulevards in the world.

The starting of the widening proceedings comes simultaneously with the completion of another great Los Angeles boulevard—the $1,000,000 Mulholland twenty-five-mile scenic highway from Cahuenga Pass over the crest of the Santa Monica Mountains to Calabasas, where it connects with the State highway to Ventura and the north. The grading has been completed and 137 trucks are hauling decomposed granite to the highway and this is being laid by the engineering forces under the direction of the Board of Public Works and Engineer D. L. Reaburn.

The granite top on the roadway is six inches in depth and this will be rolled and the highway ready for use at the formal dedication exercises December 27. After the granite wearing surface has been in use for several weeks, the road will be oiled and will carry the traffic for several years until ultimately the highway is paved.

Tentative plans are now being made for the exercises at which the scenic highway will be dedicated. Public Works Commissioner Delorey, as president pro tem of the board, has forwarded a communication to the Chamber of Commerce asking the chamber to asume charge of the plan and program for the ceremonies. In his letter to the chamber, Acting President Delorey said:

"It is the opinion of the board that on the occasion of the opening of the Mulholland Highway, attention may properly be called through the press, by radio and otherwise to the great advance made by the city of Los Angeles during the past year, and not only to the Mulholland Highway, but to the building of the outfall sewer, the commencement of work on Beverly Boulevard, the adoption by the citizens of the Major Traffic Plan and to the Cahuenga Pass widening and reducing of grade and other great accomplishments marking the year 1924. The Board of Public Works is of the opinion that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce may best serve the public in this matter, it being understood that the celebration will be a civic one, under a general committee to be appointed by the Board of Public Works, of which the president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce should be the chairman, its members made up of the publishers, presidents of the leading organizations, etc., and it is hoped that the motion-picture industry, under the direction of the Los Angeles Chamber, will actively participate in the plan and program."

Film Studio to Cost Huge Sum Plan of Brandt

A motion-picture studio for independent producers capable of housing twenty units will be erected in Hollywood in the next twelve months, according to Joe Brandt, vice-president of the Independent Producers' Association and president of the Columbia Pictures Corporation.

The location of the proposed plant was not announced by Mr. Brandt, but he declared it will cost $15,000,000. He did not state who would back the studio or when construction would start.

Wife Complains of Husband as 'No Gentleman'

Edwin T. Aiken is no gentleman, in the opinion of his wife, Marie F. Aiken. He keeps his hat on in the presence of women, according to Mrs. Aiken.

This charge she set forth as one reason why she should be given a divorce, in a complaint on file in the County Clerk's office. Another was that he left her alone in a desolate ranch house in a country inhabited only by Indians and forty miles from the nearest town. The complaint was filed for Mrs. Aiken by Attorneys Lane and Lane.
